British Leader Blames A-Test 'Tragedy' On 'K'

Responsibility Not Kennedy's, Publishers Told

NEW YORK (UPI) — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said Thursday night resumption of U. S. nuclear tests in the atmosphere was a tragedy. But he blamed Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev for it, not President Kennedy.

In a speech before the annual dinner of the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, Macmillan reaffirmed his government's backing of Kennedy's decision to resume the tests.

"America and Britain have done everything possible to avoid resumption of testing," Macmillan said. "We maintained a voluntary moratorium of three years which was rudely broken by the Russians last autumn. Ever since we have been trying to find a basis for some firm agreement."

Newspaper Quoted

Macmillan will confer with Kennedy over the weekend on ways to maintain a united Anglo-American diplomatic stand on U. S. resumption of the tests. He said the London Daily Mirror well summed up his feelings on the issue Thursday.

"President Kennedy's decision to resume tests . . . is a tragedy," Macmillan quoted the newspaper. "It means the nuclear arms race is again in full spate. But the world must realize the responsibility for this tragedy is not Kennedy's. It is Khrushchev's."

"That is true," Macmillan said. "Nevertheless we must not abandon our efforts in this or in any other sphere where we can find the possibility of some agreements between East and West to their mutual advantage and to that of the whole world."

Firm But Patient

Macmillan told the newspaper executives that "today a kind of peace is preserved by mutual fear. But while we may live under this protection in the short run, it cannot be acceptable to the dignity of civilized men in the long run."

He indicated he saw signs that the people of the Soviet Union "are beginning to want, and hope to get, what people all over the world want — better conditions of housing, clothing, and some of the amenities of life."

"Our duty is surely simple — to be firm but patient," he said.

Soviets Blast U.S. But Fail To Quit Talks

Red Negotiators Reiterate USSR Will Renew Tests

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union reiterated Thursday it will have to conduct nuclear weapons tests of its own since the United States has resumed testing.

The two chief Soviet negotiators here, Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin and Semyon K. Tsarapkin, vehemently denounced resumption of American atmospheric nuclear tests. But they failed to make good their threat to walk out of the disarmament conferences as soon as the test series began.

Tsarapkin, speaking to the British, Soviet, U.S. subcommittee where the three powers are conducting snarled negotiations for a test ban treaty, charged the United States deliberately started the Pacific explosions in order to speed up the arms race.

He termed resumption of Western testing a provocative act which cannot be justified by security considerations.

"The Soviet Union will test new weapons in order to insure its own security in every environment," he said.

In a hectic plenary session of the 17-nation disarmament conference earlier, Zorin led a bitter Communist campaign against the two Western powers but failed to draw the eight middle-road delegations into the dispute.

His face flushed with excitement and shouting, he accused the United States and Britain—"its accomplice"—of hypocrisy and said the new tests have brought the world "closer to the abyss of inevitable war."

Western officials said they had never seen the Soviet diplomat as excited as he was Thursday.

The eight nonaligned delegations did not join the Communist denunciations.

Led by India's Arthur Lall—who appealed to the Western powers to halt the tests while the negotiations in Geneva continue—they expressed consternation and deep regret at the new tests. But they carefully refrained from direct recrimination against the two Western powers.

Bid-Rigging, Price-Fixing Is Charged

Nation's Top Two Companies Named By Federal Jury

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's two largest steel producers, U.S. Steel and Bethlehem, were indicted Thursday with two smaller firms on federal charges of rigging bids and fixing prices on forgings. Sales involved were estimated at $100 million a year.

The grand jury complaint had no connection with the $6-a-ton increase in steel prices earlier this month, which was spearheaded by U.S. Steel. The increase later was withdrawn under pressure from President Kennedy.

The indictment charged that a conspiracy existed long before the pricing crisis—beginning in 1948 and continuing until 1961. It was said to involve steel forgings, rotors and generator shafts sold to the Army, Navy and private manufacturers in violation of federal antitrust laws.

Trade Association Named

The government claimed bids and prices were synchronized through a New York trade association that served as a clearing house.

Indicted with the big two of the steel industry were Erie Forge & Steel Corp. and Midvale-Heppenstall Co. Also named defendants were the trade association, Open Die Forging Institute, Inc., and the following individuals:

Homer Lackey, former manager of U.S. Steel's forged products commercial division and since Sept. 1, 1960, president of Erie Forge.

Erb Gurney, manager, and Robert S. Barnes, assistant manager of Bethlehem's sales, forgings, castings and special products division.

Emil Lang, board chairman of Erie Forge.

R. B. Heppenstall Sr., president of Midvale-Heppenstall.

Law Provides $50,000 Fines

The individuals, if convicted on the conspiracy charge, could receive a maximum one-year prison sentence and fines of $50,000 each. The companies would be liable to $50,000 fines also.

A Bethlehem spokesman said in a statement: "We have not yet seen the indictment. Bethlehem has long had a policy of strict compliance with all laws applicable to its operations, and we would be greatly concerned if any Bethlehem employes had been violating the law."

U.S. Steel President Leslie B. Worthington also issued a statement which read in part: "We intend to contest in the courts the charges contained in this indictment and we ask that the public withhold judgment until the case has been decided in court."

13-Year Battle Over Du Pont's GM Stock Ends

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 13-year legal battle ended Thursday when the government accepted the formula laid down by U.S. Dist. Judge Walter J. LaBuy for Du Pont to liquidate its General Motors stock.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said the government would not appeal although LaBuy did not accept all the government's terms. Kennedy said the settlement achieves the basic ends of the important litigation and is a landmark in antitrust enforcement.

Crawford H. Greenewalt, president of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., joined Kennedy in expressing gratification that the long litigation has at last ended.

LaBuy's judgment in Chicago March 1 directed that Du Pont and its family holding company, Christiana Securities Corp., divest itself of 63 million shares of GM stock, worth nearly $3.5 billion, over the next three years.

It provided also that a number of Du Pont family members must sell 8.5 million shares of GM stock they receive in such divestitures.

A factor in the government's decision seemed to be an additional concession Du Pont made. It agreed that other stockholders closely affiliated with the Du Pont management would sell an additional three million shares of GM stock which they now hold or will receive in divestitures.

LaBuy's decision was a victory for the government but since the settlement was along lines proposed by Du Pont attorneys there had been some indication the government would appeal.

But Kennedy said the terms now reached seem clearly adequate to prevent Du Pont influence in the management of General Motors.

The effective date of LaBuy's order is May 1. He said that Du Pont and Christiana must begin divestiture within 90 days of that time.

Foes In Rights Fight Exchange Politics Charge

WASHINGTON (AP)—Opposing sides in the Senate fight over the Kennedy administration voter literacy test bill accused each other Thursday of a political play for votes.

Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., said backers of the measure are trying to "usurp the authority of the states to fix the qualifications for voting for no other reason" than to influence Negro voters in big Northern states that pack a lot of weight in elections.

In reply, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said he is getting tired of hearing that senators battling for civil rights are merely "looking for votes."

"What about our Southern friends?" he asked. "What are they looking for? Why do they stand here day after day and talk? For the good of their health?"

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., sided with his colleague in calling politics the real basis for the proposed measure, offered Wednesday by the Democratic and Republican Senate leaders as a substitute for a minor bill already up for action.

The bill would make a sixth grade education the maximum literacy requirement for voting in federal elections. Proponents claim more complicated state tests are applied so as to bar Negroes from voting.

Russell said that some senators want to campaign by telling voters, "Look what I did to those infamous Southerners."

The carefully organized Southern opposition to the bill is expected to run on at least 10 days before Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana attempts to place a time limit on debate by invoking the Senate's cloture rule.

This requires a two-thirds majority of Senators voting and it never has been successfully invoked in a civil rights fight.

Russia Orbits Fourth 'Cosmos'

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet scientists sent the fourth Sputnik of their Cosmos series chasing around the earth Thursday.

The launching of Cosmos IV, apparently an unmanned vehicle, was announced in the midst of a busy international day in space.

Only a few hours before the satellite went into orbit American space officials announced that their Ranger 4 had hit the moon on target. A few hours later the United States and Britain fired off from Cape Canaveral a huge booster which orbited as the first international satellite.

The day also was marked by the first joint Japanese-American rocket probe of the ionosphere.

Cosmos IV followed by only two days its sister satellite, Cosmos III, which went into orbit less than 24 hours after the U.S. Ranger 4 was boosted on its way to the moon. Until Thursday this was the closest East and West had come to launching space vehicles at the same time.

The first two satellites of the Soviet series, Cosmos I and Cosmos II, were fired off March 16 and April 6 after a long interval of apparent inactivity on Soviet launching pads.

Ranger Hits Moon; Scientists Hail Feat

GOLDSTONE, Calif. (AP) — Ranger 4, a fantastically complex spacecraft turned into a hurtling hulk by brain failure, crashed Thursday as expected on the mysterious back side of the moon.

Scientists, disappointed at its inability to conduct sophisticated experiments to measure the moon, nonetheless hailed it as a major step in space research. The fact that it hit its target without guidance along the way, they said, indicates future spacecraft can be shot moonward with accuracy.

The instrument-jammed 730-pound vehicle may well have landed less than 1,000 miles from the 860-pound Lunik II, the Soviet craft which is the only other man-made object to make a lunar voyage. It hit Sept. 14, 1959.

James E. Webb, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, who came to this desert tracking center for the historic impact, called it "an outstanding American achievement—much more complex than anything the Russians have attempted."

Lunik II, he said, was little more than a projectile.

Ranger 4 hooked around the moon's leading edge and smashed at nearly 6,000 m.p.h. into the bleak lunar landscape at 7:47 a.m. Eastern Standard Time, 64 hours and 231,486 miles after it blasted off from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

For scientists, it was heartwarming that after six failures the United States had finally scored a bullseye.

Terrorists Raid French Position

ORAN, Algeria (AP) — European Secret Army men attacked a French strongpoint in the heart of Oran Thursday night and held it under fire for an hour.

The action came after a wave of terrorist attacks in Oran and Algiers that killed at least 21 Moslems by sundown.

French troops barricaded in a dozen points throughout Oran immediately opened fire on the Secret Army attack with heavy and light machine guns.

There were no immediate reports of casualties.

The Secret Army men — in civilian clothes but heavily armed with submachine guns, ammunition belts and grenades—withdrew through the streets after an hour of firing. They were cheered from the windows by other settlers.

According to unofficial reports, about two score terrorists took part in an attack against the fortified French positions on the roof of the 15-story Lescure building that dominates the center or Oran.

The troops moved into the building Tuesday as part of a progressive plan to infiltrate the European neighborhood without bloodshed and thus reduce the rule of the European resistance organization.

Johnsons Unhurt In Plane Mishap

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and his wife, Lady Bird, escaped injury Thursday when a twin-engine military jet aircraft slipped off a Love Field runway.

Cranes had the plane back on the runway about an hour later and the Johnsons left Dallas on a commercial flight due for Baltimore.

Newsmen were not allowed near the plane, but both Love Field's control tower and Dallas police confirmed there were no injuries to the occupants which were the Johnsons and two crew members.

Love Field sources described the plane as a T29 Saberliner.

First reports that the landing gear collapsed were inaccurate. Love Field said it merely slipped into the mud while taxiing toward a takeoff.

Rusk Disputes Gromyko Berlin Progress Claim

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk differed Thursday with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko about the extent of progress toward a Berlin settlement. Rusk said that there is no agreement yet on any particular point at issue in the current U.S.-Soviet talks.

He added, however, that a number of problems could be speedily resolved if the central points in dispute could be settled. Rusk emphasized that this would require Soviet acceptance of the continued presence of Western forces in West Berlin and guarantees of access to Berlin.

"The facts are," Rusk said emphatically, "that we are in West Berlin and we are going to stay there."

Rusk discussed the Berlin situation at a news conference two days after Gromyko spoke about it in Moscow at a meeting of the Supreme Soviet, the U.S.S.R.'s parliament.

Gromyko said there are hopes for Soviet-American agreement on three issues involved in the U.S.-Soviet exchanges. He said the United States understands the importance of denying nuclear weapons to Germany. He reported Soviet-American "understanding in principle" on a nonaggression treaty between the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Warsaw Pact countries. And he declared the United States does not object to tying free access to Berlin to respect for the sovereignty of Communist East Germany.

Second A-Blast Expected Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is ready to make every possible effort for an East-West test ban agreement even though this nation must go ahead with its current series of nuclear explosions.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk set forth this pledge Thursday in a special statement the morning after the United States finally resumed atomic blasts in the atmosphere, following a 3½-year lapse.

Informed sources said the second shot in the U.S. series probably will not be triggered before Friday for various operational reasons, including a desire to avoid shooting two doses of radioactivity into the same air mass.

U.S. scientists were busily checking preliminary data from Wednesday's initial explosion over Christmas Island in the Pacific.

The first test was described as a successful explosion in the 100,000-500,000-tons — TNT equivalent—range, a research and development device rather than an operational atomic weapon.

Congo Unity Talks Planned

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, the Congo (AP)—Foreign Minister Evariste Kimba announced Thursday that President Moise Tshombe will leave for Leopoldville May 3 for further talks with Premier Cyrille Adoula on unifying the Congo.

An advance party of Katanga delegates will leave earlier to prepare for Tshombe's arrival.

Jose Rolz Bennett, U.N. chief in Katanga, said the United Nations will renew its guarantees for Tshombe's security in Leopoldville. Diplomatic circles added that the United States will give full support to the U.N. guarantees.

Tshombe returned to his provincial capital April 19 from unity talks with Adoula. Forces of the central Congo government held up his plane at Leopoldville airport overnight and it was only through intercession by the United Nations that his plane was finally permitted to depart.

Tshombe took off Thursday for a short tour of the interior of Katanga, including visits to the mining centers of Jadotville and Kolwezi.

Five Killed In Crash Of FAA Constellation

HONOLULU (UPI) — Federal aviation authorities said Thursday an FAA Constellation crashed at Canton Island, killing five and injuring one.

An FAA spokesman in Honolulu said the big Lockheed Constellation crashed while on a routine inspection trip of South Pacific aviation facilities.

First reports said the five dead were all FAA officials based in Hawaii.

The injured survivor was Dr. John B. Miller, the FAA physician stationed on Canton Island.

The accident occurred as the FAA Constellation, one of three of that type operated by the agency in the Pacific, was going in for a landing.

Joint U.S.-British Scientific Satellite Boosted Into Orbit At Cape Canaveral

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The United States and Great Britain teamed together Thursday and launched a scientific satellite.

This feat, coupled with a joint U.S.-Japanese rocket launching at Wallops Island, Va., signaled a new era in international space cooperation.

The two firings came amid these other developments:

1. America's spacecraft Ranger 4 crash-landed on the far side of the moon after a 64-hour, 231,486-mile journey through space.

2. The Soviet Union announced the launching of their fourth Sputnik in six weeks. The new earth satellite, Cosmos 4, was described by the Russians as packed with instruments to measure radiation and other space-probing gear.

3. The U.S. Air Force fired two mystery satellites a few hours apart from Point Arguello, Calif. The first employed a Blue Scout booster combination. These have been used for high-altitude research. The second had an Atlas-Agena B booster, such as have been used for the Samos military reconnaissance satellite series and for the Midas missile alarm satellite series. Other details were kept secret.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, visiting in the United States, is expected to announce a name for the British-U.S. satellite launched from Cape Canaveral.

Meanwhile, it was known by its program number, S51, British newsmen dubbed it UK1, for United Kingdom.

The gold-plated satellite was boosted into orbit by a Thor-Delta rocket—the most reliable U.S. booster—which scored its eighth satellite-launching success in a row.

Jubilant officials of both countries announced the 132-pound payload was in orbit when a tracking team at Cape Canaveral picked up signals from it after it completed one two-hour whirl around the world.

The 23-inch cylinder, bristling with solar cell panels, experiment booms and antenna, was sent aloft to explore the ionosphere and cosmic radiation.

The Anglo-American effort may speed the time when the two great rocket powers—the United States and the Soviet Union — combine their talents for manned and unmanned exploration of the universe.

Not Evasive, Memory Bad, Flemming Tells Probers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Arthur S Flemming protested Thursday he has been put in a position of seeming to withhold information from a Senate investigation of government stockpile contracts. Actually, he said, he is the victim of a faulty memory.

Flemming, a former director of the Office of Defense Mobilization, was questioned for the second day about orders he issued in 1955 which permitted copper producers to reap handsome profits which he himself had described as a "possible windfall."

Insisting he could not recall details of discussions which led up to his copper directives, Flemming offered to take a leave of absence as president of the University of Oregon and try to reconstruct from government files the whole background story.

The special Senate Armed Services subcommittee excused Flemming from further testimony until sometime in June without making any final decision about his offer.

Subcommittee counsel R. C. Coburn announced hearings scheduled for Friday are being postponed indefinitely because of Senate debate on a voter literacy test bill.

After serving as ODM director, Flemming was secretary of welfare in the Eisenhower administration.

Flemming acknowledged he had expected, as Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., phrased it, that "somebody would raise hell" about the directives which let a number of producers defer delivery of copper to the government and sell it at a higher price to industry.

Cuban Fertilizer Plant Burns; 24 Hurt

HAVANA (UPI) — An explosion rocked a government-owned fertilizer plant 10 miles east of Havana Thursday and started a fire which destroyed the building.

Reports said 24 persons were injured, one seriously, in the explosion-fire in the town of El Cotorro.

It was the second fire to destroy a government installation in 48 hours. The previous blaze, in which seven persons were injured, razed 13 stories of the incompleted 20-story building of the Cuban National Bank in suburban Havana.

Rusk Disputes Gromyko Berlin Progress Claim

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk differed Thursday with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko about the extent of progress toward a Berlin settlement. Rusk said that there is no agreement yet on any particular point at issue in the current U.S.-Soviet talks.

He added, however, that a number of problems could be speedily resolved if the central points in dispute could be settled. Rusk emphasized that this would require Soviet acceptance of the continued presence of Western forces in West Berlin and guarantees of access to Berlin.

"The facts are," Rusk said emphatically, "that we are in West Berlin and we are going to stay there."

Rusk discussed the Berlin situation at a news conference two days after Gromyko spoke about it in Moscow at a meeting of the Supreme Soviet, the U.S.S.R.'s parliament.

Gromyko said there are hopes for Soviet-American agreement on three issues involved in the U.S.-Soviet exchanges. He said the United States understands the importance of denying nuclear weapons to Germany. He reported Soviet-American "understanding in principle" on a nonaggression treaty between the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Warsaw Pact countries. And he declared the United States does not object to tying free access to Berlin to respect for the sovereignty of Communist East Germany.

Russia Orbits Fourth 'Cosmos'

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet scientists sent the fourth Sputnik of their Cosmos series chasing around the earth Thursday.

The launching of Cosmos IV, apparently an unmanned vehicle, was announced in the midst of a busy international day in space.

Only a few hours before the satellite went into orbit American space officials announced that their Ranger 4 had hit the moon on target. A few hours later the United States and Britain fired off from Cape Canaveral a huge booster which orbited as the first international satellite.

The day also was marked by the first joint Japanese-American rocket probe of the ionosphere.

Cosmos IV followed by only two days its sister satellite, Cosmos III, which went into orbit less than 24 hours after the U.S. Ranger 4 was boosted on its way to the moon. Until Thursday this was the closest East and West had come to launching space vehicles at the same time.

The first two satellites of the Soviet series, Cosmos I and Cosmos II, were fired off March 16 and April 6 after a long interval of apparent inactivity on Soviet launching pads.

Terrorists Raid French Position

ORAN, Algeria (AP) — European Secret Army men attacked a French strongpoint in the heart of Oran Thursday night and held it under fire for an hour.

The action came after a wave of terrorist attacks in Oran and Algiers that killed at least 21 Moslems by sundown.

French troops barricaded in a dozen points throughout Oran immediately opened fire on the Secret Army attack with heavy and light machine guns.

There were no immediate reports of casualties.

The Secret Army men — in civilian clothes but heavily armed with submachine guns, ammunition belts and grenades—withdrew through the streets after an hour of firing. They were cheered from the windows by other settlers.

According to unofficial reports, about two score terrorists took part in an attack against the fortified French positions on the roof of the 15-story Lescure building that dominates the center or Oran.

The troops moved into the building Tuesday as part of a progressive plan to infiltrate the European neighborhood without bloodshed and thus reduce the rule of the European resistance organization.

Johnsons Unhurt In Plane Mishap

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and his wife, Lady Bird, escaped injury Thursday when a twin-engine military jet aircraft slipped off a Love Field runway.

Cranes had the plane back on the runway about an hour later and the Johnsons left Dallas on a commercial flight due for Baltimore.

Newsmen were not allowed near the plane, but both Love Field's control tower and Dallas police confirmed there were no injuries to the occupants which were the Johnsons and two crew members.

Love Field sources described the plane as a T29 Saberliner.

First reports that the landing gear collapsed were inaccurate. Love Field said it merely slipped into the mud while taxiing toward a takeoff.

Second A-Blast Expected Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is ready to make every possible effort for an East-West test ban agreement even though this nation must go ahead with its current series of nuclear explosions.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk set forth this pledge Thursday in a special statement the morning after the United States finally resumed atomic blasts in the atmosphere, following a 3½-year lapse.

Informed sources said the second shot in the U.S. series probably will not be triggered before Friday for various operational reasons, including a desire to avoid shooting two doses of radioactivity into the same air mass.

U.S. scientists were busily checking preliminary data from Wednesday's initial explosion over Christmas Island in the Pacific.

The first test was described as a successful explosion in the 100,000-500,000-tons — TNT equivalent—range, a research and development device rather than an operational atomic weapon.

Congo Unity Talks Planned

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, the Congo (AP)—Foreign Minister Evariste Kimba announced Thursday that President Moise Tshombe will leave for Leopoldville May 3 for further talks with Premier Cyrille Adoula on unifying the Congo.

An advance party of Katanga delegates will leave earlier to prepare for Tshombe's arrival.

Jose Rolz Bennett, U.N. chief in Katanga, said the United Nations will renew its guarantees for Tshombe's security in Leopoldville. Diplomatic circles added that the United States will give full support to the U.N. guarantees.

Tshombe returned to his provincial capital April 19 from unity talks with Adoula. Forces of the central Congo government held up his plane at Leopoldville airport overnight and it was only through intercession by the United Nations that his plane was finally permitted to depart.

Tshombe took off Thursday for a short tour of the interior of Katanga, including visits to the mining centers of Jadotville and Kolwezi.

Joint U.S.-British Scientific Satellite Boosted Into Orbit At Cape Canaveral

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The United States and Great Britain teamed together Thursday and launched a scientific satellite.

This feat, coupled with a joint U.S.-Japanese rocket launching at Wallops Island, Va., signaled a new era in international space cooperation.

The two firings came amid these other developments:

1. America's spacecraft Ranger 4 crash-landed on the far side of the moon after a 64-hour, 231,486-mile journey through space.

2. The Soviet Union announced the launching of their fourth Sputnik in six weeks. The new earth satellite, Cosmos 4, was described by the Russians as packed with instruments to measure radiation and other space-probing gear.

3. The U.S. Air Force fired two mystery satellites a few hours apart from Point Arguello, Calif. The first employed a Blue Scout booster combination. These have been used for high-altitude research. The second had an Atlas-Agena B booster, such as have been used for the Samos military reconnaissance satellite series and for the Midas missile alarm satellite series. Other details were kept secret.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, visiting in the United States, is expected to announce a name for the British-U.S. satellite launched from Cape Canaveral.

Meanwhile, it was known by its program number, S51, British newsmen dubbed it UK1, for United Kingdom.

The gold-plated satellite was boosted into orbit by a Thor-Delta rocket—the most reliable U.S. booster—which scored its eighth satellite-launching success in a row.

Jubilant officials of both countries announced the 132-pound payload was in orbit when a tracking team at Cape Canaveral picked up signals from it after it completed one two-hour whirl around the world.

The 23-inch cylinder, bristling with solar cell panels, experiment booms and antenna, was sent aloft to explore the ionosphere and cosmic radiation.

The Anglo-American effort may speed the time when the two great rocket powers—the United States and the Soviet Union — combine their talents for manned and unmanned exploration of the universe.

Five Killed In Crash Of FAA Constellation

HONOLULU (UPI) — Federal aviation authorities said Thursday an FAA Constellation crashed at Canton Island, killing five and injuring one.

An FAA spokesman in Honolulu said the big Lockheed Constellation crashed while on a routine inspection trip of South Pacific aviation facilities.

First reports said the five dead were all FAA officials based in Hawaii.

The injured survivor was Dr. John B. Miller, the FAA physician stationed on Canton Island.

The accident occurred as the FAA Constellation, one of three of that type operated by the agency in the Pacific, was going in for a landing.

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI)—The wreckage of a missing DC3 airliner with 38 persons aboard, including two American Peace Corps members, was found in the mountainous jungles of northwest Colombia Thursday. There was no sign of life.

Not Evasive, Memory Bad, Flemming Tells Probers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Arthur S Flemming protested Thursday he has been put in a position of seeming to withhold information from a Senate investigation of government stockpile contracts. Actually, he said, he is the victim of a faulty memory.

Flemming, a former director of the Office of Defense Mobilization, was questioned for the second day about orders he issued in 1955 which permitted copper producers to reap handsome profits which he himself had described as a "possible windfall."

Insisting he could not recall details of discussions which led up to his copper directives, Flemming offered to take a leave of absence as president of the University of Oregon and try to reconstruct from government files the whole background story.

The special Senate Armed Services subcommittee excused Flemming from further testimony until sometime in June without making any final decision about his offer.

Subcommittee counsel R. C. Coburn announced hearings scheduled for Friday are being postponed indefinitely because of Senate debate on a voter literacy test bill.

After serving as ODM director, Flemming was secretary of welfare in the Eisenhower administration.

Flemming acknowledged he had expected, as Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., phrased it, that "somebody would raise hell" about the directives which let a number of producers defer delivery of copper to the government and sell it at a higher price to industry.

Cuban Fertilizer Plant Burns; 24 Hurt

HAVANA (UPI) — An explosion rocked a government-owned fertilizer plant 10 miles east of Havana Thursday and started a fire which destroyed the building.

Reports said 24 persons were injured, one seriously, in the explosion-fire in the town of El Cotorro.

It was the second fire to destroy a government installation in 48 hours. The previous blaze, in which seven persons were injured, razed 13 stories of the incompleted 20-story building of the Cuban National Bank in suburban Havana.

Railroads Declare It's Up To Kennedy To Head Off Inflationary Wage Boosts

CHICAGO (UPI)—The nation's railroads served notice Thursday that they want President Kennedy's administration to hold the anti-inflation line on wage and fringe benefit recommendations for 450,000 off-train employes.

"There can be no justification for expansion of fringe benefits . . . and there can be no justification for a wage increase," chief railroad negotiator J. E. Wolfe said.

Wolfe said he would "expect the administration to follow the policy" set to combat inflation "when there was a threat in other areas." He apparently referred to the administration's swift, successful drive earlier this month to force major steel firms to rescind a steel price boost.

"Consistency demands that if inflationary threats are to be avoided, then anything inflationary must be prevented—and an unjustified wage increase is an inflationary threat," the rail spokesman said.

The carriers held a news conference here Thursday just a week before a presidential emergency board was scheduled to present its findings to President Kennedy.

The board was convened by the President after negotiations between the railroads and 11 unions of non-operating (off-train) employes bogged down.

The non-operating unions served wage notices to the railroads on their "open contracts" last Sept. 1. Bargaining talks collapsed and the National Mediation Board took over. Unable to reach a solution, the mediation board notified the President that a strike was imminent and recommended formation of an emergency board to seek a solution.

In March the board took testimony in Chicago from the railroads and unions. The board was granted one extension to consider its findings. The extension expires next Thursday.

A 30-day cooling-off period will follow the board's report. During that time the two sides are supposed to try to work out a settlement in accordance with the non-binding recommendations.

Tawes' Rivals Urge Immediate Reapportioning

By The Associated Press

Two Democratic gubernatorial candidates and a Republican seeking the same office called Thursday for an immediate special session of the General Assembly to reapportion Maryland.

David Hume and George P. Mahoney, the Democratic contestants, and Frank Small Jr., the Republican, all jumped on Gov. Tawes for not calling the session immediately after the Supreme Court decision in the Tennessee reapportionment case. Hume likened the governor to a "recalcitrant 'possum."

Hume said he was sorry that the federal government and judiciary had to be brought into a case which "is primarily ours to solve.

"It becomes necessary, however, for the federal government and the judiciary to be brought in to fill a vacuum created by the total absence of leadership.

"With the world looking on, it is embarrassing to see the governor being removed by force from his entrenched position.

"Like a recalcitrant 'possum scratching and clawing to stay in his hollow log, the governor must again be dragged out by his political tail," Hume said.

Small hailed the recent decision by the Maryland Court of Appeals which ruled that a lower court must decide whether voters' rights are being infringed as " . . . an important milestone in the road toward equal representation."

Police Capture Young Fugitive

PIKESVILLE, Md. (AP)—Baltimore County police from the Pikesville barracks captured a 19-year-old fugitive Thursday night who earlier had said he would not be taken alive.

Robert Browning, wanted for questioning in connection with several Washington, D. C., robberies, was found in the crawl space under a home near here. As police closed in, Browning pointed a .32 caliber pistol at his head and threatened to kill himself if the officers used tear gas or loosed a K-9 dog they had with them.

Officers were able to persuade Browning to surrender peaceably, however, and he was taken to the Pikesville station where he was charged with assault and carrying a concealed weapon.

The assault charge stemmed from an incident Tuesday night, when Browning reportedly pulled a gun on a police officer. It was at that time the youth stated he would not be taken alive.

Students To Shun 17 Towson Restaurants

TOWSON, Md. (AP)—About one-third of Goucher College's 770 students are planning to boycott restaurants in the Towson area which discriminate against Negroes.

A spokesman for a student group at the woman's college, the Committee or Towson Integration, said Thursday the students have signed a pledge to boycott 17 segregated restaurants and patronize instead eight which are integrated.

The committee said its members visited all the restaurants to see if they served Negroes. They said spokesmen at most of the restaurants said they would lose their clientele if they began serving certain minority groups.

Parrot Falls Into Alcoholic Ambush

SOUTHAMPTON, England (AP)—Out on the town for three nights, a hard-drinking parrot named The Colonel was back home Thursday dead drunk and sleeping it off.

What happened was this:

The Colonel, green Amazon parrot, escaped from the Unicorn Inn Sunday night. The following morning his owner, Maj. John Scott, spotted The Colonel at the top of a tall tree whistling.

Maj. Scott manages the Unicorn Inn. Unsuccessfully, the pubkeeper tried to coax The Colonel out of the tree. No luck.

The following day Maj. Scott tried again. The Colonel wouldn't be tempted by kind words. Finally, the major played his trump.

Soaking a pot full of sunflower seed in scotch whisky, he placed the potent pot at the foot of the tree.

Late Wednesday The Colonel came down the tree and fell into the alcoholic ambush. He consumed the charged sunflower seed and drunkenly staggered around the foot of the tree.

Capture was easy.

Erstwhile Candidate Indicted For Perjury

BALTIMORE (AP) — An erstwhile candidate for state senator, Carrington T. Simms Jr., was charged Thursday by the Baltimore grand jury with perjury.

A six-count formal indictment was filed in Criminal Court before Judge Michael J. Manley. Simms had been charged informally by the grand jury in a presentment filed a month ago.

The indictment accused Simms of submitting a certificate of candidacy last March 3 in which he "unlawfully did willfully and falsely swear and make oath and affirmation before Rose C. Zoltowski, a duly qualified notary public . . . that he was over the age of 25 years."

The second count cited two contradictory statements under oath. The first was his certificate of candidacy and the second was a registration which showed Simms as 23.

Minister, Girl Freed In Trespass Case

LA PLATA, Md. (AP)—Magistrate John K. Moore acquitted two persons Thursday who had been charged with trespassing during demonstrations against racial segregation.

Found innocent were the Rev. Ashton Jones, 65, South San Gabriel, Calif., and Miss Margaret Morton, 24, (458 Manhattan Ave.) New York City, a night student at New York University.

They had waited in the offices of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy for 3½ hours Wednesday to protest her arrest, but left without seeing Kennedy.

They were arrested at a restaurant in White Plains, Md., along U.S. 301 last Saturday—the 32nd arrest for Jones. He is white and Miss Morton is Negro.

Kennedy Winds Up His Florida Holiday

PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — President Kennedy wound up his spring holiday Thursday and prepared to return Friday afternoon to Washington where he faces a heavy work schedule.

Kennedy planned to arrive at Andrews Air Force Base outside Washington just in time to greet British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan at the airport. The two world leaders will then proceed to the White House by helicopter.

Clues Sought In Gang Slaying Of Three

CHICAGO (UPI) — Two brothers and their pretty woman companion were blasted to death gangland-style early Thursday as they rode through a quiet suburban residental street in a new sports car.

Police sought a clue to their assassin or assassins in the long police record of one of the victims, the affairs of his night club singer wife and a chain of recent gang killings.

The bodies of the three were found slumped in a 1961 Thunderbird that sped in reverse into a home in nearby Elmwood Park moments after a barrage of shots awakened the sleeping neighborhood.

The victims were identified as Philip Scavo, 37, husband of night club singer Nikki North; his brother Ronald, 30, and Mrs. Lydia Abshire, 28.

Investigators questioned two other Scavo brothers, William and James, in the hope they could provide a possible motive for the triple slayings.

They also quizzed Miss North, who flew to Chicago from Cleveland where she had been reported cutting records.

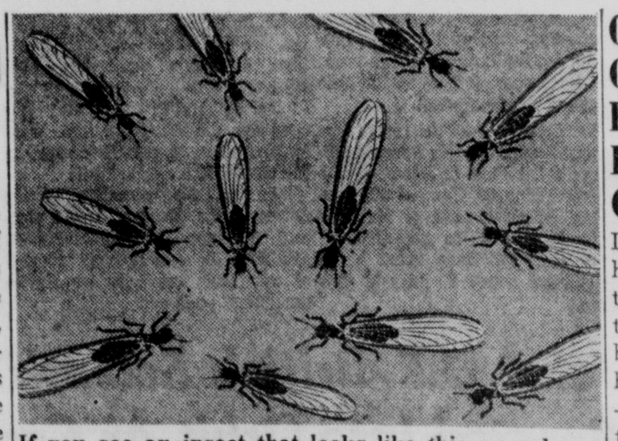
Termites Are Swarming In Cumberland Now
Home Owners Report Worst Season In Years
Mild Winter Held Responsible
Home owners all over this area have reported unusually large swarmings of termites. Some authorities attribute the condition to the milder winter. Evidently, the absence of continued below-freezing temperatures allowed maximum termite colony activity close to the ground surface. Termites burrow up from the ground in search of wood and often attack the supporting understructure of homes. Only an inspection by experts can determine if the understructure is infested. If termite infestation in your home is allowed to spread unchecked, very costly damage can occur—far out of proportion to the few pounds of wood the termites actually eat.



If you see an insect that looks like this, your home may be in danger!
It is difficult for home owners to tell the difference between termites and flying ants. If you have termites, you have TROUBLE. They just bore in and start eating. Brick, stone or concrete will not necessarily stop them. Because they hide while they destroy, their presence is rarely discovered by the home owner until the damage has been done. Don't take a chance. Call Terminix now and have an expert determine whether or not those insects are really termites. There is absolutely no cost or obligation for an inspection and a reliable recommendation. Terminix is the world's largest termite control organization—with 35 years of dependable service.

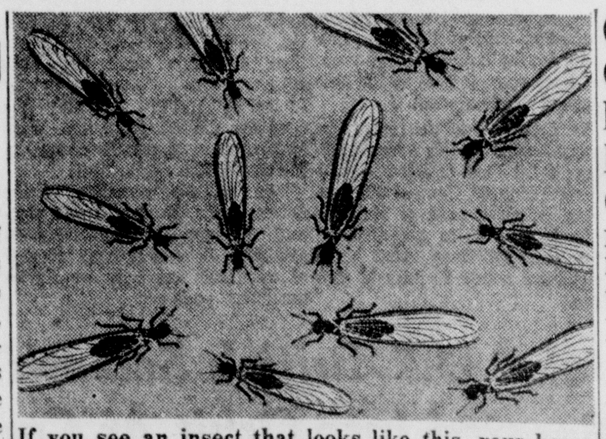
Evidently, the absence of continued below-freezing temperatures allowed maximum termite colony activity close to the ground surface. Termites burrow up from the ground in search of wood and often attack the supporting understructure of homes. Only an inspection by experts can determine if the understructure is infested. If termite infestation in your home is allowed to spread unchecked, very costly damage can occur—far out of proportion to the few pounds of wood the termites actually eat.



If you see an insect that looks like this, your home may be in danger!
It is difficult for home owners to tell the difference between termites and flying ants. If you have termites, you have TROUBLE. They just bore in and start eating. Brick, stone or concrete will not necessarily stop them. Because they hide while they destroy, their presence is rarely discovered by the home owner until the damage has been done. Don't take a chance. Call Terminix now and have an expert determine whether or not those insects are really termites. There is absolutely no cost or obligation for an inspection and a reliable recommendation. Terminix is the world's largest termite control organization—with 35 years of dependable service.
Only Terminix Offers This Exclusive $5,000 Insured Damage Guarantee
If your home qualifies—as have thousands of others in this area — Terminix will take on the entire responsibility for protecting your home—and every item in it — against the expense of treatment and also against any future damage by subterranean termites. If damage should occur, repairs and replacements up to $5,000 will be made without any cost to you whatsoever. This Guarantee is backed by the Terminix chemical manufacturer, your local Terminix Company and is insured by the world's oldest insurance company. Call now for free inspection—no charge or obligation.

Parsons To Open Country Club

PARSONS, W. Va. (UPI)—Long efforts of many citizens of this small Tucker County town will be capped Sunday.

That's when the Holly Meadows Country Club will have its formal dedication and grand opening.

More than a year ago, the county's unused poor farm was leased and the mass conversion started. Today, there is a nine-hole golf course and the 23-year-old dairy barn that has been made into an attractive clubhouse.

Parsons To Open Country Club

PARSONS, W. Va. (UPI)—Long efforts of many citizens of this small Tucker County town will be capped Sunday.

That's when the Holly Meadows Country Club will have its formal dedication and grand opening.

More than a year ago, the county's unused poor farm was leased and the mass conversion started. Today, there is a nine-hole golf course and the 23-year-old dairy barn that has been made into an attractive clubhouse.

Problem In Politeness: The Phone Pest

You CAN'T be polite to a phone pest, writes one of my readers. Anytime a strange caller launches into one of those unsolicited sales pitches, my reader is tempted to respond with the only answer that will spare a lot of useless conversation — afirmly slammed receiver.

Just about all of us sympathize with her reaction. Just as junk mail puts a burden on our postal facilities, "blind" telephone solicitations create a needless tie-up in lines of communication. Junk mail, at least, can be thrown away unopened. But a phone call takes up something far more valuable than wastebasket space —a bold invasion of privacy, it claims our time and our attention. And pretends to deserve something "extra" — charm enough for a graceful reply.

If you're tired of playing the unwilling victim to persistent phone pests and would like to know how to turn them down . . . and turn them off! . . . without tripping off your own temper, here is some advice to think over:

1. DON'T ANSWER THE PHONE when you are in no position to be interrupted. If you are in the midst of painting a wall, bathing the baby, giving yourself a shampoo, mixing a complicated recipe — finish what you are doing! A home phone is not a "business" line; you are under no obligation to answer every ring. If you've let the bell control you, as it did Pavlov's dog, it's no wonder your nerves are frayed by ill-timed interruptions. Callers, after all, are not omniscient; they have no way of knowing if their call is coming at a bad moment for you. Anyone with a genuine interest in talking to you personally will surely try your number later. But, chances are good that the stranger with the sales talk will simply skip you in favor of the next number on his list.

Remember, too, if you aren't already irritated by the interruption when you lift the receiver, your poise and aplomb will stay in one piece.

2. ALWAYS ASK FOR IDENTIFICATION OF YOUR CALLER before you find yourself trapped into giving out unwarranted information about your home and family. "Are you the owner of your present house?", "Am I speaking to the lady of the house?" and similar gambits are NOT legitimate openers; only one reply is necessary—"Who is calling, please?"

3. CUT CONVERSATION TO THE QUICK as soon as you can sense the start of a sales spiel for an item you do not want. The caller undoubtedly has a long-winded and well-rehearsed speech to recite. The best ones are virtually shatter-proof — so you're safest in stopping it BEFORE it overwhelms all your opportunities for a fast and graceful sign-off. Stick to one standard statement, if you can . . . and keep it completely impersonal; adding personal details just feeds the spiel. "We are not in the market" or "Sorry, not interested" are sufficient, followed by the clincher, "Goodbye!!" You'll never get to that polite (but firm) farewell phrase if you let yourself be drawn into answering questions or compromising on free estimates, demonstrations, samples or "prizes" just to be let off the hook.

If your caller is so practiced that no amount of NO can penetrate his pitch, you can still say goodbye and hang up without feeling guilty.

But why slam when a quiet click will do the job just as well?

Quick Reapportion Decision Unlikely

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — No quick decision is likely on the reapportionment problem thrown back by the Maryland Court of Appeals Wednesday into the laps of Anne Arundel County Circuit Court, Gov. Tawes and the legislature.

It certainly will be well after the May 15th primary, when candidates are nominated for legislative seats on a basis which could be later declared unconstitutional.

And if, for any reason, the state decides to appeal to the Supreme Court, the proceedings will be further drawn out.

Judge O. Bowie Duckett, who heard original arguments in the case Nov. 12, 1960, said Thursday he expects it will be at least 30 days before the matter will come up for a new hearing in Equity Court.

The judge explained the court's calendar is already filled for the next 30 days, the Circuit Court has only two judges since Judge Benjamin Michaelson's retirement in March, and that it will be necessary for the parties concerned to initiate action before he can set the case for hearing.

The next step is up to the state to answer complaints filed by metropolitan residents in 1960 when they contended their voting rights were being denied by a legislative make-up which gives small counties control of the legislature out of proportion to population.

Nineteen counties with only 24 per cent of the total population elect 66 per cent of the State Senate and 51 per cent of the House of Delegates. Residents of the four metropolitan counties and Baltimore City who filed the suit claimed this violates their rights to equal representation under the 14th Amendment.

The state never answered these original complaints. It demurred to the suit instead, contending that the court had no authority to determine the question. Judge Duckett agreed with the state, and it was this ruling that was overturned by the Court of Appeals in Wednesday's opinion.

The high court, however, went considerably beyond stating that the lower court should determine whether rights of equal representation are being violated. It laid down procedures for the lower court to follow if it finds "invidious discrimination" exists.

The opinion suggests methods by which the legislature might reapportion, without going into details of how seats would be distributed and it cloaks the lower court with authority to keep newly elected legislators from being certified if the assembly has not reapportioned by November.

Joseph S. Kaufman, deputy attorney general, said Thursday the office has not decided its exact course of action and does not know when its answer to the reapportionment suit will be ready.

Troops Sought To Guard Negro Family's Home

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes has been asked to assign National Guard troops to protect a Negro family's home located in a previously all-white development in Glen Burnie.

A letter to the government from Mrs. Eleanor A. Crawford, counsel for the Anne Arundel County branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said the Benjamin Wallace family had been "harassed, humiliated, threatened and frightened by demonstrations of violence against them."

"Mrs. Wallace and her baby daughter are afraid to be alone," Mrs. Crawford said.

Five incidents have occurred since the Wallace family bought the home in Sun Valley from the Veterans Administration March 29.

The latest demonstration occurred Friday, when a rock was hurled against the living room window.

"The Anne Arundel County law enforcement agencies are unable to cope with the situation," Mrs. Crawford advised Tawes, "and I am, therefore, formally requesting your excellency, as commander in chief of the land and naval forces of the State of Maryland, to deploy such forces of the state militia as are necessary to protect the lives and property of the Wallace family, and to preserve the peace and dignity of the state before it becomes necessary to seek federal intervention in this matter."

Maryland Briefs

BALTIMORE (AP) — A father rousing his children because of a fire Thursday missed his 7-year-old son and the boy perished in the flames.

The youngster who died was Marvin Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hall. The other six members of the family were rescued by firemen.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Maryland's highway death toll stood at 136 Thursday, 35 more than a year ago.

Among the latest victims was Mrs. Marion P. Worthington, 68, of Baltimore, struck and killed in the city Wednesday night by a mail truck.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall says there should be a final decision on a proposal that Assateague Island be made a public park, before the island off Maryland's coast is developed further.

Udall said at a news conference that Assateague is one of the last remaining potential recreation areas in the Maryland-District of Columbia area.

BALTIMORE (AP)—A committee of the Legislative Council is studying the possibility of making the tax year correspond to the calendar year throughout the state, and of adopting uniform budget periods and tax deadlines for all the counties.

FERNDALE, Md. (AP) — Anne Arundel County police have charged a 15-year-old youth with setting a five-acre field fire Wednesday in the Point Pleasant section of the county.

LAYTONSVILLE, Md. (AP) — David Sell, 5, drowned Thursday after a small boat sank in 6 feet of water in a farm pond.

A neighbor, George Kolstad, said he applied artificial respiration, but the boy had been in the water for about ten minutes and could not be saved.

Accused Slayer Of Mate On Trial

SALISBURY (AP) — A striking brunette charged in the slaying of her husband went on trial Thursday in Wicomico County Circuit Court.

Mrs. Patricia Ann Morris, 21, is charged in the fatal shooting Feb. 8 of her husband, George Rollie Morris, 25, an employe of a boat-building firm in Salisbury.

A jury of eight men and four women was chosen and then lawyers for both sides presented their opening arguments.

Lone Gunman Sticks Up Baltimore Branch Bank, Gets $2,500

BALTIMORE (AP) — A lone gunman wearing a red plaid shirt and green baseball cap robbed a branch bank of $2,500 Thursday.

Police said the bandit ordered a teller, Mrs. Thelma V. Lloyd, to put the contents of her cash drawer into a black, plastic bag he shoved across the counter. Then he had her hold up the drawer, so he could make sure it was empty.

The bank robbed is a branch of the Provident Savings Bank. The gunman who escaped was described as a white man about 30 years old.

Mrs. Lloyd said the man gave her two $1 bills and, in a soft voice, asked for a roll of nickels. As she turned to get the coins, she said, he drew the gun, pulled out the bag and ordered: "Put all your money in here."

Science At Work

By The Associated Press

Changing the course of an asteroid, an atomic guide on the ocean bottom, and a mystery of army ants are in the science news:

Closer To Home

A space scientist suggests putting a small asteroid into permanent orbit around the earth as a lasting mark of human achievement.

Shu Huang of the Goddard Space Flight Center at Greenbelt, Md., writes about it in an astronomical journal.

He says some small asteroids—very thin planets which form part of the solar system—come so close to us that their orbits would have to be changed only slightly to make them prisoners of earth's gravity. He proposes using a rocket to alter the orbit of a selected asteroid, and push it closer to earth.

Sunlight reflected from such a nearby asteroid would make it look as brilliant to us as the brightest stars in the sky. At present, asteroids cannot be seen with the naked eye.

Deep Sea Beacon

Navy ships will get a new navigational fix of precise position above the restless sea waves.

It will be a beacon, dropped to the Atlantic bottom, powered by radiation from strontium 90. Heat from the radioactive atoms will be converted directly into electricity to send out the beacon sound signals.

Ships doing oceanographic research then can return to the exact same spot in the ocean repeatedly, and fan out from there.

Similar to other atomic-powered sources for navigational satellites, automatic weather stations, and a Coast Guard navigational buoy, this experimental beacon will be produced by Martin Co. nuclear division under an Atomic Energy Commission contract.

It will be encased in an eight-inch-thick cast iron shell. The strontium fuel will be in a virtually insoluble chemical form so as not to endanger marine life.

Male Mystery

Marauding army ants which trek off on raids through the jungle have apparently persisted for 60 million years. But entomologists rarely find any males in these great ant columns. Males are produced in broods of about 3,000 by colony queens early in each dry season, but then seem soon to be eliminated.

Dr. T. C. Schneirla of the American Museum of Natural History thinks he has at least a partial answer from studies on Barro Colorado Island in the Canal Zone.

Soon after they emerge from cocoons, he says, the winged males fly off on independent courses. Most apparently perish, but a few reach a colony of their species, with a chance of mating.

Washington County Bond Bids Opened

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — Halsey Stuart Co. of New York was the low bidder Wednesday on $1 million worth of Washington County construction bonds.

The low of nine bids was for a 2.6 per cent interest rate. A spokesman for the Board of County Commissioners said all of the bids were for less than 3 per cent.

Warren Buckler, bond counsel for the commissioners, said the low interest rate proposals were indicative of the county's financial strength.

The county will use the bond money for construction of a courthouse annex.

Weather Station Scarcity Limits Fallout Tracking

WASHINGTON (AP) — The scarcity of weather stations in the Pacific Ocean east of Christmas Island will rule out detailed forecasts of the meanderings of early fallout from U.S. nuclear tests which began Wednesday.

So the Weather Bureau does not plan to make public charts of the fallout as it did when fallout from the Soviet tasts last fall passed over the northern hemisphere.

Specialists said, however, that based on the prevailing winds where the tests are being held, the early fallout would be essentially limited to a world-girdling belt between 2,000 and 3,500 miles wide in the tropics.

In an interview, the bureau men were speaking about tropospheric fallout—the radioactive debris that may be released two weeks to a month after an explosion.

This type of fallout — half of any given amount of which would fall in about 20 days—is to be distinguished from stratospheric fallout which takes anywhere from a few months to several years to come down.

Fire Company Launches Fund Drive

The annual fund drive of the Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Company is under way, with members distributing coin cards at each home in the area served by the department.

Clayton Gillum and William H. O'Neal, co-chairmen of the annual drive, said each card contains slots for 20 quarters, and also contains a place for paper money or check. The cards will be picked up near the end of August, Gillum and O'Neal said.

The co-chairmen explained the cards are numbered to keep bookkeeping at a minimum, and the cards indexed with a large map to enable the company to locate fire calls quickly and efficiently.

The map project, company spokesmen report, has won praise from state fire officials, and been copied by a number of other fire-fighting organizations in Maryland. Changes resulting from people moving in an out of the area served are kept up to date, the company reports.

Accompanying the coin cards is a letter designed to largely eliminate the number of false alarms resulting when a wrong number is dialed. The Bowling Green siren sounds automatically when a certain number is dialed, it is explained, and effective as of June 1 the dial number will be changed to 729-2223.

The fire company operates with four pieces of equipment, including a 1250-gallon water tank truck and two vehicles with two-way radios. The coin card project will help finance the purchase of additional equipment, with company officials stating that a two-way radio also is planned for the tank truck that was bought from last year's coin card collection.

Areas being worked, the captains and co-workers, include:

Bowling Avenue from Roberts Place to Division Avenue, Douglas Golliday, captain, Charles Crawford, Leo Shipley and Gene Carithers; McMullen Highway from Circle Inn to Fire Hall and including Oakwood Avenue and Orchard Street, Edward Ruppenkamp, captain, Franklin Sine, Russell Haines and Clayton Gillum.

Fire Hall to Amcelle Tavern, west side of highway, Allan Deffinbaugh, captain, Lewis Ridgeway, Joseph Counihan and Jack Beeman; Fire Hall to Parker's Garage, east side of highway, including side streets to Bowling Avenue, David E. Kirk, captain, Daniel Fradiska, Bernard Warren and Raymond Small.

Cresap Drive to Division, Wright, Long and Buchanan avenues, Dewey Thompson, captain, Gary Gillum, Grayson Solomon and William Kirk Jr.

Potomac Park, west side of highway, Calvin Ayers, captain, William O'Neal, Clarence Sell, Kenneth Sheets and Elmer Rexrode; Potomac Park, east side of highway from Division Avenue to Celanese plant, Paul Ross, captain, George Mahaney and Sol Glicksman.

Residents of the area who do not receive cards are to call either Gillum at 722-0564; O'Neal at 724-2838, or the Fire Hall after 6 p. m. at 724-1522.

Assisting the co-chairmen are Dewey Thompson, Raymond Small, Douglas Golliday, Clarence Sell and Lewis Ridgeway.

Some Allies To Get 1,000-MPH Planes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department has selected a twin-engined jet fighter, designated the Northrop N156 and capable of more than 1,000 miles an hour, for delivery to "certain selected countries" under the U.S. Military Assistance Program.

A Pentagon announcement Wednesday said the planes may be sold extensively to European countries, and may be given to some countries outside Europe. But a spokesman declined to identify the nations involved.

The new plane, two models of which are flying, is a combat version of the Air Force T38 trainer.

attacked Pollack for his attempts to have a savings and loan regulatory law defeated in the 1961 General Assembly.

"Fortunately, today Maryland has effective machinery for the regulation of the savings and loan industry, despite politically inspired statements you may have heard to the contrary," the mayor asserted.

Speeds Road Plan

"But, if Mr. Pollack had his way, there would be no controls, no regulations of any kind. He fought this regulatory legislation tooth and nail, with complete disregard for the interests of the people . . . "

A major part of Grady's speech was devoted to commending Tawes for his fiscal policies.

"While the governor and I have not always been in complete agreement," Grady said, ". . . the record shows that Gov. Tawes has consistently provided increased financial assistance to ease the burdens of the city's taxpayers."

Tawes, speaking at a luncheon at the Franklintown Inn located near the Baltimore City line, said that with his encouragement a 12-year highway construction program was modified to put priority roads in service sooner than originally planned.

Among the highways moved up in the schedule, he said, were the Baltimore Beltway, Northeastern Expressway, Capital Beltway, U.S. 50 on the Eastern Shore and the John Hansen Highway. These roads are either completed now or scheduled for completion before 1965, whereas none of them were scheduled for completion until the 1970s under the old program, Tawes said.

Fire Company Launches Fund Drive

The map project, company spokesmen report, has won praise from state fire officials, and been copied by a number of other fire-fighting organizations in Maryland. Changes resulting from people moving in an out of the area served are kept up to date, the company reports.

Accompanying the coin cards is a letter designed to largely eliminate the number of false alarms resulting when a wrong number is dialed. The Bowling Green siren sounds automatically when a certain number is dialed, it is explained, and effective as of June 1 the dial number will be changed to 729-2223.

The fire company operates with four pieces of equipment, including a 1250-gallon water tank truck and two vehicles with two-way radios. The coin card project will help finance the purchase of additional equipment, with company officials stating that a two-way radio also is planned for the tank truck that was bought from last year's coin card collection.

Areas being worked, the captains and co-workers, include:

Bowling Avenue from Roberts Place to Division Avenue, Douglas Golliday, captain, Charles Crawford, Leo Shipley and Gene Carithers; McMullen Highway from Circle Inn to Fire Hall and including Oakwood Avenue and Orchard Street, Edward Ruppenkamp, captain, Franklin Sine, Russell Haines and Clayton Gillum.

Fire Hall to Amcelle Tavern, west side of highway, Allan Deffinbaugh, captain, Lewis Ridgeway, Joseph Counihan and Jack Beeman; Fire Hall to Parker's Garage, east side of highway, including side streets to Bowling Avenue, David E. Kirk, captain, Daniel Fradiska, Bernard Warren and Raymond Small.

Cresap Drive to Division, Wright, Long and Buchanan avenues, Dewey Thompson, captain, Gary Gillum, Grayson Solomon and William Kirk Jr.

Potomac Park, west side of highway, Calvin Ayers, captain, William O'Neal, Clarence Sell, Kenneth Sheets and Elmer Rexrode; Potomac Park, east side of highway from Division Avenue to Celanese plant, Paul Ross, captain, George Mahaney and Sol Glicksman.

Residents of the area who do not receive cards are to call either Gillum at 722-0564; O'Neal at 724-2838, or the Fire Hall after 6 p. m. at 724-1522.

Assisting the co-chairmen are Dewey Thompson, Raymond Small, Douglas Golliday, Clarence Sell and Lewis Ridgeway.

Some Allies To Get 1,000-MPH Planes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department has selected a twin-engined jet fighter, designated the Northrop N156 and capable of more than 1,000 miles an hour, for delivery to "certain selected countries" under the U.S. Military Assistance Program.

A Pentagon announcement Wednesday said the planes may be sold extensively to European countries, and may be given to some countries outside Europe. But a spokesman declined to identify the nations involved.

The new plane, two models of which are flying, is a combat version of the Air Force T38 trainer.

Campaign Spending And The Public

Most Americans can agree with the axiom that it is better to give than to receive, except when it comes to politics. For reasons probably dating to various exposes of graft and political corruption, contributing money to a political campaign is difficult for the average American.

Just why this is so, and what can be done to correct the public image of political donations, were the dual tasks tackled by a Presidential commission last fall. The commission has made its recommendations, based upon tax deductions and a full disclosure of amounts spent in Presidential contests.

Present limitations on campaign expenditures have proved to be a farce. Each national committee, for example, is prohibited from spending more than $3 million. So each national committee spends a great deal of its time and dollars setting up local, state and citizens committees, none of which is regulated by the federal government.

One recommendation likely to arouse strong criticism from several angles would make it manatory for radio and TV networks to provide free campaign time for major presidential and vice presidential candidates.

All of the commission's recommendations have been made before, and perhaps the President will now seek legislation to implement them, but judging by the contribution record of the 1960 campaign, the commission may have surveyed belatedly a situation which is undergoing self-improvement.

More than 4.5 million families, or 10 per cent of the citizenry, gave contributions in 1960, compared to only 3 per cent in 1956. Three times as much money was contributed by under-$200 givers in 1960, another indication that more voters have decided to do something for their favorite candidates in addition to casting votes.

This trend toward more active participation by voters should not be discouraged by federal regulation of campaign contributions.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Make Elections Honest

The President's Commission on Campaign Costs has issued an interesting but futile report on how to control campaign expenditures. The 1960 Campaign cost the Republican and Democratic Parties $19,900,000, which is far less than the fact because considerable amounts in any campaign are paid in cash and are not accounted for and cannot be proved.

The Commission proposes:

"Where an individual or organization is subject to taxation, we recommend that the reasonable costs of these activities be declared a deductible expense for tax purposes."

That would be a sensible proposal if groups contributed only to absolutely defined campaign funds, not to so-called educational funds, which are a device to deceive. The Commission further proposes:

"We recommend that individuals and private organizations—including corporations, labor unions, farm organizations, civic societies, and other appropriate groups — be encouraged as a matter of good citizenship to take part in and to make expenditures for bipartisan political activities (or multipartisan political activities where more than the two major parties benefit from such expenditures)."

This is nonesense. It is a renunciation of partisanship. Our political system is based upon two parties. The Communists permit only one party to exist. Partisanship is wholesome and is the only protection that a free people have against tyranny. Recently, I tried to explain to some youngsters that the reason I voted for Richard Nixon in 1960 was that I was a partisan. They did not seem to understand that at all.

The Commission also proposes a tax incentive for contributions on the ground that charitable, health, welfare, religious and educational groups are exempt. The argument is specious; however, I, like other taxpayers, am willing to take advantage of any kind of tax deduction at any time, but I do not want to contribute to the success of enemies or those who support ideas that I oppose.

The Commission wisely objects to the splintering of political organizations into many committees, which is a current device to raise money for campaigns. However, their recommendation that the benefits be limited to political parties whose candidates for President and Vice President appeared on the ballot in 10 states is a curb upon the freedom of conscience.

I have salved my conscience on some occasions by voting for Norman Thomas and I once voted for Roger Babson because both the Republican and Democratic candidates were repugnant to me. That may happen to me in the 1962 Election in New York State.

It seems to me that this Commission has dodged the central issue, which is that campaign expenses run too high; that the candidate who has the money to buy more television time, competing for slots with toothpaste and detergents, has a better opportunity than the man who has less money. It may be that the man with less money may be more suitable.

The Kennedy-Nixon Debates in the 1960 Campaign made sense. Nixon was defeated because he was nonaggressive, defensive, unable, because of his office, to denounce or defend his President. Granted that Nixon was on a spot and that Kennedy belted him to the ropes; nevertheless, the voter had a chance to see both men in action.

Even this is not the cure. The British have it in their strict limitation of expenditures and if a nickel more is spent than the law permits, the election is mull, and the candidate's manager is liable to punishment. This is a good law. They do not bother there about the contributors, who might slip a bill under the table. They go after the candidate and his manager who spends that extra money which he has a right to have but not to spend on the campaign.

This is an honest and direct method of keeping elections decent. The President's Commission on Campaign Costs wanders all over the Earth seeking impractical remedies. For instance, the report says:

"A general misconception appears to exist about the effect and intent of the provision (in the law limiting contributions). From ous study of the section, its legislative history, and the applicable court decisions, it is clear to us that no distinction is intended between corporations and unions with respect to political contributions and expenditures."

There is more than one member of the Commission who must have had his tongue in his cheek when he saw that paragraph. What about educational funds?

Rival Lobbyists Squabble Over Most Provisions In New Tax Bill

By Jack Anderson

(Editor's Note—While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, his column is being written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON — Like jackals snarling and scrapping over a hunk of meat, rival lobbyists have fought over almost every clause in the new tax bill.

Here is the amazing inside story of the struggle over one obscure insurance provision:

The National Commitee on Insurance Taxation was formed in 1958 to agitate for a higher tax rate on mutual fire and casualty companies.

This column discovered, however, that the committee is not a public-spirited body at all but a front for the All State Insurance Company.

The latest available records show that All State contributed $351,924.83 to the committee during the 1958-61 period. The only other contribution was a meager $2,000 from Motors Insurance Company of New York City.

Calls to the committee are taken by H. F. Walton who admitted to this column that he is really an All State vice president.

He also conceded that his company is less interested in raising revenue for Uncle Sam than in reducing the competitive advantage of the rival mutual companies.

The first Congressman to accept the All State viewpoint was Howard Baker, Republican, who represents the wild-boar country of East Tennessee. He introduced a bill to increase taxes on the mutuals.

By a curious coincidence, he acted shortly after his former campaign manager, Knoxville Attorney Jerome Taylor, was hired by the All State front group.

Taylor had difficulty explaining to this column why All State's taxation committee should seek an attorney in Knoxville. He insisted his selection had nothing to do with Baker, denied that he had been hired to influence the Congressman, but acknowledged that he had spoken to Baker about the bill.

Whatever his services, they have been worth $25,874.85 to the taxation committee.

Stevenson Intervenes

Needing Democratic support, the committee also hired Adlai Stevenson's New York law firm, which has been paid $113,223.09. Stevenson personally persuaded Congressman Hale Boggs, Louisiana Democrat, to join in sponsoring the Baker bill.

Both Boggs and Baker, it should be added, have fine public records.

Stevenson left his law firm and gave up his legislative activities, of course, after he was appointed United Nations Ambassador.

The assignment was turned over to his associate, Adrian De Wind, who as a Congressional investigator helped to expose the tax scandals in the Truman Administration.

De Wind was brought to Washington in the 1940's by Stanley Surrey, now an Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, who is the Treasury Department's chief spokesman on tax matters.

This brings up another curious coincidence.

Surrey was selected by President-elect Kennedy in late 1960 to head a special task force on taxation. One of the four members Surrey invited to help him was De Wind.

Subsequently, the Treasury Department recommended the same tax measure for mutuals that De Wind has been lobbying for.

This column is convinced from careful investigation, however, that the task force did not deal with the subject of mutual casualty insurance. But after Surrey moved over to the Treasury Department, De Wind sought privately to influence him.

Surrey, a conscientious public servant, has assured this column that he based his final decision on a careful study of the merits.

It must have been gratifying for De Wind, however, that the decision helped the All State cause.

Final maneuvering: The House accepted the mutual provision with slight changes and sent it to the Senate for approval. To influence the Senators, All State was ready with another lobbyist—former Sen. James Kem, Missouri Republican, whose backslapping already has earned him $23,200.

Nikita Approves

The U.S. proposal for a direct telephone link between the White House and the Kremlin should get a friendly reception in Moscow. Premier Nikita Khrushchev privately approved of the idea nearly two years ago.

It was first suggested by Parade Magazine's enterprising editor, Jess Gorkin, who caught Khrushchev at a reception and wouldn't let go of his hand until he got a comment.

"I am in favor of a direct telephone line between the Kremlin and the White House to prevent accidental war," Khrushchev told Gorkin. "It is a good idea."

Several months later, the Soviet leader mentioned the Parade proposal to Drew Pearson in the bathhouse at Khrushchev's Black Sea refuge.

Pointing to a phone beside a lounge, Khrushchev cracked: "That's my direct line to the White House."

Then he acknowledged that a "hot phone" to the White House might be worth while to head off accidental war.

Note: The White House already has direct lines to British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, French President Charles de Gaulle, and German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Personal Postscript

I reported in a recent column that Lt. Gen. Arthur Trudeau's civilian superiors considered him a right-wing extremist. His friends have shown me evidence of his outspoken opposition to extremists of both the left and the right.

Although the general made no complaint, I want to apologize for misrepresenting his views. He is not only a vigorous anti-Communist, but a patriotic American.

JFK Ignores Own Doctrine For Wage Increases

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—In these days when "non-inflationary" means that it's all right for wage costs to go up but that it is sinful to increase prices, the latest move by the Administration to boost pay scales among government workers is just beginning to attract attention.

President Kennedy has asked Congress to increase the wages of government workers by about $1.1 billion a year in separate stages over a period of three years. This amounts to a 10.2 per cent increase from the present scale.

A comparable increase in the rates of private wages and salaries would cost private business about $23.5 billion a year.

The U. S. Civil Service Commission has issued a comparison of federal salaries with those in various occupations. It is based on a Department of Labor study of professional, administrative, technical and clerical pay.

Up to now private business in some instances has had a higher wage rate in the higher brackets of clerical employes, and the government has regularly maintained a better position in the lower brackets. Now, however, if government rates go up, private business will find itself confronted with the necessity of pushing up many of its wage and salary scales.

President Kennedy's bill provides that, even when the salaries of government workers and those in private business reach approximately the same level, there must be an annual survey and adjustment of federal salaries to keep them equal to or above the private level.

Fringe benefits provided by the government are at least as generous as and often better than those granted to salaried workers in industry. The government worker for example, is permitted to accumulate unused sick leave.

Under the proposed schedules, office boys who at present get $2,521 a year in government, as compared with $3,119 in private industry, would go up to $3,641. A chief personnel director in government who now gets $12,745 would go up to $15,285, as compared with $14,532 in private business. Nearly 41 per cent of the stenographers in private business in America will be getting less than the proposed government minimum. It means, therefore, an upward pressure on wage scales inside industry and business.

Now, the argument isn't whether these pay rates are justified in either case. If it be assumed that wage rates for white-collar workers are, generally speaking, too low, the question is how industry and business are to get the adidtional funds to pay for their increases. The federal government has it easy. It merely gets Congress to increase the debt limit when tax receipts aren't enough to pay for federal spending.

Private industry, however, can only raise its prices or go broke. This is what is sometimes described as a wage-price spiral. President Kennedy has called for "stability" in both wages and prices. But he seems to have ignored his own doctrine as he asks Congress to raise wage levels in government.

It will be argued that the government workers have been lagging behind and that all the Administration is trying to do is to "catch up." But that was precisely the language of the U. S. Steel Corporation as it recently called for a "partial catch-up" on its wage costs through a small price increase.

Those who may not realize how closely related government pay scales can be to private industry need only take note of a telegram just sent by 157 printing firms in Washington to President Kennedy and members of a committee in Congress. It reads as follows:

"Report of proposed 24 cents per hour increase to composing room employes at the Government Printing Office is shocking. This compares with average increase of 9.3 cents per hour for same craft in commercial contracts negotiated throughout the United States in the last six months. Such proposed increase of 6.8 per cent contradicts Administration policy of non-inflationary increases and would have nationwide impact."

For the past 14 years it has been customary for the Government Printing Office to use a weighted average of the union scales in 24 leading cities as compiled by the U. S. Department of Labor. But now the formula has been changed to include the higher rates of pay among night workers and the monetary value of fringe benefits. This puts the private printing establishment here on the spot and must inevitably result in increased prices to the public—unless the President steps in. Certainly there has been no consideration given to any "productivity" guidelines in this case.

The government's role in fixing wage costs is far reaching. Congress, which has the power to approve or disapprove the wage increases for government employes, is anxious to help the workers get better pay. The real point is whether Congress will help employers in private business to get higher prices, or whether the "profit squeeze" will continue to become more and more acute, thus forcing many marginal concerns out of business and leaving the field to the larger companies. Unemployment will thereby be increased.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

PATRIOTIC—Joe Cronin dropped in at the White House the other day in his capacity as president of the American League, to present President Kennedy with his season baseball pass.

It happened to be a day that the President had issued proclamations on "Loyalty Day," "Citizenship Day," "Constitution Week" and "Library Week." And there, on the presidential appointments list was: Joe Cronin, president of the American League.

A British correspondent covering the White House was somewhat bewildered and asked about the "American League." After he had learned all about major league baseball, the cricket-oriented Londoner confessed he'd been saved from a serious reportorial error.

He'd assumed all along that the "American League" was some kind of patriotic organization, like the Daughters of the American Revolution.

REVERTING TO TYPE—Word filtering back to Washington is that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower enjoys reminiscing about his days as supreme commander in Europe during World War II. He's more the "old soldier" than the ex-president and his words are liberally sprinkled with military jargon.

This is a sharp reversal from his behavior during his eight years in the White House when he made a conscious effort to push his military career into the background. He then wanted to be known primarily as a man of peace, not as a military leader steeped in the traditions of war.

One of the few times Mr. Eisenhower was observed slipping into military slang while he was president occurred at his cottage in Augusta, Ga., adjoining the famed golf club there. He was presenting a portrait to that golfing great, Bobby Jones, when he noted that the first lady was missing.

"Where's Mamie?" he asked. "Somebody find Mamie and tell her to fall into this formation."

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

There was no joy in Sea Bright. Jim Sullivan's joint had been closed tighter than a pawnbroker's heart. The Alcoholic Beverage Control group did it. A drunk had been served a drink. And drunks, under the rules, aren't supposed to get drinks, although how a drunk can do it without drinks beats me. Anyway, it tossed Sully out of business for two weeks, put Bill and Emmet on the breadlines, and placed two mynah birds, Willie and Silky, on unemployment insurance.

Sullivan drew up a sign for his front window. "Gone," it read, "on Retreat." The birds, who seldom drink, were tossed squawking in their cages on the back seat of a car. "What's up, Doc?" Silky said. "Oh," said Willie, "are you a talking bird?" The day and night bartenders went back to their racing forms, picking nags who always come in fourth, and James The Last went back to bed with his black cigar and his newspapers.

It was a situation best described as dreadful. A man named William Howe Davis — I wonder if he ever had a skinful?—found Sullivan guilty. The charge is a model of succinctness:

"On Wednesday night, October 4, 1961, you sold, served and delivered and allowed, permitted and suffered the sale, service and delivery of alcoholic beverages, directly or indirectly, to a person actually or apparently intoxicated and allowed, permitted and suffered the consumption of such beverages by such person in and upon your licensed premises: in violation of Rule 1 of State Regulation No. 20."

What happened was that two secret agents of A.B.C. posed as customers. They waited around, looking for a violation, but acting like jolly customers who would like another drink. "At about 10:30 p.m." the report says, "they observed a male enter the said premises and he appeared to be intoxicated. He swayed and staggered as he walked to a seat at the northeast corner of the bar. He was served a scotch and soda by the bartender, and paid 60 cents therefor, with a dollar bill, and was given 40 cents change . . ." It doesn't sound like Sullivan's.

The agents said the drunk went to the phone booth and tried several times to dial a number. The fact that Sullivan's didn't have a dial phone at the time is of small moment. The point is that the was "apparently drunk" and he was served, not one, but two scotches. The agents confiscated the second one without paying the man.

The A.B.C. then called a local policeman, John Keenan. The agents asked Keenan to give the customer a sobriety test. Keenan, who knows his business, refused because the customer was not driving a car, causing a commotion or breaking a law. At the hearing, Keenan testified that, in his opinion, the customer was not drunk. An insurance broker said he saw the whole thing and the customer was not drunk. A lady said she saw it, and the customer was not drunk. The bartender also swore that the man was not drunk.

Still, William Howe Davis, who sat in judgment on the case, says: "It is well established that whether a man is sober or intoxicated is a matter of common observation, not requiring any special knowledge or skill." I do not believe this. I'm a non-drinker and I often clown and have fun in saloons. Would Davis accept the word of secret agents that, because I acted silly, I was drunk?

Any saloonkeeper is fair game for any agent. Any politician can ask the A.B.C. in any state to check up on any tavern. And please show me a place where you will not find an intoxicated person. Does Davis think the public goes to these places to conduct prayer meetings? They go to drink. A bartender is going to need a degree in psychiatry if he is expected to spot the drunks before they get drunk.

Once I wrote a book on alcoholism. It was called The Glass Crutch and it was endorsed by the American Psychiatric Association. I am opposed to drunkenness as the A.B.C. Maybe more so, because if drinking goes out of style, Mr. Davis and the secret agents will be out of work. I find myself on the side of the A.B.C., but opposed to the method of checking the saloonkeeper.

In some states, some A.B.C. agents are shakedown men. In others, they spotcheck only the tavern keepers they don't like. In New Jersey, Senator Anthony J. Grossi wants to investigate the A.B.C. and make the rules equitable for all. In any agency, state or federal, where the accused is not permitted to know the name of his accusers, the agency is open to arrogance and graft.

In this case, I feel no sorrow for Sullivan. He's loaded. When he shoots pool, he's the only man I know who has to dim his diamonds before he makes his shot. No, my pity goes to the mynah birds. For two weeks they saw nothing but daylight and it nearly blinded them . . .

High Rate Of Drug Addiction In Hong Kong

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Hong Kong is said to have the highest incidence of drug addiction in the world. There are 200,000 addicts in a population of 8 million and it is estimated that they spend 50 million dollars a year on heroin and opium. Hong Kong is a free port and the freedom of movement is exploited by international traffickers in narcotics.

Sixty per cent of all prisoners are convicted on drug charges. To meet this problem, authorities established a special prison for the rehabilitation of addicts, located 16 miles from Kowloon. The majority of the 680 inmates are between 20 and 40 years of age. Twenty per cent have tuberculosis.

The prison authorities hope to rid the prisoners of their addiction and restore them to good physical and mental health. They are encouraged to work out of doors on afforestation and flood control.

The majority gain 12 to 16 pounds and, during the first year of the prison's establishment, only 65 were reconvicted. Let's hope they do a better job than we do with our addicts.

There are many objections to noise but the following may be serious, at least to laboratory rats. When a group of 10 mating couples were exposed to noise for 16 to 18 days, their fertility rate was reduced from 80 to 5.7 per cent.

Even a four day exposure to auditory stimuli reduced the fertility rate from 70 to 7.1 per cent.

Noise also had an adverse effect on pregnancy. Only one pregnancy occurred when the 20 rats were subjected to noise from the eighth to the 10th day after mating. On the other hand, there were 16 pregnancies (with 125 offspring) among an equal number of rats living in quiet surroundings.

The reason rats behave in this way is not known. But, what is more important, is whether there is a correlation between rat and man in the reaction to noise, so far as concerns fertility.

OVERSTRETCHED TISSUES

C. S. writes: My husband has had six hernia operations. He is due for another in the spring. Is there any chance the seventh will hold?

REPLY

Yes, but the success of a hernia operation depends upon the quality of the tissues that surround the protusion. The stitches will not hold if the tissues are overstretched and lack a good framework. Many surgeons graft tough fibrous strips or insert a special metal mesh into the wound when previous operations have failed to correct the hernia.

FUNGAL INFECTION

H. L. writes: Can a person have histoplasmosis for a number of years and not know it?

REPLY

Yes. Lesions in the lungs seldom cause symptoms, excepting those resembling a common cold. Infections beginning in the mouth, throat, vocal cords, and ears lead to ulceration and enlargement of the lymph glands. The causative agent is a fungus.

INTESTINAL PROBLEMS

E. G. writes: Does pain, looseness of the bowl, and passing of blood mean ulcer in the intestine?

REPLY

Dysentery usually indicates a disorder of the bowl, including ulcerative colitis. X-rays and stool tests should be done. A protoscopic examination will be needed to determine whether ulcers are present.

DOESN'T BURN FOOD

R. K. writes: Why does a person gain weight when the thyroid becomes sluggish?

REPLY

Because too much of the food he eats is stored and too little is utilized for energy.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Herb Stein tells about a bartender, in the country for a day off, who encountered a grasshopper in a field. "Do you know," inquired the bartender respectfully, "that a very popular drink has been named after you?"

"Golly," nodded the grasshopper, obviously impressed. "Who could have dreamed there'd be a drink named Leonard!"

Memorable lines attributed to Stephen Leacock, the great Canadian humorist:

1. There is only one beautiful child in the world, and every mother has it.

2. Many a man in love with a dimple makes the mistake of marrying the whole girl.

3. A friend is a man who has the same enemies you have.

4. Many college graduates need that sheepskin they get to cover their intellectual nakedness.

A. W. Stinson defines childhood as "that wonderful age when all you had to do to lose weight was to take a bath."

U.S. 40 Contract Is Awarded To Brotemarkle Firm

Another contract toward the modernization of U.S. Route 40 has been awarded by the Maryland State Roads Commission.

The contract for grading and draining relocated U.S. 40 from Watson Road 4.334 miles westward to Mountain Road has been awarded to the S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company of Cumberland, according to John D. Bushby, District 6 engineer.

The firm submitted a low bid of $688,371.50 for the contract.

"Fortunately, today Maryland has effective machinery for the regulation of the savings and loan industry, despite politically inspired statements you may have heard to the contrary," the mayor asserted.

"But, if Mr. Pollack had his way, there would be no controls, no regulations of any kind. He fought this regulatory legislation tooth and nail, with complete disregard for the interests of the people . . . "

A major part of Grady's speech was devoted to commending Tawes for his fiscal policies.

"While the governor and I have not always been in complete agreement," Grady said, ". . . the record shows that Gov. Tawes has consistently provided increased financial assistance to ease the burdens of the city's taxpayers."

Tawes, speaking at a luncheon at the Franklintown Inn located near the Baltimore City line, said that with his encouragement a 12-year highway construction program was modified to put priority roads in service sooner than originally planned.

Among the highways moved up in the schedule, he said, were the Baltimore Beltway, Northeastern Expressway, Capital Beltway, U.S. 50 on the Eastern Shore and the John Hansen Highway. These roads are either completed now or scheduled for completion before 1965, whereas none of them were scheduled for completion until the 1970s under the old program, Tawes said.

Today's hand appeared to be a veritable laydown until declarer tested the trump suit. When he received the bad news, he found that all his resources and skill were required to overcome the effects of nature's ill-will.

The bidding was quite sound and, against the four heart contract, West led the jack of diamonds from his sequence. All hands ducked and the suit was continued, declarer ruffing in his hand. South observed that, if trumps broke and he could pick up the queen of clubs, the hand would produce 12 tricks. When he cashed the king of hearts and East answered the call with a small diamond, declarer was obliged to make a drastic revision of his original estimate.

It now appeared that West held two sure trump tricks and, if the club finesse failed, the contract itself was endangered. Rather than risk everything on the 50-50 chance of a finesse, South decided to cast around for some other prospect first.

He therefore cashed three rounds of spades, ending up in dummy. This involved no risk, for if West ruffed it would be with a natural trump trick. When everyone followed, South ruffed away the dummy's last diamond. A club was now led to the ace, and another club was returned from the closed hand.

When West followed to the second round, South decided to abandon the club finesse, for he could now see a sure fire end play in the offing, regardless of who held the queen of clubs. He put up the king from dummy and continued with the jack. East was in with the queen of clubs. He returned a diamond and declarer discarded his last club. West was forced to ruff in with the jack of hearts in order to top the dummy's ten and now, with only the queen and nine of hearts left in his hand, he was obliged to surrender the last two tricks to South.

If West had held the queen of clubs, he would have been forced to lead away from his queen-jack-nine of trumps, permitting declarer to win with both the ace and ten of hearts.

The population of the United States increased 28 million in the ten years ended April 1, 1960.

The brain of the average person weighs approximately three pounds.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'll put it in blunt language. I have outgrown my wife.

She was all right 16 years ago when I was a country rube from Grant Island, Nebraska. But I've come a long way since then and she is still back in Grand Island—mentally, that is.

We have no children and I don't know what she does with her time. She never reads a book or the editorial page of a newspaper. Her idea of current events or world affairs is what's happening with Liz and Eddie. She bores me with her back-fence gossip.

I travel a lot in my work and have lunches and dinners with sophisticated, good-looking department store buyers. One very attractive young divorcee pointed out that when a person outgrows his shoes he throws them away. Life is too short to hang on to things which no longer have meaning. How about it?—WES

DEAR WES: How charming of the woman to compare your wife to an old pair of shoes. And how noble of you to let her get away with it.

If you think your wife is provincial why don't you take her along on some of your trips and help her, instead of discussing her failings with outsiders?

And no cracks, please about Grand Island, Nebraska. The small towns of America have produced some of our most illustrious names.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Don't tell me I'm crazy. I know it. Any woman who would allow an engagement to drag for 11 years would have to be nuts. What I want to know is whether or not I should make this heel pay through the pocketbook.

I was 23 when John and I met. It was love at first sight. He had looks, family background, a promising future and charm to burn. We were engaged in 1951. Don't ask me why we never married. I don't know the answer.

Four months ago he hired a new secretary — a sloe-eyed, shapely brunet, of 23. After she had worked there only a week John said she was the most efficient girl he'd ever seen. I heard whispers but thought it was just gossip.

Last week John told me our romance had simply worn itself out. He is going to marry this girl.

Shall I sue him for breach of promise? He has plenty of money and I have nothing but—

A BROKEN HEART

DEAR BROKEN HEART: Breach of promise suits are outlawed in many states. And even where they aren't outlawed, I do not support such action.

You went with this man for 11 years of your own volition. You were a fool.

If money can mend your broken heart you have a most unusual ticker. What you REALLY need is a repair man from National Cash Register.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We moved into this house four months ago. My wife and I are quiet, mind-your-own business types and we don't fool much with neighbors. In all our years we have never had trouble with anybody and we don't want trouble now.

The family next door includes a couple of boys who bounce a basketball on the side of our house until it drives us crazy. They also have a dog that barks all day and half the night. If we could do something about that basketball I think we could stand the dog.

I've always heard that when you complain to neighbors about their kids or dogs it never gets better. It always gets worse. What's your advice?

—HEADACHE

DEAR HEADACHE: Don't complain. ASK them if you can help put up a basketball hoop on THEIR garage, or on the side of their house. As for the dog, maybe wax earplugs will help.

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "gets dull," send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Campaign Spending And The Public

Most Americans can agree with the axiom that it is better to give than to receive, except when it comes to politics. For reasons probably dating to various exposes of graft and political corruption, contributing money to a political campaign is difficult for the average American.

Just why this is so, and what can be done to correct the public image of political donations, were the dual tasks tackled by a Presidential commission last fall. The commission has made its recommendations, based upon tax deductions and a full disclosure of amounts spent in Presidential contests.

Present limitations on campaign expenditures have proved to be a farce. Each national committee, for example, is prohibited from spending more than $3 million. So each national committee spends a great deal of its time and dollars setting up local, state and citizens committees, none of which is regulated by the federal government.

One recommendation likely to arouse strong criticism from several angles would make it manatory for radio and TV networks to provide free campaign time for major presidential and vice presidential candidates.

All of the commission's recommendations have been made before, and perhaps the President will now seek legislation to implement them, but judging by the contribution record of the 1960 campaign, the commission may have surveyed belatedly a situation which is undergoing self-improvement.

More than 4.5 million families, or 10 per cent of the citizenry, gave contributions in 1960, compared to only 3 per cent in 1956. Three times as much money was contributed by under-$200 givers in 1960, another indication that more voters have decided to do something for their favorite candidates in addition to casting votes.

This trend toward more active participation by voters should not be discouraged by federal regulation of campaign contributions.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Make Elections Honest

The President's Commission on Campaign Costs has issued an interesting but futile report on how to control campaign expenditures. The 1960 Campaign cost the Republican and Democratic Parties $19,900,000, which is far less than the fact because considerable amounts in any campaign are paid in cash and are not accounted for and cannot be proved.

The Commission proposes:

That would be a sensible proposal if groups contributed only to absolutely defined campaign funds, not to so-called educational funds, which are a device to deceive. The Commission further proposes:

"We recommend that individuals and private organizations—including corporations, labor unions, farm organizations, civic societies, and other appropriate groups — be encouraged as a matter of good citizenship to take part in and to make expenditures for bipartisan political activities (or multipartisan political activities where more than the two major parties benefit from such expenditures)."

This is nonesense. It is a renunciation of partisanship. Our political system is based upon two parties. The Communists permit only one party to exist. Partisanship is wholesome and is the only protection that a free people have against tyranny. Recently, I tried to explain to some youngsters that the reason I voted for Richard Nixon in 1960 was that I was a partisan. They did not seem to understand that at all.

The Commission also proposes a tax incentive for contributions on the ground that charitable, health, welfare, religious and educational groups are exempt. The argument is specious; however, I, like other taxpayers, am willing to take advantage of any kind of tax deduction at any time, but I do not want to contribute to the success of enemies or those who support ideas that I oppose.

The Commission wisely objects to the splintering of political organizations into many committees, which is a current device to raise money for campaigns. However, their recommendation that the benefits be limited to political parties whose candidates for President and Vice President appeared on the ballot in 10 states is a curb upon the freedom of conscience.

I have salved my conscience on some occasions by voting for Norman Thomas and I once voted for Roger Babson because both the Republican and Democratic candidates were repugnant to me. That may happen to me in the 1962 Election in New York State.

It seems to me that this Commission has dodged the central issue, which is that campaign expenses run too high; that the candidate who has the money to buy more television time, competing for slots with toothpaste and detergents, has a better opportunity than the man who has less money. It may be that the man with less money may be more suitable.

The Kennedy-Nixon Debates in the 1960 Campaign made sense. Nixon was defeated because he was nonaggressive, defensive, unable, because of his office, to denounce or defend his President. Granted that Nixon was on a spot and that Kennedy belted him to the ropes; nevertheless, the voter had a chance to see both men in action.

Even this is not the cure. The British have it in their strict limitation of expenditures and if a nickel more is spent than the law permits, the election is mull, and the candidate's manager is liable to punishment. This is a good law. They do not bother there about the contributors, who might slip a bill under the table. They go after the candidate and his manager who spends that extra money which he has a right to have but not to spend on the campaign.

This is an honest and direct method of keeping elections decent. The President's Commission on Campaign Costs wanders all over the Earth seeking impractical remedies. For instance, the report says:

"A general misconception appears to exist about the effect and intent of the provision (in the law limiting contributions). From ous study of the section, its legislative history, and the applicable court decisions, it is clear to us that no distinction is intended between corporations and unions with respect to political contributions and expenditures."

There is more than one member of the Commission who must have had his tongue in his cheek when he saw that paragraph. What about educational funds?

Rival Lobbyists Squabble Over Most Provisions In New Tax Bill

By Jack Anderson

(Editor's Note—While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, his column is being written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON — Like jackals snarling and scrapping over a hunk of meat, rival lobbyists have fought over almost every clause in the new tax bill.

Here is the amazing inside story of the struggle over one obscure insurance provision:

The National Commitee on Insurance Taxation was formed in 1958 to agitate for a higher tax rate on mutual fire and casualty companies.

This column discovered, however, that the committee is not a public-spirited body at all but a front for the All State Insurance Company.

The latest available records show that All State contributed $351,924.83 to the committee during the 1958-61 period. The only other contribution was a meager $2,000 from Motors Insurance Company of New York City.

Calls to the committee are taken by H. F. Walton who admitted to this column that he is really an All State vice president.

He also conceded that his company is less interested in raising revenue for Uncle Sam than in reducing the competitive advantage of the rival mutual companies.

The first Congressman to accept the All State viewpoint was Howard Baker, Republican, who represents the wild-boar country of East Tennessee. He introduced a bill to increase taxes on the mutuals.

By a curious coincidence, he acted shortly after his former campaign manager, Knoxville Attorney Jerome Taylor, was hired by the All State front group.

Taylor had difficulty explaining to this column why All State's taxation committee should seek an attorney in Knoxville. He insisted his selection had nothing to do with Baker, denied that he had been hired to influence the Congressman, but acknowledged that he had spoken to Baker about the bill.

Whatever his services, they have been worth $25,874.85 to the taxation committee.

Stevenson Intervenes

Needing Democratic support, the committee also hired Adlai Stevenson's New York law firm, which has been paid $113,223.09. Stevenson personally persuaded Congressman Hale Boggs, Louisiana Democrat, to join in sponsoring the Baker bill.

Both Boggs and Baker, it should be added, have fine public records.

Stevenson left his law firm and gave up his legislative activities, of course, after he was appointed United Nations Ambassador.

The assignment was turned over to his associate, Adrian De Wind, who as a Congressional investigator helped to expose the tax scandals in the Truman Administration.

De Wind was brought to Washington in the 1940's by Stanley Surrey, now an Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, who is the Treasury Department's chief spokesman on tax matters.

This brings up another curious coincidence.

Surrey was selected by President-elect Kennedy in late 1960 to head a special task force on taxation. One of the four members Surrey invited to help him was De Wind.

Subsequently, the Treasury Department recommended the same tax measure for mutuals that De Wind has been lobbying for.

This column is convinced from careful investigation, however, that the task force did not deal with the subject of mutual casualty insurance. But after Surrey moved over to the Treasury Department, De Wind sought privately to influence him.

Surrey, a conscientious public servant, has assured this column that he based his final decision on a careful study of the merits.

It must have been gratifying for De Wind, however, that the decision helped the All State cause.

Final maneuvering: The House accepted the mutual provision with slight changes and sent it to the Senate for approval. To influence the Senators, All State was ready with another lobbyist—former Sen. James Kem, Missouri Republican, whose backslapping already has earned him $23,200.

Nikita Approves

The U.S. proposal for a direct telephone link between the White House and the Kremlin should get a friendly reception in Moscow. Premier Nikita Khrushchev privately approved of the idea nearly two years ago.

It was first suggested by Parade Magazine's enterprising editor, Jess Gorkin, who caught Khrushchev at a reception and wouldn't let go of his hand until he got a comment.

"I am in favor of a direct telephone line between the Kremlin and the White House to prevent accidental war," Khrushchev told Gorkin. "It is a good idea."

Several months later, the Soviet leader mentioned the Parade proposal to Drew Pearson in the bathhouse at Khrushchev's Black Sea refuge.

Pointing to a phone beside a lounge, Khrushchev cracked: "That's my direct line to the White House."

Then he acknowledged that a "hot phone" to the White House might be worth while to head off accidental war.

Note: The White House already has direct lines to British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, French President Charles de Gaulle, and German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Personal Postscript

I reported in a recent column that Lt. Gen. Arthur Trudeau's civilian superiors considered him a right-wing extremist. His friends have shown me evidence of his outspoken opposition to extremists of both the left and the right.

Although the general made no complaint, I want to apologize for misrepresenting his views. He is not only a vigorous anti-Communist, but a patriotic American.

JFK Ignores Own Doctrine For Wage Increases

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—In these days when "non-inflationary" means that it's all right for wage costs to go up but that it is sinful to increase prices, the latest move by the Administration to boost pay scales among government workers is just beginning to attract attention.

President Kennedy has asked Congress to increase the wages of government workers by about $1.1 billion a year in separate stages over a period of three years. This amounts to a 10.2 per cent increase from the present scale.

A comparable increase in the rates of private wages and salaries would cost private business about $23.5 billion a year.

The U. S. Civil Service Commission has issued a comparison of federal salaries with those in various occupations. It is based on a Department of Labor study of professional, administrative, technical and clerical pay.

Up to now private business in some instances has had a higher wage rate in the higher brackets of clerical employes, and the government has regularly maintained a better position in the lower brackets. Now, however, if government rates go up, private business will find itself confronted with the necessity of pushing up many of its wage and salary scales.

President Kennedy's bill provides that, even when the salaries of government workers and those in private business reach approximately the same level, there must be an annual survey and adjustment of federal salaries to keep them equal to or above the private level.

Fringe benefits provided by the government are at least as generous as and often better than those granted to salaried workers in industry. The government worker for example, is permitted to accumulate unused sick leave.

Under the proposed schedules, office boys who at present get $2,521 a year in government, as compared with $3,119 in private industry, would go up to $3,641. A chief personnel director in government who now gets $12,745 would go up to $15,285, as compared with $14,532 in private business. Nearly 41 per cent of the stenographers in private business in America will be getting less than the proposed government minimum. It means, therefore, an upward pressure on wage scales inside industry and business.

Now, the argument isn't whether these pay rates are justified in either case. If it be assumed that wage rates for white-collar workers are, generally speaking, too low, the question is how industry and business are to get the adidtional funds to pay for their increases. The federal government has it easy. It merely gets Congress to increase the debt limit when tax receipts aren't enough to pay for federal spending.

Private industry, however, can only raise its prices or go broke. This is what is sometimes described as a wage-price spiral. President Kennedy has called for "stability" in both wages and prices. But he seems to have ignored his own doctrine as he asks Congress to raise wage levels in government.

It will be argued that the government workers have been lagging behind and that all the Administration is trying to do is to "catch up." But that was precisely the language of the U. S. Steel Corporation as it recently called for a "partial catch-up" on its wage costs through a small price increase.

Those who may not realize how closely related government pay scales can be to private industry need only take note of a telegram just sent by 157 printing firms in Washington to President Kennedy and members of a committee in Congress. It reads as follows:

"Report of proposed 24 cents per hour increase to composing room employes at the Government Printing Office is shocking. This compares with average increase of 9.3 cents per hour for same craft in commercial contracts negotiated throughout the United States in the last six months. Such proposed increase of 6.8 per cent contradicts Administration policy of non-inflationary increases and would have nationwide impact."

For the past 14 years it has been customary for the Government Printing Office to use a weighted average of the union scales in 24 leading cities as compiled by the U. S. Department of Labor. But now the formula has been changed to include the higher rates of pay among night workers and the monetary value of fringe benefits. This puts the private printing establishment here on the spot and must inevitably result in increased prices to the public—unless the President steps in. Certainly there has been no consideration given to any "productivity" guidelines in this case.

The government's role in fixing wage costs is far reaching. Congress, which has the power to approve or disapprove the wage increases for government employes, is anxious to help the workers get better pay. The real point is whether Congress will help employers in private business to get higher prices, or whether the "profit squeeze" will continue to become more and more acute, thus forcing many marginal concerns out of business and leaving the field to the larger companies. Unemployment will thereby be increased.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

PATRIOTIC—Joe Cronin dropped in at the White House the other day in his capacity as president of the American League, to present President Kennedy with his season baseball pass.

It happened to be a day that the President had issued proclamations on "Loyalty Day," "Citizenship Day," "Constitution Week" and "Library Week." And there, on the presidential appointments list was: Joe Cronin, president of the American League.

A British correspondent covering the White House was somewhat bewildered and asked about the "American League." After he had learned all about major league baseball, the cricket-oriented Londoner confessed he'd been saved from a serious reportorial error.

He'd assumed all along that the "American League" was some kind of patriotic organization, like the Daughters of the American Revolution.

REVERTING TO TYPE—Word filtering back to Washington is that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower enjoys reminiscing about his days as supreme commander in Europe during World War II. He's more the "old soldier" than the ex-president and his words are liberally sprinkled with military jargon.

This is a sharp reversal from his behavior during his eight years in the White House when he made a conscious effort to push his military career into the background. He then wanted to be known primarily as a man of peace, not as a military leader steeped in the traditions of war.

One of the few times Mr. Eisenhower was observed slipping into military slang while he was president occurred at his cottage in Augusta, Ga., adjoining the famed golf club there. He was presenting a portrait to that golfing great, Bobby Jones, when he noted that the first lady was missing.

"Where's Mamie?" he asked. "Somebody find Mamie and tell her to fall into this formation."

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

There was no joy in Sea Bright. Jim Sullivan's joint had been closed tighter than a pawnbroker's heart. The Alcoholic Beverage Control group did it. A drunk had been served a drink. And drunks, under the rules, aren't supposed to get drinks, although how a drunk can do it without drinks beats me. Anyway, it tossed Sully out of business for two weeks, put Bill and Emmet on the breadlines, and placed two mynah birds, Willie and Silky, on unemployment insurance.

Sullivan drew up a sign for his front window. "Gone," it read, "on Retreat." The birds, who seldom drink, were tossed squawking in their cages on the back seat of a car. "What's up, Doc?" Silky said. "Oh," said Willie, "are you a talking bird?" The day and night bartenders went back to their racing forms, picking nags who always come in fourth, and James The Last went back to bed with his black cigar and his newspapers.

It was a situation best described as dreadful. A man named William Howe Davis — I wonder if he ever had a skinful?—found Sullivan guilty. The charge is a model of succinctness:

"On Wednesday night, October 4, 1961, you sold, served and delivered and allowed, permitted and suffered the sale, service and delivery of alcoholic beverages, directly or indirectly, to a person actually or apparently intoxicated and allowed, permitted and suffered the consumption of such beverages by such person in and upon your licensed premises: in violation of Rule 1 of State Regulation No. 20."

What happened was that two secret agents of A.B.C. posed as customers. They waited around, looking for a violation, but acting like jolly customers who would like another drink. "At about 10:30 p.m." the report says, "they observed a male enter the said premises and he appeared to be intoxicated. He swayed and staggered as he walked to a seat at the northeast corner of the bar. He was served a scotch and soda by the bartender, and paid 60 cents therefor, with a dollar bill, and was given 40 cents change . . ." It doesn't sound like Sullivan's.

The agents said the drunk went to the phone booth and tried several times to dial a number. The fact that Sullivan's didn't have a dial phone at the time is of small moment. The point is that the was "apparently drunk" and he was served, not one, but two scotches. The agents confiscated the second one without paying the man.

The A.B.C. then called a local policeman, John Keenan. The agents asked Keenan to give the customer a sobriety test. Keenan, who knows his business, refused because the customer was not driving a car, causing a commotion or breaking a law. At the hearing, Keenan testified that, in his opinion, the customer was not drunk. An insurance broker said he saw the whole thing and the customer was not drunk. A lady said she saw it, and the customer was not drunk. The bartender also swore that the man was not drunk.

Still, William Howe Davis, who sat in judgment on the case, says: "It is well established that whether a man is sober or intoxicated is a matter of common observation, not requiring any special knowledge or skill." I do not believe this. I'm a non-drinker and I often clown and have fun in saloons. Would Davis accept the word of secret agents that, because I acted silly, I was drunk?

Any saloonkeeper is fair game for any agent. Any politician can ask the A.B.C. in any state to check up on any tavern. And please show me a place where you will not find an intoxicated person. Does Davis think the public goes to these places to conduct prayer meetings? They go to drink. A bartender is going to need a degree in psychiatry if he is expected to spot the drunks before they get drunk.

Once I wrote a book on alcoholism. It was called The Glass Crutch and it was endorsed by the American Psychiatric Association. I am opposed to drunkenness as the A.B.C. Maybe more so, because if drinking goes out of style, Mr. Davis and the secret agents will be out of work. I find myself on the side of the A.B.C., but opposed to the method of checking the saloonkeeper.

In some states, some A.B.C. agents are shakedown men. In others, they spotcheck only the tavern keepers they don't like. In New Jersey, Senator Anthony J. Grossi wants to investigate the A.B.C. and make the rules equitable for all. In any agency, state or federal, where the accused is not permitted to know the name of his accusers, the agency is open to arrogance and graft.

In this case, I feel no sorrow for Sullivan. He's loaded. When he shoots pool, he's the only man I know who has to dim his diamonds before he makes his shot. No, my pity goes to the mynah birds. For two weeks they saw nothing but daylight and it nearly blinded them . . .

High Rate Of Drug Addiction In Hong Kong

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Hong Kong is said to have the highest incidence of drug addiction in the world. There are 200,000 addicts in a population of 8 million and it is estimated that they spend 50 million dollars a year on heroin and opium. Hong Kong is a free port and the freedom of movement is exploited by international traffickers in narcotics.

Sixty per cent of all prisoners are convicted on drug charges. To meet this problem, authorities established a special prison for the rehabilitation of addicts, located 16 miles from Kowloon. The majority of the 680 inmates are between 20 and 40 years of age. Twenty per cent have tuberculosis.

The prison authorities hope to rid the prisoners of their addiction and restore them to good physical and mental health. They are encouraged to work out of doors on afforestation and flood control.

The majority gain 12 to 16 pounds and, during the first year of the prison's establishment, only 65 were reconvicted. Let's hope they do a better job than we do with our addicts.

There are many objections to noise but the following may be serious, at least to laboratory rats. When a group of 10 mating couples were exposed to noise for 16 to 18 days, their fertility rate was reduced from 80 to 5.7 per cent.

Even a four day exposure to auditory stimuli reduced the fertility rate from 70 to 7.1 per cent.

Noise also had an adverse effect on pregnancy. Only one pregnancy occurred when the 20 rats were subjected to noise from the eighth to the 10th day after mating. On the other hand, there were 16 pregnancies (with 125 offspring) among an equal number of rats living in quiet surroundings.

The reason rats behave in this way is not known. But, what is more important, is whether there is a correlation between rat and man in the reaction to noise, so far as concerns fertility.

OVERSTRETCHED TISSUES

C. S. writes: My husband has had six hernia operations. He is due for another in the spring. Is there any chance the seventh will hold?

REPLY

Yes, but the success of a hernia operation depends upon the quality of the tissues that surround the protusion. The stitches will not hold if the tissues are overstretched and lack a good framework. Many surgeons graft tough fibrous strips or insert a special metal mesh into the wound when previous operations have failed to correct the hernia.

FUNGAL INFECTION

H. L. writes: Can a person have histoplasmosis for a number of years and not know it?

REPLY

Yes. Lesions in the lungs seldom cause symptoms, excepting those resembling a common cold. Infections beginning in the mouth, throat, vocal cords, and ears lead to ulceration and enlargement of the lymph glands. The causative agent is a fungus.

INTESTINAL PROBLEMS

E. G. writes: Does pain, looseness of the bowl, and passing of blood mean ulcer in the intestine?

REPLY

Dysentery usually indicates a disorder of the bowl, including ulcerative colitis. X-rays and stool tests should be done. A protoscopic examination will be needed to determine whether ulcers are present.

DOESN'T BURN FOOD

R. K. writes: Why does a person gain weight when the thyroid becomes sluggish?

REPLY

Because too much of the food he eats is stored and too little is utilized for energy.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Herb Stein tells about a bartender, in the country for a day off, who encountered a grasshopper in a field. "Do you know," inquired the bartender respectfully, "that a very popular drink has been named after you?"

"Golly," nodded the grasshopper, obviously impressed. "Who could have dreamed there'd be a drink named Leonard!"

Memorable lines attributed to Stephen Leacock, the great Canadian humorist:

1. There is only one beautiful child in the world, and every mother has it.

2. Many a man in love with a dimple makes the mistake of marrying the whole girl.

3. A friend is a man who has the same enemies you have.

4. Many college graduates need that sheepskin they get to cover their intellectual nakedness.

A. W. Stinson defines childhood as "that wonderful age when all you had to do to lose weight was to take a bath."

Opening lead: Jack of ♦

Today's hand appeared to be a veritable laydown until declarer tested the trump suit. When he received the bad news, he found that all his resources and skill were required to overcome the effects of nature's ill-will.

The bidding was quite sound and, against the four heart contract, West led the jack of diamonds from his sequence. All hands ducked and the suit was continued, declarer ruffing in his hand. South observed that, if trumps broke and he could pick up the queen of clubs, the hand would produce 12 tricks. When he cashed the king of hearts and East answered the call with a small diamond, declarer was obliged to make a drastic revision of his original estimate.

It now appeared that West held two sure trump tricks and, if the club finesse failed, the contract itself was endangered. Rather than risk everything on the 50-50 chance of a finesse, South decided to cast around for some other prospect first.

He therefore cashed three rounds of spades, ending up in dummy. This involved no risk, for if West ruffed it would be with a natural trump trick. When everyone followed, South ruffed away the dummy's last diamond. A club was now led to the ace, and another club was returned from the closed hand.

When West followed to the second round, South decided to abandon the club finesse, for he could now see a sure fire end play in the offing, regardless of who held the queen of clubs. He put up the king from dummy and continued with the jack. East was in with the queen of clubs. He returned a diamond and declarer discarded his last club. West was forced to ruff in with the jack of hearts in order to top the dummy's ten and now, with only the queen and nine of hearts left in his hand, he was obliged to surrender the last two tricks to South.

If West had held the queen of clubs, he would have been forced to lead away from his queen-jack-nine of trumps, permitting declarer to win with both the ace and ten of hearts.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'll put it in blunt language. I have outgrown my wife.

She was all right 16 years ago when I was a country rube from Grant Island, Nebraska. But I've come a long way since then and she is still back in Grand Island—mentally, that is.

We have no children and I don't know what she does with her time. She never reads a book or the editorial page of a newspaper. Her idea of current events or world affairs is what's happening with Liz and Eddie. She bores me with her back-fence gossip.

I travel a lot in my work and have lunches and dinners with sophisticated, good-looking department store buyers. One very attractive young divorcee pointed out that when a person outgrows his shoes he throws them away. Life is too short to hang on to things which no longer have meaning. How about it?—WES

DEAR WES: How charming of the woman to compare your wife to an old pair of shoes. And how noble of you to let her get away with it.

If you think your wife is provincial why don't you take her along on some of your trips and help her, instead of discussing her failings with outsiders?

And no cracks, please about Grand Island, Nebraska. The small towns of America have produced some of our most illustrious names.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Don't tell me I'm crazy. I know it. Any woman who would allow an engagement to drag for 11 years would have to be nuts. What I want to know is whether or not I should make this heel pay through the pocketbook.

I was 23 when John and I met. It was love at first sight. He had looks, family background, a promising future and charm to burn. We were engaged in 1951. Don't ask me why we never married. I don't know the answer.

Four months ago he hired a new secretary — a sloe-eyed, shapely brunet, of 23. After she had worked there only a week John said she was the most efficient girl he'd ever seen. I heard whispers but thought it was just gossip.

Last week John told me our romance had simply worn itself out. He is going to marry this girl.

Shall I sue him for breach of promise? He has plenty of money and I have nothing but—

A BROKEN HEART

DEAR BROKEN HEART: Breach of promise suits are outlawed in many states. And even where they aren't outlawed, I do not support such action.

You went with this man for 11 years of your own volition. You were a fool.

If money can mend your broken heart you have a most unusual ticker. What you REALLY need is a repair man from National Cash Register.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We moved into this house four months ago. My wife and I are quiet, mind-your-own business types and we don't fool much with neighbors. In all our years we have never had trouble with anybody and we don't want trouble now.

The family next door includes a couple of boys who bounce a basketball on the side of our house until it drives us crazy. They also have a dog that barks all day and half the night. If we could do something about that basketball I think we could stand the dog.

I've always heard that when you complain to neighbors about their kids or dogs it never gets better. It always gets worse. What's your advice?

—HEADACHE

DEAR HEADACHE: Don't complain. ASK them if you can help put up a basketball hoop on THEIR garage, or on the side of their house. As for the dog, maybe wax earplugs will help.

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "gets dull," send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Sunday School Sets Record In Attendance

FROSTBURG — The Sunday School of Trinity Assembly of God Church, Midlothian broke all past attendance records on Easter with 580 present.

A seven-Sunday loyalty campaign is slated to last from Easter Sunday to Pentecost Sunday, which is 50 days or 7 weeks. The goal of the loyalty campaign is to promote faithful attendance in the Sunday School by those who came for Easter Sunday.

During these seven weeks each of the six departments of Trinity Assembly's Sunday School will compute their percentage increase over their March, 1962 monthly average attendance and will make a call to the Highway Tabernacle in Youngstown, Ohio (whose Sunday School is comparable numerically) to see which departments has the greater percentage of increase, thus determining which school wins for each day.

During the seven weeks the theme word will be "Come." The theme this week is "Come With One." The Sunday School superintendent is Frank N. Willetts.

Hubert Booth of London invented the vacuum cleaner about 1901.

Firemen Answer Brush Fire Calls

FROSTBURG — Frostburg firemen have answered five fire calls within the past week for grass and brush fires, all of them outside city limits.

A spokesman for the Fire Department has issued an appeal for persons to use more caution in burning brush and debris. He said the company wants to render service to others but that when it is unnecessary and 30 or more men answer the alarms it means a great sacrifice on their part.

Also, he said, much valuable equipment is taken out of town and in case a fire should occur in a building while the equipment is out of town there could be a great property loss.

Sunday School Sets Record In Attendance

FROSTBURG — The Sunday School of Trinity Assembly of God Church, Midlothian broke all past attendance records on Easter with 580 present.

A seven-Sunday loyalty campaign is slated to last from Easter Sunday to Pentecost Sunday, which is 50 days or 7 weeks. The goal of the loyalty campaign is to promote faithful attendance in the Sunday School by those who came for Easter Sunday.

During these seven weeks each of the six departments of Trinity Assembly's Sunday School will compute their percentage increase over their March, 1962 monthly average attendance and will make a call to the Highway Tabernacle in Youngstown, Ohio (whose Sunday School is comparable numerically) to see which departments has the greater percentage of increase, thus determining which school wins for each day.

During the seven weeks the theme word will be "Come." The theme this week is "Come With One." The Sunday School superintendent is Frank N. Willetts.

Firemen Answer Brush Fire Calls

FROSTBURG — Frostburg firemen have answered five fire calls within the past week for grass and brush fires, all of them outside city limits.

A spokesman for the Fire Department has issued an appeal for persons to use more caution in burning brush and debris. He said the company wants to render service to others but that when it is unnecessary and 30 or more men answer the alarms it means a great sacrifice on their part.

Also, he said, much valuable equipment is taken out of town and in case a fire should occur in a building while the equipment is out of town there could be a great property loss.

FFA Completes Park Project At Moorefield

George Judy Ours Banquet Speaker

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — Walter Wratchford, president of the Moorefield Chapter, Future Farmers of America, presented Mayor W. D. Grafton with completed plans for the Town Roadside Park on US 220 just south of Moorefield. The FFA members inaugurated the idea for a town park and have worked since 1958 in completing the park.

The land was deeded by the Halterman heirs of Petersburg to the Town of Moorefield for 50 years.

T. D. Gray, landscape architect at West Virginia University drew up the plans for the park. Elvin Riggleman donated earth moving equipment and Roy Hamilton with the Soil Conservation Service assisted in planning a small lake, seeding the plot and stocking the lake with fish. The FFA members furnished all the labor for the project.

The presentation was made at the annual FFA banquet at Moorefield High School dining room. George Judy Ours, cashier of the South Branch Valley National Bank was guest speaker. Mr. Ours told the FFA members that agriculture is the leading industry in West Virginia and bankers everywhere are willing to assist and help farmers. Ours said that banks are particularly interested in young farmers and that FFA members are the best representatives of farm youth.

The parents were introduced by the sons in the organization. C. B. Hiett, advisor for the group presented awards earned by members of FFA. The FFA organization was explained by Kenneth Shanholtz and objectives for the coming year were presented by Paul Wilt. Walter Wratchford, winner of the American Legion Oratorical Contest and a scholarship, delivered his speech.

In the report for the year's activities of the group it was revealed that the total returns on FFA enterprises were $35,571.89 and that the average labor income per student was $288.22. A project with 34,000 broilers showed a net profit of $1,099.32.

Other enterprises consisted of 128 ewes, 23 feeder lambs, 26 cows, 34 fat hogs, beef cattle, dairy cows, laying hens, alfalfa, corn, potatoes, garden, strawberries and barley. A total of 127 farm and home projects were completed. The Vo-ag enrollment this year consists of 52, with the highest freshman enrollment in history of 33.

The FFA members will have teams this year in nine contests at the annual Field Day at Reymann Memorial Farms, May 7.

Scribe Discusses Barron-Brown Association In West Virginia Politics

Editor's Note: Bonn Brown of Elkins, although holding no official position in state government, is widely reputed to be the most powerful man in the administration, after Gov. W. W. Barron. The following is the first of three dispatches disclosing the Barron-Brown association, how Brown wields his authority and Brown's background and view on state government.

By DONALD F. FANNIN

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— Gov. W. W. Barron has many close advisers but only one appears to stand out above the others — although he holds no official position and is not a member of any board or policy-making agency.

He is Bonn Brown, Elkins attorney and long a close friend and business associate of the governor.

It's often asked here: Who is Bonn Brown, this man whose mere presence at the statehouse stirs up an air of expectancy among employes and department heads alike?

Brown identifies himself as "a close associate of Governor Barron, a personal friend, and have been so since our childhood days in Elkins."

"The governor has been associated with my law firm since 1941 and still has an office there," Brown said. "No, he is not a partner. I have no partners as such."

Work Together

Brown, born in June, 1911, is six months older than Barron. They knew one another as youngsters until Barron's father, a Presbyterian minister, moved his family to Charleston. The Barrons returned to Elkins in 1936 a couple of years after Brown received his law degree from West Virginia University and set up his practice in Elkins with Barron joining him later.

"We have both always been active in government and the Democratic Party," Brown said. "For various reasons there was more or less an agreement that he would seek political office and we would work together with myself in a managerial capacity. I have always worked in his behalf."

Barron's first venture into public service came when he was elected mayor of Elkins in 1949. From that point, he rose in fast succession to terms in the House of Delegates starting in 1950, and in 1953 was appointed to the State Liquor Commission by former Gov. William C. Marland who subsequently fired him in an action that was never publicly explained.

In 1956, Barron was nominated for state attorney general and won in the general election. "It was during this period that the governor's close association with his present administrative assistant Curtis Trent began," Brown said. "Trent was an assistant attorney general then and became a very active member of the Barron team."

Started In Early '50s

"The governorship was the objective from the outset," Brown said. "Our efforts have been deliberate. The governor developed ideas as Elkins mayor which over the years were refined and broadened to become parts of his program as governor."

Brown said the actual drive for the governorship began during Barron's days with the Liquor Commission.

This long planning and development of a team had to be done over a period of years.

"In the governor's success in 1960, I would say this teamwork was the vital factor in both the primary and general elections," Brown said, "more so than the public issues which had been broadened from the governor's days as mayor.

And Brown has remained "very close" to the Barron administration if not an official part of it. "I had offers of positions," he said, "but quite frankly, I didn't want them.

"If I had taken an administrative post, I would not have been in the position that I am in as a private citizen to advise the governor with complete freedom

"I also do not have the time to be away from my practice and my family that would be demanded by a full-time administrative post."

Frostburg State Cops Series Opener From Potomac State, 10-6

Bobcats Post Fifth Victory Of Campaign

Broadwater Clouts 3-Run Homer; Win Goes To Hurvitz

Frostburg State Teachers College drew first blood in its annual baseball series with Potomac State College by defeating the Catamounts yesterday at Keyser by the score of 10-6.

The victory was the fourth in the last five outings for Coach Harold Cordts' Bobcats who are now 5-2 for the season.

Frostburg broke a 2-2 deadlock with a five-run explosion in the fifth inning and sewed up the decision with a three-run rally in the ninth after the home team had pulled up one run behind at 7-6.

Nine of the thirteen hits credited to the teams went for extra bases—four doubles, two triples and three home runs—and 20 bases on balls were issued by the pitchers.

The win went to Don Hurvitz, who tired in the sixth inning, and gave way to Ronnie Evans who limited the Catamounts to two safeties in the last 3⅔ frames. Dick Rawlings, the first of four Potomac State hurlers, was tagged with the loss.

Ronnie Broadwater, Frostburg right fielder, belted a three-run homer in the 5th while Stanley Kolodziejski and Mike Stellabotte had solo circuit clouts for the losers.

Four of Frostburg's eight blows were shared by Hank Winner and John Nussear and Pete Fishback garnered two safeties for Potomac State. Nussear, Winner and Don Nave rapped two-baggers and Tom Smoot and Ronnie Mann larruped triples for the Bobcats.

Mets Acquire Taylor From Chicago Cubs

New York Also Picks Up Chiti, Hillman

NEW YORK (UPI)—The floundering New York Mets, who need major league players in any able-bodied form, Thursday took discontented catcher Sammy Taylor off the Chicago Cubs' hands in a trade for outfielder Bobby Gene Smith.

Earlier Thursday, the Mets purchased catcher Harry Chiti from the Cleveland Indians and pitcher Dave Hillman from the Syracuse Chiefs of the International League. To make room for them, the Mets released pitcher Clem Labine and catcher Joe Ginsberg.

The 29-year-old Taylor, starting his fifth season in the majors, quit the Cubs in a huff last Tuesday in an argument over money. Charging the Cubs were not paying him enough so that he could live comfortably in Chicago, he returned to his home in Woodruf, S.C.

Smith, who will be 28 next month, is rated a good - field, weak - hit outfielder, although he batted a respectable .286 for the Philadelphia Phillies in 1960. He is one of the players selected by the Mets last October in the National League stocking program for the two new clubs.

The addition of Taylor and Chiti within 24 hours gave the last-place Mets four catchers. The other two are Hobie Landrith and Chris Cannizzarro.

Stengel's catchers have made only five hits in 38 times at bat, all singles. Four of these hits were collected by Landrith.

Taylor is rated a fair hitter, although his lifetime major league average is only .250. A left-handed swinger, he hit 13 home runs for the Cubs in 1959. He is not regarded as an especially strong thrower, however.

Tigers Rally To Beat A's In Slugfest, 11-7

Detroit Gets Seven Runs In 7th Inning

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers, with Vic Wertz and Bubba Morton supplying timely pinch hits, crashed through for seven runs in the seventh inning Thursday and beat the Kansas City Athletics 11-7 in a home run marathon.

Wertz's single tied the score 7-7 after the Tigers entered the inning behind 7-4 and appeared stopped by Dave Wickersham's relief pitching.

Morton followed by slicing a triple that broke the tie and chased in two runs. Dick Brown's double and Jake Wood's second single of the inning added the last two Tiger runs.

The Tigers started their comeback on Al Kaline's two-run homer, last of five in the contest. They sent 11 batters up in the big inning and seven hit safely.

The victory went to Hank Aguirre, last of three Detroit hurlers. He held the A's to one hit over the last four innings. Bob Grim, third of four Kansas City pitchers, lost.

Tribe Defeats Angels, 6 To 4

Rookie McDowell Scores First Win

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Willie Kirkland drove in the deciding runs with a seventh-inning single and Sam McDowell scored his first major league pitching victory Thursday as the first place Cleveland Indians came from behind to defeat the Los Angeles Angels 6-4.

McDowell, 19, a left-hander, relieved starter Gary Bell in the third inning and retired 12 men in order before walking Leon Wagner and Steve Bilko in the seventh. Barry Latman then replaced McDowell and set the Angels down on two hits the rest of the way.

The Indians, trailing 4-3 after six, loaded the bases with none out in the seventh on three walks, two by Ryne Duren and one by Joe Nuxhall. Kirkland, who hadn't had a hit in nine at-bats, followed with his decisive single. A single by Woody Held brought in another run.

Ridan Romps To 4-Length Win In Blue Grass Stakes

Decidedly Second In $33,200 Event At Keeneland Track

LEXINGTON, Ky., (AP) — Favored Ridan sped to victory Thursday in the $33,200 Blue Grass Stakes and headed toward a challenge by Sir Gaylord in the Kentucky Derby.

The fleet Nantallah colt, owned by Mrs. Moody Jolley, was paced expertly by jockey Manuel Ycaza through the 1⅛ miles at Keeneland race course to win going away, four lengths ahead of Decidedly.

Roman Line was third in the nine-horse field of classy 3-year-old Derby eligibles.

Continues To Run

Ridan ran the distance in 1 minute 47 35, one-fifth second off the track record set by Round Table in 1957. He continued running and was timed for the Derby distance of a mile and a quarter in 2:01.

Ridan showed stamina as well as known speed as he lay back for the first half of the race after being first out of the gate. Then started his coming up fast on the outside in the bend.

Ridan, the betting favorite, paid $3.80, $3.00, and $2.80. Decidedly returned $4.40 and $3.20 while Roman Line, paid $3.40.

Mrs. Jolley picked up a gold julep cup from Duvall Headley, president of Keeneland, and Ridan got the winner's $21,580 to boost his total earnings to $446,534.

Ridan, who lost out to Crimson Satan for 2-year-old honors last year despite being undefeated, has been beaten twice by Sir Gaylord in Florida racing this year. He was second in the Bahamas Stakes and third, set back to fourth for bumping, in the Everglades.

Sir Gaylord was not in the Blue Grass. He'll prep for the May 5 Derby in the 7-furlong Stepping Stone Purse at Churchill Downs in Louisville Saturday.

In running the Derby distance in 2:01, Ridan was two-fifths of a second faster than the Derby record, set in 1941 by Whirlaway.

He carried Derby weight of 126 pounds.

Black Beard finished fourth and Crimson Satan, who challenged briefly in the stretch but faded, was fifth.

Horse Trainer Is Suspended

Arthur's Madok Found Drugged

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Laurel stewards suspended Thursday a jockey on suspicion of having a battery the day he rode a winning horse. The trainer of another horse also was suspended, he on charges of drugging another winner.

The indefinite suspensions will continue until hearings are held by the Maryland Racing Commission.

Jockey Edward McIvor, 35, of Baltimore was set down because a palm-sized battery was found after his horse, Rapid Rise, left the starting gate Wednesday. Rapid Rise won and paid $36 for $2.

Trainer Vernon A. Arthur of Laurel was suspended after a test showed the presence of a drug in Madok, a winner on Tuesday. Madok, owned by Cleveland Skinker of Washington, went off the favorite.

FFA Completes Park Project At Moorefield

George Judy Ours Banquet Speaker

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — Walter Wratchford, president of the Moorefield Chapter, Future Farmers of America, presented Mayor W. D. Grafton with completed plans for the Town Roadside Park on US 220 just south of Moorefield. The FFA members inaugurated the idea for a town park and have worked since 1958 in completing the park.

The land was deeded by the Halterman heirs of Petersburg to the Town of Moorefield for 50 years.

T. D. Gray, landscape architect at West Virginia University drew up the plans for the park. Elvin Riggleman donated earth moving equipment and Roy Hamilton with the Soil Conservation Service assisted in planning a small lake, seeding the plot and stocking the lake with fish. The FFA members furnished all the labor for the project.

The presentation was made at the annual FFA banquet at Moorefield High School dining room. George Judy Ours, cashier of the South Branch Valley National Bank was guest speaker. Mr. Ours told the FFA members that agriculture is the leading industry in West Virginia and bankers everywhere are willing to assist and help farmers. Ours said that banks are particularly interested in young farmers and that FFA members are the best representatives of farm youth.

The parents were introduced by the sons in the organization. C. B. Hiett, advisor for the group presented awards earned by members of FFA. The FFA organization was explained by Kenneth Shanholtz and objectives for the coming year were presented by Paul Wilt. Walter Wratchford, winner of the American Legion Oratorical Contest and a scholarship, delivered his speech.

In the report for the year's activities of the group it was revealed that the total returns on FFA enterprises were $35,571.89 and that the average labor income per student was $288.22. A project with 34,000 broilers showed a net profit of $1,099.32.

Other enterprises consisted of 128 ewes, 23 feeder lambs, 26 cows, 34 fat hogs, beef cattle, dairy cows, laying hens, alfalfa, corn, potatoes, garden, strawberries and barley. A total of 127 farm and home projects were completed. The Vo-ag enrollment this year consists of 52, with the highest freshman enrollment in history of 33.

The FFA members will have teams this year in nine contests at the annual Field Day at Reymann Memorial Farms, May 7.

Scribe Discusses Barron-Brown Association In West Virginia Politics

Editor's Note: Bonn Brown of Elkins, although holding no official position in state government, is widely reputed to be the most powerful man in the administration, after Gov. W. W. Barron. The following is the first of three dispatches disclosing the Barron-Brown association, how Brown wields his authority and Brown's background and view on state government.

By DONALD F. FANNIN

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— Gov. W. W. Barron has many close advisers but only one appears to stand out above the others — although he holds no official position and is not a member of any board or policy-making agency.

He is Bonn Brown, Elkins attorney and long a close friend and business associate of the governor.

It's often asked here: Who is Bonn Brown, this man whose mere presence at the statehouse stirs up an air of expectancy among employes and department heads alike?

Brown identifies himself as "a close associate of Governor Barron, a personal friend, and have been so since our childhood days in Elkins."

"The governor has been associated with my law firm since 1941 and still has an office there," Brown said. "No, he is not a partner. I have no partners as such."

Work Together

Brown, born in June, 1911, is six months older than Barron. They knew one another as youngsters until Barron's father, a Presbyterian minister, moved his family to Charleston. The Barrons returned to Elkins in 1936 a couple of years after Brown received his law degree from West Virginia University and set up his practice in Elkins with Barron joining him later.

"We have both always been active in government and the Democratic Party," Brown said. "For various reasons there was more or less an agreement that he would seek political office and we would work together with myself in a managerial capacity. I have always worked in his behalf."

Barron's first venture into public service came when he was elected mayor of Elkins in 1949. From that point, he rose in fast succession to terms in the House of Delegates starting in 1950, and in 1953 was appointed to the State Liquor Commission by former Gov. William C. Marland who subsequently fired him in an action that was never publicly explained.

In 1956, Barron was nominated for state attorney general and won in the general election. "It was during this period that the governor's close association with his present administrative assistant Curtis Trent began," Brown said. "Trent was an assistant attorney general then and became a very active member of the Barron team."

Started In Early '50s

"The governorship was the objective from the outset," Brown said. "Our efforts have been deliberate. The governor developed ideas as Elkins mayor which over the years were refined and broadened to become parts of his program as governor."

Brown said the actual drive for the governorship began during Barron's days with the Liquor Commission.

This long planning and development of a team had to be done over a period of years.

"In the governor's success in 1960, I would say this teamwork was the vital factor in both the primary and general elections," Brown said, "more so than the public issues which had been broadened from the governor's days as mayor.

And Brown has remained "very close" to the Barron administration if not an official part of it. "I had offers of positions," he said, "but quite frankly, I didn't want them.

"If I had taken an administrative post, I would not have been in the position that I am in as a private citizen to advise the governor with complete freedom

"I also do not have the time to be away from my practice and my family that would be demanded by a full-time administrative post."

Barton's Braves defeated Franklin, 8-5, Midland's Old Exports downed the Gilmore Old Germans, 10-4, and Keyser won over Zihlman, 9-3, in the opening game of the Twilight Baseball League season played yesterday at Barton, Midland and Zihlman.

The games were scheduled for seven innings but all were shortened as a result of darkness.

Barton's five-times pennant winners scored all of their eight runs in the first four innings against Franklin and racked up a total of 15 hits. Lou Fazenbaker, a 12-game winner for the Braves last season, pitched the first four innings and gave way to Jim Wilson after leading 8-0. Mike Muir supplanted Wilson in the 6th when Franklin rallied for five runs, three coming in on Junior Metz's base-cleaning double.

Kip Montgomery went the route for Franklin. Fazenbaker struck out eight.

Johnny Johnson paced the Barton attack with a triple and three singles and Ed Warnick, Jim Wilson, Sonny Metz and Mike Muir had two blows each. Bill Bennett and Junior Metz rapped doubles for the losers.

Paul "Bubbles" Thompson tossed a five-hitter and whiffed eight in hurling Midland to victory over Gilmore.

Tommy Dunn had four RBI's for Midland on a two-run triple and a two-run double. "Moose" Arnone also smacked a triple and two-bagger, George Miller connected for a double and single and Fay Often slugged a home run in the second inning. Manager Charley Winters, of Gilmore, obtained two of his team's five hits. Kenny McCormick was the losing pitcher.

Shortstop Gary Keedy slammed a homer, triple and double to pace Keyser's 12-hit assault on two Zihlman hurlers. Pezzanite collected two doubles and Melody had two singles for the winners.

Ryan, Keyser pitcher, yielded only five hits, including doubles by Bobby Deffenbaugh, "Butch" Smith and Jim Haupt.

Pat Folk, who started on the mound for Zihlman, absorbed the loss.

The Lonaconing at Westernport games was postponed by mutual agreement and Cumberland drew a bye on opening day.

Terry Wilt held Hyndman to three hits to gain his second win over the Hornets whom he defeated 6-4 on April 10. Wilt struck out eight and didn't issue a pass.

Dave Williams paced the Everett attack with a three-run homer in the fourth. Smith contributed three singles while Wilt smacked a three-bagger.

Howard Clites absorbed the loss, his third, for Hyndman. The Hornets will host Tussey Mountain High on Tuesday in their next league encounter. The lineups:

Twins Edge Birds, 3-2

Pascual Is Victor Over Skinny Brown

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Timely hitting by Minnesota's Bob Allison and winning pitcher Camilo Pascual, combined with faulty fielding by Baltimore's Jim Gentile, led the Twins to a 3-2 victory over the Orioles Thursday night.

The Twins scored two unearned runs in the second inning. Harmon Killebrew led off with a pop fly that was dropped by first baseman Gentile for a two-base error. Allison scored Killebrew with a single. Allison went to second on Earl Battey's single and scored, with two out, when Pascual singled.

Baltimore snapped back with a run in the second inning on starting and losing pitcher Skinny Brown's two-out RBI single, scoring Jackie Brandt, who had singled.

Minnesota upped its lead to 3-1 in the fourth inning when Allison singled, advanced to third on a ground out and fly and scored the decisive run on rookie second baseman Jim Snyder's single. For Snyder, filling in for influenza case Bernie Allen, it was his first major league hit.

Dodgers Belt Shaky Cubs

Hit Four Homers In 12-5 Contest

CHICAGO (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers uncorked four homers, two of them in succession by Willie Davis, to blast the shaky Chicago Cubs 12-5 Thursday. The Cubs made six errors.

Davis, who had singled in the fourth inning, followed with solo homers in the sixth and seventh to run his total to five for the campaign.

Frank Howard's homer—his second of the season—was good for two runs in a three-run fifth. His single in the fourth inning was one of five hits in that frame and accounted for one of the four runs scored.

Shave And Collins Share Texas Open Lead With 66s

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Young Bob Shave Jr. and veteran Bill Collins finished early and late with five-under-par 66s Thursday to share the first round lead in the $30,000 Texas Open.

They took the lead from Arnold Palmer, the defending champion and favorite, and three others, who had wound up with 67s.

Shave, the 25-year-old pro from Willoughby, Ohio, had 33-33—66 over the 6,616-yard Oak Hills Country Club course and he attributed it to a new mallet head putter which he tried for the first time in a tournament.

Collins, the big fellow from Miami, had 34-32 and lamented a missed short put that would have given him the undisputed lead.

Frostburg State Cops Series Opener From Potomac State, 10-6

Bobcats Post Fifth Victory Of Campaign

Broadwater Clouts 3-Run Homer; Win Goes To Hurvitz

Frostburg State Teachers College drew first blood in its annual baseball series with Potomac State College by defeating the Catamounts yesterday at Keyser by the score of 10-6.

The victory was the fourth in the last five outings for Coach Harold Cordts' Bobcats who are now 5-2 for the season.

Frostburg broke a 2-2 deadlock with a five-run explosion in the fifth inning and sewed up the decision with a three-run rally in the ninth after the home team had pulled up one run behind at 7-6.

Nine of the thirteen hits credited to the teams went for extra bases—four doubles, two triples and three home runs—and 20 bases on balls were issued by the pitchers.

The win went to Don Hurvitz, who tired in the sixth inning, and gave way to Ronnie Evans who limited the Catamounts to two safeties in the last 3⅔ frames. Dick Rawlings, the first of four Potomac State hurlers, was tagged with the loss.

Ronnie Broadwater, Frostburg right fielder, belted a three-run homer in the 5th while Stanley Kolodziejski and Mike Stellabotte had solo circuit clouts for the losers.

Four of Frostburg's eight blows were shared by Hank Winner and John Nussear and Pete Fishback garnered two safeties for Potomac State. Nussear, Winner and Don Nave rapped two-baggers and Tom Smoot and Ronnie Mann larruped triples for the Bobcats.

Frostburg's next engagement is with Shepherd College Monday at Shepherdstown while Potomac State plays Baltimore Junior College in a twin bill tomorrow at 1 p. m., at Keyser.

Horse Trainer Is Suspended

Arthur's Madok Found Drugged

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Laurel stewards suspended Thursday a jockey on suspicion of having a battery the day he rode a winning horse. The trainer of another horse also was suspended, he on charges of drugging another winner.

The indefinite suspensions will continue until hearings are held by the Maryland Racing Commission.

Trainer Vernon A. Arthur of Laurel was suspended after a test showed the presence of a drug in Madok, a winner on Tuesday. Madok, owned by Cleveland Skinker of Washington, went off the favorite.

Mets Acquire Taylor From Chicago Cubs

New York Also Picks Up Chiti, Hillman

NEW YORK (UPI)—The floundering New York Mets, who need major league players in any able-bodied form, Thursday took discontented catcher Sammy Taylor off the Chicago Cubs' hands in a trade for outfielder Bobby Gene Smith.

Earlier Thursday, the Mets purchased catcher Harry Chiti from the Cleveland Indians and pitcher Dave Hillman from the Syracuse Chiefs of the International League. To make room for them, the Mets released pitcher Clem Labine and catcher Joe Ginsberg.

The 29-year-old Taylor, starting his fifth season in the majors, quit the Cubs in a huff last Tuesday in an argument over money. Charging the Cubs were not paying him enough so that he could live comfortably in Chicago, he returned to his home in Woodruf, S.C.

Smith, who will be 28 next month, is rated a good - field, weak - hit outfielder, although he batted a respectable .286 for the Philadelphia Phillies in 1960. He is one of the players selected by the Mets last October in the National League stocking program for the two new clubs.

The addition of Taylor and Chiti within 24 hours gave the last-place Mets four catchers. The other two are Hobie Landrith and Chris Cannizzarro.

Stengel's catchers have made only five hits in 38 times at bat, all singles. Four of these hits were collected by Landrith.

Five-Way Tie In First Round Of Titleholders

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — The first round of the 23rd annual women's Titleholders golf tournament ended in a five-way tie Thursday with the jam-up in first place caused by a flood of one-over-par 73s.

Locked for the lead at the end of the first day's play in this lady's version of the famed Masters tournament, were defending champion Mickey Wright of Dallas, Tex.; Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C.; Barbara Romack of Sacramento, Calif., and two of the newer pros — Jo Ann Prentice of Birmingham, Ala., and Judy Kimball of Sioux City, Iowa.

Peggy Kirk Bell of Southern Pines, N.C.; Ruth Jessen of Seattle, Wash.; and Kathy Whitworth of Jal, N.M., were bunched in a three-way tie for sixth place with 74s—only one stroke off the lead.

Tigers Rally To Beat A's In Slugfest, 11-7

Detroit Gets Seven Runs In 7th Inning

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers, with Vic Wertz and Bubba Morton supplying timely pinch hits, crashed through for seven runs in the seventh inning Thursday and beat the Kansas City Athletics 11-7 in a home run marathon.

Wertz's single tied the score 7-7 after the Tigers entered the inning behind 7-4 and appeared stopped by Dave Wickersham's relief pitching.

Morton followed by slicing a triple that broke the tie and chased in two runs. Dick Brown's double and Jake Wood's second single of the inning added the last two Tiger runs.

The Tigers started their comeback on Al Kaline's two-run homer, last of five in the contest. They sent 11 batters up in the big inning and seven hit safely.

The victory went to Hank Aguirre, last of three Detroit hurlers. He held the A's to one hit over the last four innings. Bob Grim, third of four Kansas City pitchers, lost.

Rookie McDowell Scores First Win

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Willie Kirkland drove in the deciding runs with a seventh-inning single and Sam McDowell scored his first major league pitching victory Thursday as the first place Cleveland Indians came from behind to defeat the Los Angeles Angels 6-4.

McDowell, 19, a left-hander, relieved starter Gary Bell in the third inning and retired 12 men in order before walking Leon Wagner and Steve Bilko in the seventh. Barry Latman then replaced McDowell and set the Angels down on two hits the rest of the way.

The Indians, trailing 4-3 after six, loaded the bases with none out in the seventh on three walks, two by Ryne Duren and one by Joe Nuxhall. Kirkland, who hadn't had a hit in nine at-bats, followed with his decisive single. A single by Woody Held brought in another run.

Ridan Romps To 4-Length Win In Blue Grass Stakes

Decidedly Second In $33,200 Event At Keeneland Track

LEXINGTON, Ky., (AP) — Favored Ridan sped to victory Thursday in the $33,200 Blue Grass Stakes and headed toward a challenge by Sir Gaylord in the Kentucky Derby.

The fleet Nantallah colt, owned by Mrs. Moody Jolley, was paced expertly by jockey Manuel Ycaza through the 1⅛ miles at Keeneland race course to win going away, four lengths ahead of Decidedly.

Roman Line was third in the nine-horse field of classy 3-year-old Derby eligibles.

Continues To Run

Ridan ran the distance in 1 minute 47 35, one-fifth second off the track record set by Round Table in 1957. He continued running and was timed for the Derby distance of a mile and a quarter in 2:01.

Ridan showed stamina as well as known speed as he lay back for the first half of the race after being first out of the gate. Then started his coming up fast on the outside in the bend.

Ridan, the betting favorite, paid $3.80, $3.00, and $2.80. Decidedly returned $4.40 and $3.20 while Roman Line, paid $3.40.

Mrs. Jolley picked up a gold julep cup from Duvall Headley, president of Keeneland, and Ridan got the winner's $21,580 to boost his total earnings to $446,534.

Ridan, who lost out to Crimson Satan for 2-year-old honors last year despite being undefeated, has been beaten twice by Sir Gaylord in Florida racing this year. He was second in the Bahamas Stakes and third, set back to fourth for bumping, in the Everglades.

Sir Gaylord was not in the Blue Grass. He'll prep for the May 5 Derby in the 7-furlong Stepping Stone Purse at Churchill Downs in Louisville Saturday.

In running the Derby distance in 2:01, Ridan was two-fifths of a second faster than the Derby record, set in 1941 by Whirlaway.

He carried Derby weight of 126 pounds.

Black Beard finished fourth and Crimson Satan, who challenged briefly in the stretch but faded, was fifth.

Fort Hill And Allegany Clash In 53rd Game Of Series Today

Campers Lose Eight In Row To Sentinels

LaSalle Seeks 18th Straight; Bruce At Beall In 24th Tilt

The fifty-third game of the series between Fort Hill's Sentinels and Allegany's Campers highlights today's three-game schedule in the Allegany County High School Baseball League.

Campobello will be the site of today's game at 4 p.m., and the umpires will be Mel Nee and Jake Michaels.

Fort Hill holds a 34-18 edge in victories in this series between city rivals and has reeled off eight consecutive wins over the Campers, including a three-game sweep in 1961 by scores of 1-0, 3-0 and 4-2. Allegany's last win over Major Cavanaugh's team was a 1-0 decision in the opener of the 1958 set.

Allegany opened its current league campaign with a 17-6 victory over Flintstone while Fort Hill's defending city and league champions were rudely jolted by LaSalle to the tune of 5-2.

Won 17 Straight

LaSalle, tied with Allegany for the leadership of the league's Eastern Division, tackles the Flintstone Aggies today at 3:30 p.m., at Flintstone, where John Frank and "Chick" Snider will officiate.

The Explorers have won 17 consecutive games from the Aggies and have copped 18 out of 20 games in this series.

In the only Western Division game billed for today, Bruce High's Bulldogs tangle with the Beall High Mountaineers in Frostburg at 4 p.m. These teams are tied for first place with 1-0 records and today's winner will take over sole possession of the top berth. Joe Geatz and Kenneth Grimes are the umpires assigned to handle this contest.

Clash 24th Time

Beall and Bruce will be meeting for the 24th time in baseball. The Mountaineers have won 16 of the 23 games played to date.

Over in the Potomac Valley Conference, Elk Garden plays at Keyser, Fort Ashby hosts Romney High's Pioneers and Petersburg's Vikings will battle the Yellowjackets of Moorefield High School on the latter's field today.

Unbeaten Teams Tangle

Hagerstown will be the scene of what should be an interesting battle today with North High's Hubs slated to meet the South High Rebels. North owns a 6-0 record and South has won five and lost one. Ricky Miller is slated to pitch for North while Phil Petry will go for the Rebels.

Romney Stops Paw Paw Win Streak, 10-1

David Carl Tosses 2-Hitter, Wins 3rd

Romney High's Pioneers, behind the brilliant two-hit pitching of sophomore righthander David Carl, snapped the five-game winning streak of Paw Paw yesterday by belting the Pirates, 10-1, in a Potomac Valley Conference encounter at Romney.

The win was the third in a row for Romney and gave Coach Don Peters' Pioneers a 4-2 record for the season. It also avenged an earlier 9-1 loss to Paw Paw in Romney's opening game of the campaign.

Carl picked up his thrid pitching win, holding the Pirates hitless until the fifth when losing picher Paul Kidwell smashed a long triple and scored on a wild pitch. Harold Kerns' single in the sixth was the only other bingle allowed by the Romney hurler who fanned seven and walked one.

The loss evened Paul Kidwell's record at 2-2.

Frank Cosner had Romney's only extra base hit, a double, and also collected a single. Saville had three singles and Graham added a pair to pace the Pioneers' attack.

The setback kept Paw Paw (6-2) from tying for the conference lead with Keyser. The lineups:

Braves Top Phils, 10-4

Tommy Aaron Hits Initial Home Run

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Rookie Tommy Aaron moved out of brother Henry's shadow Thursday carrying a big bat as the Milwaukee Braves found the power to go with their rediscovered pitching and won their third straight game from the Philadelphia Phils 10-4.

The 22-year-old Tommy, starting in place of Howie Bedell as Manager Birdie Tebbetts rotated his rookies, cut loose with a single, a triple and his first major league home run, batting in four runs and scoring three himself.

Bob Hendley posted his second victory in three decisions and ran his career record over Philadelphia to 3-0, allowing only five hits and two runs before he tired and was replaced by Hank Fischer in the eighth. Fischer gave up two consolation runs in the ninth.

Clinton's Hit Beats Senators

Pinch Single Gives Bosox 8-7 Victory

BOSTON (AP) — Lu Clinton's single with two out in the eighth inning drove in Carroll Hardy from second base to break a 7-7 tie and give the Boston Red Sox an 8-7 victory over Washington Thursday in a wildly contested game.

Clinton was batting for winning pitcher Dick Radatz who fanned the only man he faced.

The issue had been deadlocked since the top of the fourth when the Senators tied it 7-7 by scoring on a wild pitch, hit batsman and a single.

The games were scheduled for seven innings but all were shortened as a result of darkness.

Barton's five-times pennant winners scored all of their eight runs in the first four innings against Franklin and racked up a total of 15 hits. Lou Fazenbaker, a 12-game winner for the Braves last season, pitched the first four innings and gave way to Jim Wilson after leading 8-0. Mike Muir supplanted Wilson in the 6th when Franklin rallied for five runs, three coming in on Junior Metz's base-cleaning double.

Kip Montgomery went the route for Franklin. Fazenbaker struck out eight.

Johnny Johnson paced the Barton attack with a triple and three singles and Ed Warnick, Jim Wilson, Sonny Metz and Mike Muir had two blows each. Bill Bennett and Junior Metz rapped doubles for the losers.

Paul "Bubbles" Thompson tossed a five-hitter and whiffed eight in hurling Midland to victory over Gilmore.

Tommy Dunn had four RBI's for Midland on a two-run triple and a two-run double. "Moose" Arnone also smacked a triple and two-bagger, George Miller connected for a double and single and Fay Often slugged a home run in the second inning. Manager Charley Winters, of Gilmore, obtained two of his team's five hits. Kenny McCormick was the losing pitcher.

Shortstop Gary Keedy slammed a homer, triple and double to pace Keyser's 12-hit assault on two Zihlman hurlers. Pezzanite collected two doubles and Melody had two singles for the winners.

Ryan, Keyser pitcher, yielded only five hits, including doubles by Bobby Deffenbaugh, "Butch" Smith and Jim Haupt.

Pat Folk, who started on the mound for Zihlman, absorbed the loss.

Twins Edge Birds, 3-2

Pascual Is Victor Over Skinny Brown

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Timely hitting by Minnesota's Bob Allison and winning pitcher Camilo Pascual, combined with faulty fielding by Baltimore's Jim Gentile, led the Twins to a 3-2 victory over the Orioles Thursday night.

The Twins scored two unearned runs in the second inning. Harmon Killebrew led off with a pop fly that was dropped by first baseman Gentile for a two-base error. Allison scored Killebrew with a single. Allison went to second on Earl Battey's single and scored, with two out, when Pascual singled.

Baltimore snapped back with a run in the second inning on starting and losing pitcher Skinny Brown's two-out RBI single, scoring Jackie Brandt, who had singled.

Minnesota upped its lead to 3-1 in the fourth inning when Allison singled, advanced to third on a ground out and fly and scored the decisive run on rookie second baseman Jim Snyder's single. For Snyder, filling in for influenza case Bernie Allen, it was his first major league hit.

Dodgers Belt Shaky Cubs

Hit Four Homers In 12-5 Contest

CHICAGO (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers uncorked four homers, two of them in succession by Willie Davis, to blast the shaky Chicago Cubs 12-5 Thursday. The Cubs made six errors.

Davis, who had singled in the fourth inning, followed with solo homers in the sixth and seventh to run his total to five for the campaign.

Frank Howard's homer—his second of the season—was good for two runs in a three-run fifth. His single in the fourth inning was one of five hits in that frame and accounted for one of the four runs scored.

Shave And Collins Share Texas Open Lead With 66s

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Young Bob Shave Jr. and veteran Bill Collins finished early and late with five-under-par 66s Thursday to share the first round lead in the $30,000 Texas Open.

They took the lead from Arnold Palmer, the defending champion and favorite, and three others, who had wound up with 67s.

Shave, the 25-year-old pro from Willoughby, Ohio, had 33-33—66 over the 6,616-yard Oak Hills Country Club course and he attributed it to a new mallet head putter which he tried for the first time in a tournament.

Collins, the big fellow from Miami, had 34-32 and lamented a missed short put that would have given him the undisputed lead.

Steel Indictment Sends Stock Prices Tumbling

NEW YORK (UPI)—News of a federal grand jury indictment of four steel companies for price-fixing sent stocks tailspinning Thursday to the lowest level in a year.

The market, which had been inching forward until news of the indictment reached Wall Street, sold off sharply in the final hour to hit 678.68, off 5.01 and its lowest point since last May 1, when it read 677.05.

The loss followed Wednesday's sharpest setback in seven months, and brought to nearly 15 points in the loss in the D-J in two days.

Standard & Poor's index of 500 stocks lost 0.66, also dropping to a new low for 1962. Trading for the session totaled 3,650,000 shares 610,000 above Wednesday's volume.

There were 1,286 issues traded of which 837 declined and 244 advanced. Of these 186 hit new 1962 lows and only 14 new highs.

The jury indictment, which touched off the decline, charged the four steel firms with conspiring to fix prices and rig bids and sales of steel forgings to the Army, Navy, and other purchasers.

U.S. Steel and Bethlehem, among the four named in the suit, lost 1¼ and 102 respectively. The other two companies, Erie Forge and Midvale-Heppenstall are not listed on the big board.

The steel selloff spread quickly to other sections of the list, notably the electronics. IBM plummeted 13, Minneapolis-Honeywell 3¼, Beckman 5, Burroughs 3¼, Motorola 2½, and Litton 4⅜.

Fort Hill And Allegany Clash In 53rd Game Of Series Today

Campers Lose Eight In Row To Sentinels

LaSalle Seeks 18th Straight; Bruce At Beall In 24th Tilt

The fifty-third game of the series between Fort Hill's Sentinels and Allegany's Campers highlights today's three-game schedule in the Allegany County High School Baseball League.

Campobello will be the site of today's game at 4 p.m., and the umpires will be Mel Nee and Jake Michaels.

Fort Hill holds a 34-18 edge in victories in this series between city rivals and has reeled off eight consecutive wins over the Campers, including a three-game sweep in 1961 by scores of 1-0, 3-0 and 4-2. Allegany's last win over Major Cavanaugh's team was a 1-0 decision in the opener of the 1958 set.

Allegany opened its current league campaign with a 17-6 victory over Flintstone while Fort Hill's defending city and league champions were rudely jolted by LaSalle to the tune of 5-2.

Won 17 Straight

LaSalle, tied with Allegany for the leadership of the league's Eastern Division, tackles the Flintstone Aggies today at 3:30 p.m., at Flintstone, where John Frank and "Chick" Snider will officiate.

The Explorers have won 17 consecutive games from the Aggies and have copped 18 out of 20 games in this series.

In the only Western Division game billed for today, Bruce High's Bulldogs tangle with the Beall High Mountaineers in Frostburg at 4 p.m. These teams are tied for first place with 1-0 records and today's winner will take over sole possession of the top berth. Joe Geatz and Kenneth Grimes are the umpires assigned to handle this contest.

Clash 24th Time

Beall and Bruce will be meeting for the 24th time in baseball. The Mountaineers have won 16 of the 23 games played to date.

Over in the Potomac Valley Conference, Elk Garden plays at Keyser, Fort Ashby hosts Romney High's Pioneers and Petersburg's Vikings will battle the Yellowjackets of Moorefield High School on the latter's field today.

Unbeaten Teams Tangle

Hagerstown will be the scene of what should be an interesting battle today with North High's Hubs slated to meet the South High Rebels. North owns a 6-0 record and South has won five and lost one. Ricky Miller is slated to pitch for North while Phil Petry will go for the Rebels.

Romney Stops Paw Paw Win Streak, 10-1

David Carl Tosses 2-Hitter, Wins 3rd

Romney High's Pioneers, behind the brilliant two-hit pitching of sophomore righthander David Carl, snapped the five-game winning streak of Paw Paw yesterday by belting the Pirates, 10-1, in a Potomac Valley Conference encounter at Romney.

The win was the third in a row for Romney and gave Coach Don Peters' Pioneers a 4-2 record for the season. It also avenged an earlier 9-1 loss to Paw Paw in Romney's opening game of the campaign.

Carl picked up his thrid pitching win, holding the Pirates hitless until the fifth when losing picher Paul Kidwell smashed a long triple and scored on a wild pitch. Harold Kerns' single in the sixth was the only other bingle allowed by the Romney hurler who fanned seven and walked one.

The loss evened Paul Kidwell's record at 2-2.

Frank Cosner had Romney's only extra base hit, a double, and also collected a single. Saville had three singles and Graham added a pair to pace the Pioneers' attack.

The setback kept Paw Paw (6-2) from tying for the conference lead with Keyser. The lineups:

Braves Top Phils, 10-4

Tommy Aaron Hits Initial Home Run

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Rookie Tommy Aaron moved out of brother Henry's shadow Thursday carrying a big bat as the Milwaukee Braves found the power to go with their rediscovered pitching and won their third straight game from the Philadelphia Phils 10-4.

The 22-year-old Tommy, starting in place of Howie Bedell as Manager Birdie Tebbetts rotated his rookies, cut loose with a single, a triple and his first major league home run, batting in four runs and scoring three himself.

Bob Hendley posted his second victory in three decisions and ran his career record over Philadelphia to 3-0, allowing only five hits and two runs before he tired and was replaced by Hank Fischer in the eighth. Fischer gave up two consolation runs in the ninth.

Clinton's Hit Beats Senators

Pinch Single Gives Bosox 8-7 Victory

BOSTON (AP) — Lu Clinton's single with two out in the eighth inning drove in Carroll Hardy from second base to break a 7-7 tie and give the Boston Red Sox an 8-7 victory over Washington Thursday in a wildly contested game.

Clinton was batting for winning pitcher Dick Radatz who fanned the only man he faced.

The issue had been deadlocked since the top of the fourth when the Senators tied it 7-7 by scoring on a wild pitch, hit batsman and a single.

Steel Indictment Sends Stock Prices Tumbling

NEW YORK (UPI)—News of a federal grand jury indictment of four steel companies for price-fixing sent stocks tailspinning Thursday to the lowest level in a year.

The market, which had been inching forward until news of the indictment reached Wall Street, sold off sharply in the final hour to hit 678.68, off 5.01 and its lowest point since last May 1, when it read 677.05.

The loss followed Wednesday's sharpest setback in seven months, and brought to nearly 15 points in the loss in the D-J in two days.

Standard & Poor's index of 500 stocks lost 0.66, also dropping to a new low for 1962. Trading for the session totaled 3,650,000 shares 610,000 above Wednesday's volume.

There were 1,286 issues traded of which 837 declined and 244 advanced. Of these 186 hit new 1962 lows and only 14 new highs.

The jury indictment, which touched off the decline, charged the four steel firms with conspiring to fix prices and rig bids and sales of steel forgings to the Army, Navy, and other purchasers.

U.S. Steel and Bethlehem, among the four named in the suit, lost 1¼ and 1⅛ respectively. The other two companies, Erie Forge and Midvale-Heppenstall are not listed on the big board.

The steel selloff spread quickly to other sections of the list, notably the electronics. IBM plummeted 13, Minneapolis-Honeywell 3¼, Beckman 5, Burroughs 3¼, Motorola 2½, and Litton 4⅜.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Most grain futures declined Thursday on stepped-up liquidation of May deliveries prior to next Monday's first delivery notice day.

Closing prices on the Chicago Board of Trade showed wheat off ⅛ to up ⅛, corn unchanged to off ¾, oats off ¾ to ¾, rye unchanged to off ½, and soybeans off 1 to up ¾.

Rumors of possible heavy tenders against corn and soybeans touched off heavy selling in those grains. The weakness spread to other contracts, nd wheat, oats and rye also felt the impact.

Nearby corn prices dropped more than a cent as May liquidation developed in considerable volume around noon. An exporter sold July, which a milling broker bought. Elevators sold September corn early.

The local Commodity Credit Corp. office raised its base selling price of corn into the southeast from $1.35 to $1.40 a bushel for five-car shipments.

Oats weakened under commission selling while demand was thin. The liquidation uncovered stop-loss orders.

In soybeans, the nearby May showed the greatest loss as commission selling increased. Meal futures weakened while oils posted small gains. Exporters sold 480,000 bushels of beans to Japan, 370,000 bushels to West Germany and 110,000 bushels to Norway.

Wheat prices held near the previous level despite scattered liquidation. Reports of dry conditions in the Southwest and scarce country offerings stimulated some buying.

Rye futures steadied after declining near the start on further liquidation and stop-loss selling.

Outside grain markets were mostly lower.

HOLLYWOOD

By Dorothy Manners

HOLLYWOOD, — All you girls who are just dying to come to Hollywood and get in the glamorous movies and date elgible bachelors like, say - George Jessel - I'd like to tell you about a little telephone conversation I had the other night.

The 'phone rang about 10 p.m., and a girl said, "Miss Manners? This is Joan Tyler."

Joan Tyler is a girl who came to Hollywood and got in the movies and now she has a paternity suit pending against George Jessel.

She said, "I haven't called you since the baby was born and I thought you'd like to know that she's the prettiest baby in the world and the best."

I asked her when she thought she'd be getting back to work again.

"That's a good question," she answered, not sarcastically. "When does anyone with a four months old baby, and no help, get back to work?"

"Don't you have anyone to leave the baby with, Joan?" I asked.

"I can't afford anybody. I tried to get a girl from Mexico but you have to guarantee you'll take care of them for a year. I couldn't guarantee I can take care of myself a year," she laughed nervously.

I asked her how she spent her days.

"Oh, I wheel the baby down to the supermarket and we shop in the mornings. And then she has her feedings and her naps and I look at TV and do the housework. I have a nice little house in the Valley," she said proudly, "There's always plenty do."

She went on, "Well, I don't want to hold you up chattering away like this. I just like to talk to someone sometimes. I didn't have anything in particular to say."

I told her to call anytime.

I just thought I'd tell you how "glamorous" life can sometimes be in Hollywood.

Under his own banner, after years at 20th Century-Fox and MGM, Producer Robert Radnitz continues his admirable policy of entertainment planned for children. In this day of smut, this is rare, indeed.

Bob has signed the writer-director team of James B. Clark and Ted Sherdeman, who did his "Dog of Flanders" and "Misty" to repeat on "Island of Blue Dolphins," the Scott O'Dell child classic about a 12-year-old Indian girl abandoned on an island. It has already won the American Librarian Association's Award as the outstanding book of the season for the small fry.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

British Peter Sellers no more than unpacked his bag in New York than he was off to Washington, D.C., for President Kennedy's dinner at which British Prime Minister MacMillan will be guest of honor.

Eighteen-year-old Lauri Peters (she's Jimmy Stewart's daughter in "Mr. Hobbs") and Jon Voight (one of the Broadway stars of "Sound of Music") listen to the wedding march when they walk down the aisle on April 30.

After going through that Plaza Hotel fire in New York with Kim Novak, Norma Kassel — Kim's lady manager—is suffering serious reaction. She almost suffocated from the smoke pouring into her room and is under treatment for her throat.

When Marlon Brando learned that Ava Gardner was visiting on the U-I lot the other day, he invited her to drop by "The Ugly American" set. And Ava's not even his favorite Latin type!

Eugene Klein, dinner chairman, is delighted the way the tribute to medical progress dinner-dance at the Beverly Hilton, May 1, is shaping up. Mrs. Randolph Hearst will present Dr. Myron Prinzmetal with his award among other doctors honored. Among those hostessing star-studded tables are Harriet Parsons, Angela Greene, Donna Atwood, Kathryn Grayson, Robert Stack and June Lockhart.

Actors Gilbert Becaud and Jean Pierre Aumont, plus 80 photographers and reporters were out to greet Marlene Dietrich when she planed into Paris for her one woman show at the Olympia.

Jackie Kennedy had the people gawking when she rode an elephant during her visit to India, but Angie Dickinson has them gasping riding her motor-scooter all over the land of the Ganges and Taj Mahal. Angie took along the motor-scooter Maurice Chevalier gave her when they finished "Jessica" and she's putt-putting all over the place.

2 Charged In Holdup, Murder

W. R. Snider, Victim, Former Resident Of Williams Road

Two Baltimore men have been charged in the robbery - slayings of two service station attendants including a former local resident.

State Police accused Earl LeRoy Blackburn, 29, and Frederick M. Mefford, 26, both of Baltimore, in connection with the March 4 death of Willis R. Snider, 38, of Harford County.

The same two men were charged by Baltimore County police in the April 16 death of Fred Conrad.

Mr. Snider, who had formerly lived on Williams Road, was operating a service station along U. S. Route 40 near Baltimore. He was fatally shot early in the morning of March 4 during a holdup at the station.

Native Of County

Mr. Snider, who was born on Irons Mountain, died in Harford County Memorial Hospital in Havre de Grace about four hours after the shooting.

Authorities said two armed bandits ordered Snider to go into the rear room of his establishment and not to come out until he had counted to 50.

When Snider returned about a minute later, one of the bandits, who was going through a cash drawer, asked, "What are you doing here? You're still supposed to be counting."

Shot In Head

Without waiting for an answer, the bandit said, "You don't have to count any further." He promptly shot Snider in the head and escaped with his companion after robbing Snider of about $70.

The victim was a former employe of the B&O Railroad here and left Cumberland in about 1950 when he became an employe of the Glen L. Martin plant in Baltimore.

This past year he had gone to work at the service station. Before he died he was able to tell police how the shooting happened. Snider was the father of four daughters.

County Group To Attend First Health Meeting

A number of Allegany County residents plan to attend the first Maryland School Health Education Conference to be held next week in Annapolis.

Representing the Allegany County Health Department will be Miss Perina Grassi, Mrs. Thelma Inskeep, Mrs. Helen Ruby and Mrs. Lois Jackson, all public health nurses.

Planning to attend from the Board of Education are Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel, and Mrs. Helen Vogel, school health nurses.

Mrs. Alma Werner of the Allegany County PTA Council and Dr. Ron VanRyswyk of Frostburg State Teachers College also plan to attend.

The two-day meeting will be held Wednesday and Thursday at Carvel Hall in Annapolis and is being sponsored by the Maryland State School Health Council, an advisory group to the State Departments of Health and Education.

Health instruction in the curriculum of elementary and secondary schools will be the topic of the conference.

Three national experts in the field of school health will be principal speakers. They are Dr. Donald A. Dukelow, Department of Health Education, American Medical Association; Dr. Marjorie A. C. Young, assistant professor in health education, Department of Public Health Practice, Harvard University School of Public Health, and Dr. Elena M. Sliepcevich, director of School Health Study, Bronfman Foundation, American Association Health, Physical Education and Recreation, National Education Association.

Barber Shop Singers To Meet Tonight

The Barber Shop Choruses sponsored by the Cumberland Recreation Department will meet at City Hall tonight.

The men will meet from 7 to 8:30 p. m. in the auditorium with John Dorn in charge of the meeting in the absence of R. Monroe Harris.

At 8 p. m. the girls will meet in the council chamber to evaluate the recent "Spring Sing" show and to make plans for the summer sessions.

Their regular rehearsal will be held at 8:30 p. m. in the auditorium under the direction of Mrs. Shirley Tindal, president of the group.

Local Recruiter Strong Booster For USO Group

The USO (United Services Organization) would have trouble finding a more enthusiastic soldier-supporter than M/Sgt. Thomas (Bucky) Walbert, Army recruiter stationed in Cumberland.

Walbert can sing tthe praises of USO from New York to Baltimore, to Fort Gordon, Ga., to Seoul, Korea — and before long to Okinawa, where he has requested transfer after his duty here is completed.

April is annually observed as USO Month, and its operation, hailed by M/Sgt. Walbert as a "real help for men stationed away from home, especially overseas," is aided locally by County United Fund.

In 1961, the 31-agency County United Fund allotted $2,381 to USO to help it meet the educational, entertainment, social and religious needs of the more than 2,000 service men and women from Allegany and Mineral counties who benefit from the multi-faceted USO.

Sgt. Walbert recalled his experience with a USO in Fort Gordon, Ga., an incident that "really sold him" on United Services Organization. As a married man with two children (a third was born there later) Walbert pulled into the Fort Gordon sector before reporting time in order to line up housing for his family.

"Not only did she tell me of all available housing for me and my family, but I had breakfast there, had my clothes pressed and was greeted with any other convenience I might have asked for. Needless to say, I went into the USO, as much by accident as anything else, as a completely bewildered stranger and came out feeling right at home."

To Theatres, Not Dives

In additional testimonial to USO, Walbert remarked: "Where else in New York City can a serviceman go to get tickets to a 'sold out' Broadway play — free of charge?

"You know, most people entertain the false impression that a serviceman on liberty invariably will head for the 'dives,' out-of-the-way places he wouldn't write home to mother about.

"But I've seen USOs in the bigger cities, including Baltimore, actually lined wall-to-wall with service personnel who were made to feel at home by people who know how to create a wholesome atmosphere for those away from their families."

Particularly interested in the show business phase of USO, Sgt. Walbert actually did stand-in master of ceremonies stints for USOs overseas, and he once wrote a front-page feature story on USO show business for "Bullseye," Army command newspaper in Korea.

"You don't really know the value of USO," the recruiter concluded, "until you look back on the conveniences they offer, their always-friendly workers, and the advantages you took of their services."

Federation Of Agencies

Randolph Millholland, local USO chairman, said "USO is a federation of agencies itself through which the American people, just as these American people in Allegany and Mineral counties, assist in serving the religious, spiritual, social, recreational and educational needs of men and women in the armed services. These needs are met in some 200 clubs and lounges in the United States and 26 more overseas.

"USO is a federation operating within the successful federation of County United Fund.

In addition to USO, 30 other agencies are meeting their goals through County United Fund as it serves the health, social service and youth needs in Allegany and Garrett counties.

Brewster And Mayor Grady Hit 'Bossism'

BALTIMORE (AP)—Daniel B. Brewster and Mayor J. Harold Grady of Baltimore delivered televised campaign speeches on behalf of Gov. Tawes Thursday and political bossism was the theme of each address.

The Tawes ticket, meanwhile, spent the day touring Baltimore County, the home of one of the governor's major opponents for the gubernatorial nomination, George P. Mahoney.

Tawes, speaking at a luncheon in the county, recapped his administration's accomplishments in highway construction.

Brewster, 2nd District congressman who is running for U. S. senator on the Tawes slate, described the Mahoney-Pollack-Lee alliance as an unsavory gang.

"I have watched with grave concern the formation during the past few weeks of an unwholesome, completely cynical alliance of political forces which has one aim and one purpose—to gain control of our state government," Brewster said in his WBAL-TV broadcast.

"Puppet Governor"

"The three main figures in this combine," he continued, "are E. Brooke Lee, a thoroughly discredited Montgomery County politician who is trying to make a comeback through the candidacy of his son-my principal opponent in this ace; Jack Pollack, a selfish ambitious Baltimore City boss who for years has sought to expand his sinister influence into state government, and George Mahoney, the man Lee and Pollack would install in your state house as their puppet governor.

"I am sure that the enlightened citizenry of this proud state of ours will not tolerate a statewide political machine dominated by such evil forces."

Brewster spoke in behalf of Tawes more than for himself.

"Gov. Tawes has given the people of Maryland the kind of government that is needed in a growing, progressive state such as ours," Brewster said.

"Under his guidance, state services and state programs have been developed to meet the demands of our times."

Praises Tawes Record

Brewster praised the governor's record on education, mental health, highway construction, rehabilitation of the seafood industry and development of industrial and tourist resources.

Grady, who announced his endorsement of Tawes April 8, fired this broadside in Pollack's direction:

"The record of my administration shows that I have absolutely refused to have any dealings with Mr. Pollack. Since my election, the Pollack crowd has found a 'No vacancy' sign everywhere they've looked in our city government.

"Now we see Mr. Pollack attempting to gain his ends by taking another route. Finding the doors closed to him in the City Hall, he is trying to regain his lost power by coming in through Annapolis.

"Mr. Pollack's plan is no secret to anyone who knows what is going on in political circles. He wants to broaden his influence in the state legislature and he wants to get his hand in the state's attorney's office.

"Worst of all, he is ambitious to regain his lost power in our judicial system, power that was wrested from him as a result of municipal court reforms."

Grady, whose speech was televised over WMAR-TV in Baltimore and WBOC-TV in Salisbury, also

PATRICIA DANIELS

The Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce has announced another finalist in the Miss Cumberland Jaycee contest which the organization is sponsoring Friday at Clarysville Inn.

Patricia Louise Daniels, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Daniels, 619 Baker Street, is a 1959 graduate of Fort Hill High School and attended Frostburg State Teachers College.

While at Fort Hill, she was a member of the Players and the Thespians and also was head Majorette.

Employed as an operator by C & P Telephone Company, her hobbies are bowling, swimming and skating.

Park Place Church Opposes Rezoning Plan

Rev. Melvin D. Hughson, pastor of Park Place Methodist Church, said yesterday that the overwhelming majority of the members of his church are opposed to the proposed rezoning of the Narrows Park property just beyond the church to commercial classification.

The LaVale Zoning Board has scheduled a public hearing for 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday at the LaVale Fire Hall and one of the items to be considered is the matter of rezoning the area bounded by U. S. Route 40, the G. & C. Railroad, Park Place Church and Park Heights, presumably from residential to commercial.

Back on February 27, the LaVale Zoning Board held an earlier public hearing on this same proposal and took no action when an overwhelming majority of those at the hearing were opposed to the change. At the time the board decided that insufficient evidence was advanced to justify the change.

Members of the LaVale Zoning Board are Lloyd H. Buchanan, chairman; Lee Barnett and Douglas Smith.

Tuesday's hearing will be held on the fourth anniversary of the effective date of the LaVale Zoning Ordinance. The hearing is planned, according to the legal notice published April 17, for certain clarification, changes and additions to the four-year-old ordinance which became effective May 1, 1958.

The first item listed for the hearing is passage upon all applications for rezoning of areas within the district. Each such application must be accompanied by a $25 fee and will be decided upon after a public hearing.

Item No. 2 would require that owners of all vacant lot zoned as Residential "A" and Commercial "A" must mow or cut the grass and/or weeds on the lots to a height of no more than six inches at least twice between May 1 and September 1.

The third item on the agenda Tuesday night is the matter of rezoning the Narrows Park area.

Rev. Mr. Hughson explained that rezoning of the area to allow the construction of a ladies' apparel store would increase traffic congestion in an area where it already is bad. Once the property is rezoned commercial for the ladies apparel store there is no safeguard to keep other less desirable types of stores out of the area, the clergyman added.

Bodies Not Recovered

Searchers who used grappling hooks yesterday in dragging operations along Cheat River near Kingwood, W. Va. again were unsuccessful in locating the bodies of two persons who have been missing since Sunday.

The bodies of Miss Ellen Cook, 26-year-old Pittsburgh, Pa. school teacher and her would-be rescuer, Pfc. Bernard Barrett, Meigs, Ga., member of a unit of the 82d Airborne Division stationed at Camp Dawson, will be sought today by a group of skindivers from Morgantown, W. Va.

It was reported last night the river is receding after being swollen by heavy rains.

LaVale Firemen Check Car Fire

An automobile fire was extinguished yesterday afternoon at the LaVale Plaza Shopping Center parking lot by volunteer firemen of LaVale.

They said a short circuit in the wiring under the hood of a car caused the fire about 2:45 p.m. Considerable damage was caused to the area of the motor.

Officers Elected By Allegany Hi-Y

John Moffatt was elected president of the Allegany High School Hi-Y during an election on Wednesday at the school.

Law Termed Adequate In S-L Frauds

General Theft Code Applies, Norris Asserts

BALTIMORE (AP) — The man who is coordinating the prosecution of criminal cases arising from the savings and loan scandals says dishonest savings operators can be dealt with adequately under existing Maryland laws.

"I don't think anybody is getting away because of inadequate law," said James H. Norris Jr., a special assistant in the State Law Department and savings and loan specialist.

"We have the laws, and it can be done with the laws we have," he said. "It's just a matter of developing the cases and prosecuting them."

Norris, a Republican, discussed the subject—one of the major issues in the current Democratic primary camapign—during an interview.

George P. Mahoney, a Democratic candidate for governor, has frequently attacked the Tawes Administration's savings and loan regulatory law because the penalty it provides for dishonest operators is "a mere tap on the wrist."

The regulatory law, enacted last June during a special legislative session, provides a maximum penalty of $1,000 fine.

Theft Law Applies

Mahoney also has attacked Gov. Tawes, who is seeking renomination in the May 15 primary, for vetoing a 1960 regulatory bill sponsored by Joseph D. Tydings former delegate from Harford County and now U.S. attorney for Maryland.

The Tydings bill carried possible maximum penalties of three years in prison and a fine of $10,000 on conviction.

Tawes has said he vetoed the measure because it had been weakened drastically by some 30 amendments. Tydings himself voted to uphold the veto.

But Mahoney apparently believes the state needs a special law providing stiff penalties specifically for criminal violations in the savings and loan field, and that the Tydings bill would have fulfilled this need.

Norris, however, said that defrauding depositors is stealing, and the state's general criminal laws against theft are adequate to prosecute and convict savings and loan criminal acts.

Among the charges that can be used, Norris said, are larceny, larceny after trust, obtaining money by false pretenses, conspiracy to defraud and possible embezzlement.

Defrauding investors "may be a little more intricate than ordinary theft," Norris said, "But the same general law applies."

Criminal Cases Set

So far, however, no criminal charges have been filed by Maryland officials.

Norris said grand juries in Prince Georges and Montgomery counties, where there have been several savings and loan association failures, are scheduled to begin hearing criminal cases within the next two weeks.

He said witnesses would begin testifying before the Prince Georges panel Friday, and the Montgomery grand jury will take up savings and loan cases May 7.

Norris said lack of audits had caused delays in presenting cases to the grand juries in the two counties. "You have to have that audit, and it takes time," he said.

"It takes time to prepare these cases and be sure you have (charged) the right people for the right thing," he added.

Norris pointed out that six months had elapsed before federal prosecutors got their first indictment after postal inspectors began investigating certain savings and loan associations in 1958.

District 16 Firemen Fight Grass Fires

Volunteer firemen of District 16 had a busy day yesterday answering three calls.

Around 10 a.m. they were called to Mexico Farms where they extinguished a grass fire.

On their way back to the fire hall they received a message on the radio that there was a fire along Williams Road.

When they arrived at the scene they learned the fire was under control. A man who had plowed up a field had built a brush fire in the center of the field.

The blaze was detected from a fire tower and the volunteers were notified.

About 4 p.m. yesterday the volunteers went to the vicinity of the city dump where about 10 acres of land were scorched by fire.

Grass Fire Checked Near City Limits

Volunteer firemen of Bowling Green last night extinguished a grass fire on the Liller farm below U.S. Route 220 just south of the Cumberland city limits.

Some 20 volunteers answered the call at 7:50 p.m., according to a spokesman, who said the flames burned an area near the gasoline tanks of the Independent Motor Fuel Company.

On Wednesday night the firemen fought a grass fire in the same vicinity near the B&O Railroad tracks.

Many Drink But Few Are Alcoholics, Says Bubert

Although it is estimated that there are 5,000,000 alcoholics in the United States today, they represent only about one-sixteenth of the nation's drinking population of 80,000,000 persons.

That was one of the facts brought out here yesterday by Howard M. Bubert Jr., executive director of the Maryland Commission on Alcoholism.

Mr. Bubert visited Cumberland and Allegany County yesterday in the course of a spot-check he is conducting on alcoholism in Maryland. During the morning hours he visited Police Chief B. F. Gaffney and Police Lt. Wilbur Shank, who took him to several places around Cumberland where the often-arrested drunks congregated.

The authority on alcoholism in Maryland emphasized that the chronic police case inebriate actually constitutes only about seven per cent of the country's alcoholics, according to nation-wide studies.

The other 93 per cent of the alcoholics generally held down a job, are seldom if ever arrested for drunkenness. Most rehabilitation efforts are undertaken among the 93 per cent because experience has shown that the other seven per cent can be helped very little.

Mr. Bubert also is project director for research project for the Committee on Narcotics and Alcoholics of the Section on Criminal Law of the American Bar Association.

The State Commission on Alcoholism is rounding out its second fiscal year of operations and will have its second report ready for release about June 1.

Yesterday afternoon at the Court House, Mr. Bubert conferred with Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris and Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey on the treatment and care of alcoholics.

Mr. Bubert pointed out that as a general rule alcoholism is greatest where the population is largest. For instance, most of Maryland's alcoholism is concentrated in Baltimore City and Baltimore, Anne Arundel, Montgomery and Prince George's counties. However, Allegany, along with Charles County in Southern Maryland and Queen Anne's and Kent counties on the Eastern Shore, has more alcoholics than it should for its population.

Local Church Will Sponsor Music Event

The Men's Chorus and Ladies Quartet of First Evangelical United Brethren Church, Mont Alto, Pa., will present an evening of music Sunday at 7:30 p. m. at First Evangelical United Brethren Church, Race and Fourth streets.

Dr. E. E. Miller, pastor of the local church, said the groups, directed by Robert P. Shuman, will present their concert in four parts. Miss Beatrice Stymiest will be the accompanist.

The concert of sacred music will open with three selections by the men's chorus. They include "The Lord Is My Light," "My God and I," and "The Spacious Firmament." The ladies also will sing "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind" and "Oh Master Let Me Walk With Thee."

In part two, the men will sing "Steal Away," "The Old Arks Amoverin" and "Standing in the Need of Prayer," and Statt Stymiest will be the soloist in "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked."

During the third part of the concert, the men's chorus will sing "Clarion Call," "God Holds the Key," and the women will sing "Jesus the Very Thought of Thee" and "Now the Day Is Over." In the final part of the program, the men will sing "Come, Thou Almighty King," "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name" and "Great and Marvelous."

Renaud Issues 38 New Permits For Building

C. Lee Renaud, Allegany County's planning director, has issued 38 building permits so far this month for construction in the unincorporated areas of the county outside of LaVale.

Building permits for Election District 29 in LaVale are still issued by James G. Stevenson, clerk to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, because LaVale is not covered by the county's interim zoning ordinance, effective since last November 1.

Twenty-nine of the 38 April permits to date have been for construction of new dwellings. Five others were for additions to dwellings, two for garages, one for a dwelling addition and garage and one for a club building.

17 Districts

The April permits to date have authorized construction in 17 different election districts of the county. District 16, North Branch, is the leader with six, followed by District 6, West Side suburban, and District 7, Cresaptown-Rawlings, five each.

Other construction so far in April was authorized in District 21, Gross, four permits; Districts 3, Flintstone, 5; North End suburban; 11, Frostburg suburban; 13, Mt. Savage; 20, Corriganville-Ellerslie; 23, East Side suburban, two each, and District 1, Little Orleans; 8, Westernport suburban; 9, Barton suburban; 12, Frostburg suburban; 22, East Side suburban; 27, Gilmore, and 33, Kifer, one each.

Five of the six District 16 permits were for new dwellings in the North Branch area. Three of them were obtained by Clyde Slider, 811 Louisiana Avenue, for houses on the east side of Oldtown Road, north of Golden Avenue. Gerald Harmon, 213 Pear Street, was issued a permit for a dwelling on Moore's Hollow Road two miles south of Oldtown Road. Edward H. McKay, 724 Fayette Street, was granted a permit for a frame dwelling on Oldtown Road, Route 51.

District 6 building permits were issued for new dwellings to be built by Grover Yahn of Bowling Green; William Morehead, Greene Street, for the west side of Maryland Avenue, north of Division Avenue, Bowling Green; Garner Construction Company, also on Maryland Avenue, Bowling Green, and Philip J. Harbaugh, Bowling Green, also on Maryland Avenue in that community.

Jobs In District 7

Dwelling construction authorized for Election District 7, Cresaptown-Rawlings, included permits issued to Clarence Raley, RFD 3, on Hawk Street, west of McMullen Highway; Sheridan Shaffer, RFD 3, Keyser, McMullen Highway, near VanPelt Park; Conda Smith, RFD 3, Keyser, for a brick over frame dwelling in Rawlings Heights; James Barr, LaVale, also in Rawlings Heights, and Billy Ketterman, RFD 3, Keyser, on McMullen Highway two miles from Armstrong's Store.

Other dwelling permits obtained so far this month include two more for Mr. Slider, one on Hillcrest Drive, District 22, and District 21, east side of Cemetery Road near Baltimore Pike; two in District 23, Growdendale, for the Growden Construction Company; District 3, Flintstone, for James S. Shanholtz, RFD 1, Flintstone, one mile west of Flintstone; Branson Heavner, RFD 1, Flintstone, west side of Dickerson Hollow; and District 5, North End suburban, Howard I. Grove Jr., 206 Columbia Street, Johnson's Addition to Bedford Road, and William F. Cage, RFD 1, on Ore Street in Bowman's Addition.

Also approved so far in April are permits for dwellings in District 8, for Gene Carroll, Roosevelt Street, Westernport, for house on Horserock Road; Harry Ross Smith, Westernport, for dwelling in District 9 on State Route 36 near Berry's Service Station; District 11, Frostburg, Vincent E. Martirano, 155 East Main Street, Frostburg, house on Esky Avenue, and Walter Kerr, 422 Park Street, Frostburg.

Other dwelling permits were issued to Harry Lee DeVore, 51 Powell's Lane, Frostburg, James W. Williams, 410 Walnut Street, in District 20; Earl R. Simpson, RFD 2, Baltimore Pike, in Dis-

No Picketing At Pa. Mills

OAKLAND, Md. (AP)—An official of the Wood Producers Co-op Inc. said Thursday he did not know why the organization failed to picket two paper mills in Pennsylvania as scheduled.

Thomas W. Hetz of nearby Lonaconing, business agent of the co-op, said the organization of independent pulpwood producers expected to extend its picketing of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper plant at Luke, Md., to mills at Williamsburg and Tyrone, Pa.

Hetz said the co-op represents about 900 producers in Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania. He said West Virginia Pulp and Paper is the producers' only market and the picketing going on at Luke since March 26 is aimed at forcing higher prices for pulpwood.

"Since 1945 we have been operating in the same price range while our costs increased, in some instances, to 30 per cent," Hetz said. "The producers have been absorbing it. It just got to the point where they can't operate any more."

Resurfacing Work Slated Next Week

A major test of the use of smooth-seal blacktop will being here next week when an area contractor begins work on the improvement of 11 city streets.

The work will be done by the Carl D. Stickley, Inc., firm of Keyser under a $27,017.40 contract. Work is scheduled to begin next Wednesday on Buckingham Road in the Dingle.

The Buckingham Road improvements will begin at Greene Street and extend to the end of the street and will consist of the laying of a two-inch layer of blacktop.

The firm advised the city yesterday it was getting ready to move a blacktop-laying machine and rollers to the site.

Work on 10 downtown streets is scheduled to begin as soon as the Dingle project is completed.

The work will include the surfacing of the streets with smooth-seal bituminous concrete.

The resurfacing will be done in two phases. The first calls for smoothing the present surface and the application of a leveling course laid by machine.

This will be followed by the application of a smooth-seal type of bituminous concrete, applied at the rate of 70 pounds to the square yard. When compacted, this surface will be about ⅝ of an inch thick.

The materials will be prepared in the firm's blacktop plant at Short Gap.

ABL Motor Helps Boost Thor Rocket

Altair Achieves 47th Straight Flight Success

Altair, Allegany Ballistics Laboratory's famous space-probing rocket motor, yesterday afternoon thrust another scientific satellite into orbit for the free world space program. (See page one).

Designed and manufactured at ABL, the X-248 Altair was used as the third and final stage of a Thor Delta launching vehicle which was fired from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

The launching put into orbit the S-51 Satellite a joint project of United Kingdom and United States scientists.

Altair, which has helped push numerous payloads into orbits around the earth, yesterday marked its 47th straight flight success.

Big Part In Project

Besides the ABL motor, Hercules Powder Company, which operates this Navy facility, also figured prominently in the construction of the S-51.

The S-51 satellite has a lightweight, non-metallic payload housing, made by Hercules at its Rock Hill, N. J., plant. Made of Spiralloy, a combination of finely-drawn glass filament and resin, the housing has the strength of alloy steel, but approximately the weight of magnesium. It is designed to withstand the high temperatures which are encountered in its flight into orbit.

The payload is shaped like a cylinder, 23 inches in diameter, at each end of which is a spherical section. To this basic thin-skinned, light-weight shell are attached solar paddles, antennae and booms containing sensors and some of the experiments.

How It's Made

The mid-section is made of Spiralloy wound on a mandrel to shape, while the domed ends are molded of Spiralloy to the precise configuration required.

Spiralloy also is used as the case material for the third stage of the Thor Delta launching vehicle. The Altair motor, designed and built at ABL, was the first motor to use lightweight cases made by this unusual method.

The S-51 is designed to acquire increased knowledge of the ion sphere and how it is affected by solar radiation, and to obtain data of primary cosmic radiation.

Finally, Mr. Serposs will return to the podium to direct the entire mixed chorus of nearly 350 singers in three selections.

The vocalists will spend all day today at Allegany High School rehearsing for the concert.

Miss Dorothy Willison, vocal music teacher at Allegany High School, is serving as chairman for the vocal festival. Other vocal music teachers who will be assisting all day today are Miss Carole E. Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Most grain futures declined Thursday on stepped-up liquidation of May deliveries prior to next Monday's first delivery notice day.
Closing prices on the Chicago Board of Trade showed wheat off ⅛ to up ⅛, corn unchanged to off ¾, oats off ⅜ to ⅝, rye unchanged to off ⅛, and soybeans off 1 to up ⅝.
Rumors of possible heavy tenders against corn and soybeans touched off heavy selling in those grains. The weakness spread to other contracts, nd wheat, oats and rye also felt the impact.
Nearby corn prices dropped more than a cent as May liquidation developed in considerable volume around noon. An exporter sold July, which a milling broker bought. Elevators sold September corn early.
The local Commodity Credit Corp. office raised its base selling price of corn into the southeast from $1.35 to $1.40 a bushel for five-car shipments.
Oats weakened under commission selling while demand was thin. The liquidation uncovered stop-loss orders.
In soybeans, the nearby May showed the greatest loss as commission selling increased. Meal futures weakened while oils posted small gains. Exporters sold 480,000 bushels of beans to Japan, 370,000 bushels to West Germany and 110,000 bushels to Norway.
Wheat prices held near the previous level despite scattered liquidation. Reports of dry conditions in the Southwest and scarce country offerings stimulated some buying.
Rye futures steadied after declining near the start on further liquidation and stop-loss selling.
Outside grain markets were mostly lower.

HOLLYWOOD

By Dorothy Manners

HOLLYWOOD, — All you girls who are just dying to come to Hollywood and get in the glamorous movies and date elgible bachelors like, say - George Jessel - I'd like to tell you about a little telephone conversation I had the other night.

The 'phone rang about 10 p.m., and a girl said, "Miss Manners? This is Joan Tyler."

Joan Tyler is a girl who came to Hollywood and got in the movies and now she has a paternity suit pending against George Jessel.

She said, "I haven't called you since the baby was born and I thought you'd like to know that she's the prettiest baby in the world and the best."

I asked her when she thought she'd be getting back to work again.

"That's a good question," she answered, not sarcastically. "When does anyone with a four months old baby, and no help, get back to work?"

"Don't you have anyone to leave the baby with, Joan?" I asked.

"I can't afford anybody. I tried to get a girl from Mexico but you have to guarantee you'll take care of them for a year. I couldn't guarantee I can take care of myself a year," she laughed nervously.

I asked her how she spent her days.

"Oh, I wheel the baby down to the supermarket and we shop in the mornings. And then she has her feedings and her naps and I look at TV and do the housework. I have a nice little house in the Valley," she said proudly, "There's always plenty do."

She went on, "Well, I don't want to hold you up chattering away like this. I just like to talk to someone sometimes. I didn't have anything in particular to say."

I told her to call anytime.

I just thought I'd tell you how "glamorous" life can sometimes be in Hollywood.

Under his own banner, after years at 20th Century-Fox and MGM, Producer Robert Radnitz continues his admirable policy of entertainment planned for children. In this day of smut, this is rare, indeed.

Bob has signed the writer-director team of James B. Clark and Ted Sherdeman, who did his "Dog of Flanders" and "Misty" to repeat on "Island of Blue Dolphins," the Scott O'Dell child classic about a 12-year-old Indian girl abandoned on an island. It has already won the American Librarian Association's Award as the outstanding book of the season for the small fry.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

British Peter Sellers no more than unpacked his bag in New York than he was off to Washington, D.C., for President Kennedy's dinner at which British Prime Minister MacMillan will be guest of honor.

Eighteen-year-old Lauri Peters (she's Jimmy Stewart's daughter in "Mr. Hobbs") and Jon Voight (one of the Broadway stars of "Sound of Music") listen to the wedding march when they walk down the aisle on April 30.

After going through that Plaza Hotel fire in New York with Kim Novak, Norma Kassel — Kim's lady manager—is suffering serious reaction. She almost suffocated from the smoke pouring into her room and is under treatment for her throat.

When Marlon Brando learned that Ava Gardner was visiting on the U-I lot the other day, he invited her to drop by "The Ugly American" set. And Ava's not even his favorite Latin type!

Eugene Klein, dinner chairman, is delighted the way the tribute to medical progress dinner-dance at the Beverly Hilton, May 1, is shaping up. Mrs. Randolph Hearst will present Dr. Myron Prinzmetal with his award among other doctors honored. Among those hostessing star-studded tables are Harriet Parsons, Angela Greene, Donna Atwood, Kathryn Grayson, Robert Stack and June Lockhart.

Actors Gilbert Becaud and Jean Pierre Aumont, plus 80 photographers and reporters were out to greet Marlene Dietrich when she planed into Paris for her one woman show at the Olympia.

Jackie Kennedy had the people gawking when she rode an elephant during her visit to India, but Angie Dickinson has them gasping riding her motor-scooter all over the land of the Ganges and Taj Mahal. Angie took along the motor-scooter Maurice Chevalier gave her when they finished "Jessica" and she's putt-putting all over the place.

2 Charged In Holdup, Murder

W. R. Snider, Victim, Former Resident Of Williams Road

Two Baltimore men have been charged in the robbery - slayings of two service station attendants including a former local resident.

State Police accused Earl LeRoy Blackburn, 29, and Frederick M. Mefford, 26, both of Baltimore, in connection with the March 4 death of Willis R. Snider, 38, of Harford County.

The same two men were charged by Baltimore County police in the April 16 death of Fred Conrad.

Mr. Snider, who had formerly lived on Williams Road, was operating a service station along U. S. Route 40 near Baltimore. He was fatally shot early in the morning of March 4 during a holdup at the station.

Native Of County

Mr. Snider, who was born on Irons Mountain, died in Harford County Memorial Hospital in Havre de Grace about four hours after the shooting.

Authorities said two armed bandits ordered Snider to go into the rear room of his establishment and not to come out until he had counted to 50.

When Snider returned about a minute later, one of the bandits, who was going through a cash drawer, asked, "What are you doing here? You're still supposed to be counting."

Shot In Head

Without waiting for an answer, the bandit said, "You don't have to count any further." He promptly shot Snider in the head and escaped with his companion after robbing Snider of about $70.

The victim was a former employe of the B&O Railroad here and left Cumberland in about 1950 when he became an employe of the Glen L. Martin plant in Baltimore.

This past year he had gone to work at the service station. Before he died he was able to tell police how the shooting happened. Snider was the father of four daughters.

Local Recruiter Strong Booster For USO Group

The USO (United Services Organization) would have trouble finding a more enthusiastic soldier-supporter than M/Sgt. Thomas (Bucky) Walbert, Army recruiter stationed in Cumberland.

Walbert can sing tthe praises of USO from New York to Baltimore, to Fort Gordon, Ga., to Seoul, Korea — and before long to Okinawa, where he has requested transfer after his duty here is completed.

April is annually observed as USO Month, and its operation, hailed by M/Sgt. Walbert as a "real help for men stationed away from home, especially overseas," is aided locally by County United Fund.

In 1961, the 31-agency County United Fund allotted $2,381 to USO to help it meet the educational, entertainment, social and religious needs of the more than 2,000 service men and women from Allegany and Mineral counties who benefit from the multi-faceted USO.

Sgt. Walbert recalled his experience with a USO in Fort Gordon, Ga., an incident that "really sold him" on United Services Organization. As a married man with two children (a third was born there later) Walbert pulled into the Fort Gordon sector before reporting time in order to line up housing for his family.

"Not only did she tell me of all available housing for me and my family, but I had breakfast there, had my clothes pressed and was greeted with any other convenience I might have asked for. Needless to say, I went into the USO, as much by accident as anything else, as a completely bewildered stranger and came out feeling right at home."

To Theatres, Not Dives

In additional testimonial to USO, Walbert remarked: "Where else in New York City can a serviceman go to get tickets to a 'sold out' Broadway play — free of charge?

"You know, most people entertain the false impression that a serviceman on liberty invariably will head for the 'dives,' out-of-the-way places he wouldn't write home to mother about.

"But I've seen USOs in the bigger cities, including Baltimore, actually lined wall-to-wall with service personnel who were made to feel at home by people who know how to create a wholesome atmosphere for those away from their families."

Particularly interested in the show business phase of USO, Sgt. Walbert actually did stand-in master of ceremonies stints for USOs overseas, and he once wrote a front-page feature story on USO show business for "Bullseye," Army command newspaper in Korea.

"You don't really know the value of USO," the recruiter concluded, "until you look back on the conveniences they offer, their always-friendly workers, and the advantages you took of their services."

Federation Of Agencies

Randolph Millholland, local USO chairman, said "USO is a federation of agencies itself through which the American people, just as these American people in Allegany and Mineral counties, assist in serving the religious, spiritual, social, recreational and educational needs of men and women in the armed services. These needs are met in some 200 clubs and lounges in the United States and 26 more overseas.

"USO is a federation operating within the successful federation of County United Fund.

In addition to USO, 30 other agencies are meeting their goals through County United Fund as it serves the health, social service and youth needs in Allegany and Garrett counties.

Brewster And Mayor Grady Hit 'Bossism'

BALTIMORE (AP)—Daniel B. Brewster and Mayor J. Harold Grady of Baltimore delivered televised campaign speeches on behalf of Gov. Tawes Thursday and political bossism was the theme of each address.

The Tawes ticket, meanwhile, spent the day touring Baltimore County, the home of one of the governor's major opponents for the gubernatorial nomination, George P. Mahoney.

Tawes, speaking at a luncheon in the county, recapped his administration's accomplishments in highway construction.

Brewster, 2nd District congressman who is running for U. S. senator on the Tawes slate, described the Mahoney-Pollack-Lee alliance as an unsavory gang.

"I have watched with grave concern the formation during the past few weeks of an unwholesome, completely cynical alliance of political forces which has one aim and one purpose—to gain control of our state government," Brewster said in his WBAL-TV broadcast.

"Puppet Governor"

"The three main figures in this combine," he continued, "are E. Brooke Lee, a thoroughly discredited Montgomery County politician who is trying to make a comeback through the candidacy of his son-my principal opponent in this ace; Jack Pollack, a selfish ambitious Baltimore City boss who for years has sought to expand his sinister influence into state government, and George Mahoney, the man Lee and Pollack would install in your state house as their puppet governor.

"I am sure that the enlightened citizenry of this proud state of ours will not tolerate a statewide political machine dominated by such evil forces."

Brewster spoke in behalf of Tawes more than for himself.

"Gov. Tawes has given the people of Maryland the kind of government that is needed in a growing, progressive state such as ours," Brewster said.

"Under his guidance, state services and state programs have been developed to meet the demands of our times."

Praises Tawes Record

Brewster praised the governor's record on education, mental health, highway construction, rehabilitation of the seafood industry and development of industrial and tourist resources.

Grady, who announced his endorsement of Tawes April 8, fired this broadside in Pollack's direction:

"The record of my administration shows that I have absolutely refused to have any dealings with Mr. Pollack. Since my election, the Pollack crowd has found a 'No vacancy' sign everywhere they've looked in our city government.

"Now we see Mr. Pollack attempting to gain his ends by taking another route. Finding the doors closed to him in the City Hall, he is trying to regain his lost power by coming in through Annapolis.

"Mr. Pollack's plan is no secret to anyone who knows what is going on in political circles. He wants to broaden his influence in the state legislature and he wants to get his hand in the state's attorney's office.

"Worst of all, he is ambitious to regain his lost power in our judicial system, power that was wrested from him as a result of municipal court reforms."

Grady, whose speech was televised over WMAR-TV in Baltimore and WBOC-TV in Salisbury, also

Park Place Church Opposes Rezoning Plan

Rev. Melvin D. Hughson, pastor of Park Place Methodist Church, said yesterday that the overwhelming majority of the members of his church are opposed to the proposed rezoning of the Narrows Park property just beyond the church to commercial classification.

The LaVale Zoning Board has scheduled a public hearing for 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday at the LaVale Fire Hall and one of the items to be considered is the matter of rezoning the area bounded by U. S. Route 40, the G. & C. Railroad, Park Place Church and Park Heights, presumably from residential to commercial.

Back on February 27, the LaVale Zoning Board held an earlier public hearing on this same proposal and took no action when an overwhelming majority of those at the hearing were opposed to the change. At the time the board decided that insufficient evidence was advanced to justify the change.

Members of the LaVale Zoning Board are Lloyd H. Buchanan, chairman; Lee Barnett and Douglas Smith.

Tuesday's hearing will be held on the fourth anniversary of the effective date of the LaVale Zoning Ordinance. The hearing is planned, according to the legal notice published April 17, for certain clarification, changes and additions to the four-year-old ordinance which became effective May 1, 1958.

The first item listed for the hearing is passage upon all applications for rezoning of areas within the district. Each such application must be accompanied by a $25 fee and will be decided upon after a public hearing.

Item No. 2 would require that owners of all vacant lot zoned as Residential "A" and Commercial "A" must mow or cut the grass and/or weeds on the lots to a height of no more than six inches at least twice between May 1 and September 1.

The third item on the agenda Tuesday night is the matter of rezoning the Narrows Park area.

Rev. Mr. Hughson explained that rezoning of the area to allow the construction of a ladies' apparel store would increase traffic congestion in an area where it already is bad. Once the property is rezoned commercial for the ladies apparel store there is no safeguard to keep other less desirable types of stores out of the area, the clergyman added.

Bodies Not Recovered

Searchers who used grappling hooks yesterday in dragging operations along Cheat River near Kingwood, W. Va. again were unsuccessful in locating the bodies of two persons who have been missing since Sunday.

The bodies of Miss Ellen Cook, 26-year-old Pittsburgh, Pa. school teacher and her would-be rescuer, Pfc. Bernard Barrett, Meigs, Ga., member of a unit of the 82d Airborne Division stationed at Camp Dawson, will be sought today by a group of skindivers from Morgantown, W. Va.

It was reported last night the river is receding after being swollen by heavy rains.

LaVale Firemen Check Car Fire

An automobile fire was extinguished yesterday afternoon at the LaVale Plaza Shopping Center parking lot by volunteer firemen of LaVale.

They said a short circuit in the wiring under the hood of a car caused the fire about 2:45 p.m. Considerable damage was caused to the area of the motor.

Officers Elected By Allegany Hi-Y

John Moffatt was elected president of the Allegany High School Hi-Y during an election on Wednesday at the school.

Law Termed Adequate In S-L Frauds

General Theft Code Applies, Norris Asserts

BALTIMORE (AP) — The man who is coordinating the prosecution of criminal cases arising from the savings and loan scandals says dishonest savings operators can be dealt with adequately under existing Maryland laws.

"I don't think anybody is getting away because of inadequate law," said James H. Norris Jr., a special assistant in the State Law Department and savings and loan specialist.

"We have the laws, and it can be done with the laws we have," he said. "It's just a matter of developing the cases and prosecuting them."

Norris, a Republican, discussed the subject—one of the major issues in the current Democratic primary camapign—during an interview.

George P. Mahoney, a Democratic candidate for governor, has frequently attacked the Tawes Administration's savings and loan regulatory law because the penalty it provides for dishonest operators is "a mere tap on the wrist."

The regulatory law, enacted last June during a special legislative session, provides a maximum penalty of $1,000 fine.

Theft Law Applies

Mahoney also has attacked Gov. Tawes, who is seeking renomination in the May 15 primary, for vetoing a 1960 regulatory bill sponsored by Joseph D. Tydings former delegate from Harford County and now U.S. attorney for Maryland.

The Tydings bill carried possible maximum penalties of three years in prison and a fine of $10,000 on conviction.

Tawes has said he vetoed the measure because it had been weakened drastically by some 30 amendments. Tydings himself voted to uphold the veto.

But Mahoney apparently believes the state needs a special law providing stiff penalties specifically for criminal violations in the savings and loan field, and that the Tydings bill would have fulfilled this need.

Norris, however, said that defrauding depositors is stealing, and the state's general criminal laws against theft are adequate to prosecute and convict savings and loan criminal acts.

Among the charges that can be used, Norris said, are larceny, larceny after trust, obtaining money by false pretenses, conspiracy to defraud and possible embezzlement.

Defrauding investors "may be a little more intricate than ordinary theft," Norris said, "But the same general law applies."

Criminal Cases Set

So far, however, no criminal charges have been filed by Maryland officials.

Norris said grand juries in Prince Georges and Montgomery counties, where there have been several savings and loan association failures, are scheduled to begin hearing criminal cases within the next two weeks.

He said witnesses would begin testifying before the Prince Georges panel Friday, and the Montgomery grand jury will take up savings and loan cases May 7.

Norris said lack of audits had caused delays in presenting cases to the grand juries in the two counties. "You have to have that audit, and it takes time," he said.

"It takes time to prepare these cases and be sure you have (charged) the right people for the right thing," he added.

Norris pointed out that six months had elapsed before federal prosecutors got their first indictment after postal inspectors began investigating certain savings and loan associations in 1958.

District 16 Firemen Fight Grass Fires

Volunteer firemen of District 16 had a busy day yesterday answering three calls.

Around 10 a.m. they were called to Mexico Farms where they extinguished a grass fire.

On their way back to the fire hall they received a message on the radio that there was a fire along Williams Road.

When they arrived at the scene they learned the fire was under control. A man who had plowed up a field had built a brush fire in the center of the field.

The blaze was detected from a fire tower and the volunteers were notified.

About 4 p.m. yesterday the volunteers went to the vicinity of the city dump where about 10 acres of land were scorched by fire.

Grass Fire Checked Near City Limits

Volunteer firemen of Bowling Green last night extinguished a grass fire on the Liller farm below U.S. Route 220 just south of the Cumberland city limits.

Some 20 volunteers answered the call at 7:50 p.m., according to a spokesman, who said the flames burned an area near the gasoline tanks of the Independent Motor Fuel Company.

On Wednesday night the firemen fought a grass fire in the same vicinity near the B&O Railroad tracks.

Resurfacing Work Slated Next Week

A major test of the use of smooth-seal blacktop will being here next week when an area contractor begins work on the improvement of 11 city streets.

The work will be done by the Carl D. Stickley, Inc., firm of Keyser under a $27,017.40 contract. Work is scheduled to begin next Wednesday on Buckingham Road in the Dingle.

The Buckingham Road improvements will begin at Greene Street and extend to the end of the street and will consist of the laying of a two-inch layer of blacktop.

The firm advised the city yesterday it was getting ready to move a blacktop-laying machine and rollers to the site.

Work on 10 downtown streets is scheduled to begin as soon as the Dingle project is completed.

The work will include the surfacing of the streets with smooth-seal bituminous concrete.

The resurfacing will be done in two phases. The first calls for smoothing the present surface and the application of a leveling course laid by machine.

This will be followed by the application of a smooth-seal type of bituminous concrete, applied at the rate of 70 pounds to the square yard. When compacted, this surface will be about 5/8 of an inch thick.

The materials will be prepared in the firm's blacktop plant at Short Gap.

Many Drink But Few Are Alcoholics, Says Bubert

Although it is estimated that there are 5,000,000 alcoholics in the United States today, they represent only about one-sixteenth of the nation's drinking population of 80,000,000 persons.

That was one of the facts brought out here yesterday by Howard M. Bubert Jr., executive director of the Maryland Commission on Alcoholism.

Mr. Bubert visited Cumberland and Allegany County yesterday in the course of a spot-check he is conducting on alcoholism in Maryland. During the morning hours he visited Police Chief B. F. Gaffney and Police Lt. Wilbur Shank, who took him to several places around Cumberland where the often-arrested drunks congregated.

The authority on alcoholism in Maryland emphasized that the chronic police case inebriate actually constitutes only about seven per cent of the country's alcoholics, according to nation-wide studies.

The other 93 per cent of the alcoholics generally held down a job, are seldom if ever arrested for drunkenness. Most rehabilitation efforts are undertaken among the 93 per cent because experience has shown that the other seven per cent can be helped very little.

Mr. Bubert also is project director for research project for the Committee on Narcotics and Alcoholics of the Section on Criminal Law of the American Bar Association.

The State Commission on Alcoholism is rounding out its second fiscal year of operations and will have its second report ready for release about June 1.

Yesterday afternoon at the Court House, Mr. Bubert conferred with Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris and Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey on the treatment and care of alcoholics.

Mr. Bubert pointed out that as a general rule alcoholism is greatest where the population is largest. For instance, most of Maryland's alcoholism is concentrated in Baltimore City and Baltimore, Anne Arundel, Montgomery and Prince George's counties. However, Allegany, along with Charles County in Southern Maryland and Queen Anne's and Kent counties on the Eastern Shore, has more alcoholics than it should for its population.

Local Church Will Sponsor Music Event

The Men's Chorus and Ladies Quartet of First Evangelical United Brethren Church, Mont Alto, Pa., will present an evening of music Sunday at 7:30 p. m. at First Evangelical United Brethren Church, Race and Fourth streets.

Dr. E. E. Miller, pastor of the local church, said the groups, directed by Robert P. Shuman, will present their concert in four parts. Miss Beatrice Stymiest will be the accompanist.

The concert of sacred music will open with three selections by the men's chorus. They include "The Lord Is My Light," "My God and I," and "The Spacious Firmament." The ladies also will sing "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind" and "Oh Master Let Me Walk With Thee."

In part two, the men will sing "Steal Away," "The Old Arks Amoverin" and "Standing in the Need of Prayer," and Statt Stymiest will be the soloist in "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked."

During the third part of the concert, the men's chorus will sing "Clarion Call," "God Holds the Key," and the women will sing "Jesus the Very Thought of Thee" and "Now the Day Is Over." In the final part of the program, the men will sing "Come, Thou Almighty King," "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name" and "Great and Marvelous."

LaSalle Entrance Tests Tomorrow

LaSalle High School will give entrance examinations at 9 a.m. Saturday at the school.

All prospective LaSalle freshmen must take the tests, which also will be used for placement when school reopens in September.

Renaud Issues 38 New Permits For Building

C. Lee Renaud, Allegany County's planning director, has issued 38 building permits so far this month for construction in the unincorporated areas of the county outside of LaVale.

Building permits for Election District 29 in LaVale are still issued by James G. Stevenson, clerk to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, because LaVale is not covered by the county's interim zoning ordinance, effective since last November 1.

Twenty-nine of the 38 April permits to date have been for construction of new dwellings. Five others were for additions to dwellings, two for garages, one for a dwelling addition and garage and one for a club building.

17 Districts

The April permits to date have authorized construction in 17 different election districts of the county. District 16, North Branch, is the leader with six, followed by District 6, West Side suburban, and District 7, Cresaptown-Rawlings, five each.

Other construction so far in April was authorized in District 21, Gross, four permits; Districts 3, Flintstone, 5; North End suburban; 11, Frostburg suburban; 13, Mt. Savage; 20, Corriganville-Ellerslie; 23, East Side suburban, two each, and District 1, Little Orleans; 8, Westernport suburban; 9, Barton suburban; 12, Frostburg suburban; 22, East Side suburban; 27, Gilmore, and 33, Kifer, one each.

Five of the six District 16 permits were for new dwellings in the North Branch area. Three of them were obtained by Clyde Slider, 811 Louisiana Avenue, for houses on the east side of Oldtown Road, north of Golden Avenue. Gerald Harmon, 213 Pear Street, was issued a permit for a dwelling on Moore's Hollow Road two miles south of Oldtown Road. Edward H. McKay, 724 Fayette Street, was granted a permit for a frame dwelling on Oldtown Road, Route 51.

District 6 building permits were issued for new dwellings to be built by Grover Yahn of Bowling Green; William Morehead, Greene Street, for the west side of Maryland Avenue, north of Division Avenue, Bowling Green; Garner Construction Company, also on Maryland Avenue, Bowling Green, and Philip J. Harbaugh, Bowling Green, also on Maryland Avenue in that community.

Jobs In District 7

Dwelling construction authorized for Election District 7, Cresaptown-Rawlings, included permits issued to Clarence Raley, RFD 3, on Hawk Street, west of McMullen Highway; Sheridan Shaffer, RFD 3, Keyser, McMullen Highway, near VanPelt Park; Conda Smith, RFD 3, Keyser, for a brick over frame dwelling in Rawlings Heights; James Barr, LaVale, also in Rawlings Heights, and Billy Ketterman, RFD 3, Keyser, on McMullen Highway two miles from Armstrong's Store.

Other dwelling permits obtained so far this month include two more for Mr. Slider, one on Hillcrest Drive, District 22, and District 21, east side of Cemetery Road near Baltimore Pike; two in District 23, Growdendale, for the Growden Construction Company; District 3, Flintstone, for James S. Shanholtz, RFD 1, Flintstone, one mile west of Flintstone; Branson Heavner, RFD 1, Flintstone, west side of Dickerson Hollow; and District 5, North End suburban, Howard I. Grove Jr., 206 Columbia Street, Johnson's Addition to Bedford Road, and William F. Cage, RFD 1, on Ore Street in Bowman's Addition.

Also approved so far in April are permits for dwellings in District 8, for Gene Carroll, Roosevelt Street, Westernport, for house on Horserock Road; Harry Ross Smith, Westernport, for dwelling in District 9 on State Route 36 near Berry's Service Station; District 11, Frostburg, Vincent E. Martirano, 155 East Main Street, Frostburg, house on Esky Avenue, and Walter Kerr, 422 Park Street, Frostburg.

Other dwelling permits were issued to Harry Lee DeVore, 51 Powell's Lane, Frostburg, James W. Williams, 410 Walnut Street, in District 20; Earl R. Simpson, RFD 2, Baltimore Pike, in Dis-

No Picketing At Pa. Mills

OAKLAND, Md. (AP)—An official of the Wood Producers Co-op Inc. said Thursday he did not know why the organization failed to picket two paper mills in Pennsylvania as scheduled.

Thomas W. Hetz of nearby Lonaconing, business agent of the co-op, said the organization of independent pulpwood producers expected to extend its picketing of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper plant at Luke, Md., to mills at Williamsburg and Tyrone, Pa.

Hetz said the co-op represents about 900 producers in Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania. He said West Virginia Pulp and Paper is the producers' only market and the picketing going on at Luke since March 26 is aimed at forcing higher prices for pulpwood.

"Since 1945 we have been operating in the same price range while our costs increased, in some instances, to 30 per cent," Hetz said. "The producers have been absorbing it. It just got to the point where they can't operate any more."

ABL Motor Helps Boost Thor Rocket

Altair Achieves 47th Straight Flight Success

Altair, Allegany Ballistics Laboratory's famous space-probing rocket motor, yesterday afternoon thrust another scientific satellite into orbit for the free world space program. (See page one).

Designed and manufactured at ABL, the X-248 Altair was used as the third and final stage of a Thor Delta launching vehicle which was fired from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

The launching put into orbit the S-51 Satellite a joint project of United Kingdom and United States scientists.

Altair, which has helped push numerous payloads into orbits around the earth, yesterday marked its 47th straight flight success.

Big Part In Project

Besides the ABL motor, Hercules Powder Company, which operates this Navy facility, also figured prominently in the construction of the S-51.

The S-51 satellite has a lightweight, non-metallic payload housing, made by Hercules at its Rock Hill, N. J., plant. Made of Spiralloy, a combination of finely-drawn glass filament and resin, the housing has the strength of alloy steel, but approximately the weight of magnesium. It is designed to withstand the high temperatures which are encountered in its flight into orbit.

The payload is shaped like a cylinder, 23 inches in diameter, at each end of which is a spherical section. To this basic thin-skinned, light-weight shell are attached solar paddles, antennae and booms containing sensors and some of the experiments.

How It's Made

The mid-section is made of Spiralloy wound on a mandrel to shape, while the domed ends are molded of Spiralloy to the precise configuration required.

Spiralloy also is used as the case material for the third stage of the Thor Delta launching vehicle. The Altair motor, designed and built at ABL, was the first motor to use lightweight cases made by this unusual method.

The S-51 is designed to acquire increased knowledge of the ionosphere and how it is affected by solar radiation, and to obtain data of primary cosmic radiation.

Vocal Festival Will Attract 350 Singers

Some 350 singers from all eight public high schools in Allegany County will participate in the annual All-County Vocal Music Festival which will culminate with a concert at 8 o'clock tonight in the Allegany High School auditorium.

Four different vocal groups will be heard at tonight's concert. Emile Serposs, director of music education for Baltimore City public schools, will direct the All-County Choir, composed of outstanding girl and boy vocalists.

LaVern J. Hahn, supervisor of music education in the Allegany County public schools, will direct the All-County boys glee club in three selections. R. Monroe Harris, vocal music teacher at Flintstone High School, will direct the girls glee club.
